The Indian Helper

PRINTED EVERY FRIDAY

—AT THE—

Indian Industrial School

Carlisle, Pa.

BY INDIAN BOYS.

THE INDIAN HELPER is PRINTED by Indian boys, but EDITED by the Man-on-the-band-stand who is NOT an Indian.

Price—10 cents a year.

Entered in the P. O. at Carlisle as second class mail matter.

Address INDIAN HELPER, Carlisle, Pa.

Miss Marianna Burgess, Manager.

Do not hesitate to take the HELPER from the Post Office for if you have not paid for it some one else has. It is paid for in advance.

When Dick Pratt spied his first robin this Spring, which was probably the first he ever had noticed, he exclaimed: "Oh, Mamma, there is a sparrow, with a red breast."

We have one subscriber on our list, Mrs. Ewing, of Philadelphia, who is over ninety-two years of age. She reads the paper with interest and then sends it on to a poor little boy.

While blizzards and gales are rampant in the northwest—a part of the Continental storm, Carlisle experiences but a gentle rain which starts the grass and buds in all their Spring freshness.

We learn through good authority that Mr. S. M. Bowman, grandson of General S. Merchant, U. S. A., well known to many at this garrison, has entered Bethel Military Academy, Warrenton, Va.

"When a lady asked me to subscribe for the HELPER I did it for a joke, never thinking that I would ever take time to read it, but now I can hardly wait until it comes," says S. J. R., Pittsburg, at the close of a letter.

Miss Alice Robertson, who was in years past, of our force, "finds her hands very full with class-room and other duties, and Sabbath afternoons with teaching the Creek prisoners, here," writes her mother, Mrs. A. E. W. Robertson, of Muscogee.

An Indian girl was cured of curling her bangs. She says by letter: "When I first came here, people thought I was an African, or rather a Negro. What do you think of me being taken for a mulatto? Well, I stopped curling my hair and now wear it as straight as can be."

The following officers of the Susan Longstreth Literary Society were elected last week for the ensuing year: President, Miss Dawney George; Vice-President, Miss Amelia Clarke; Secretary, Miss Jennie Brown; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Annie Gesis; Treasurer, Miss Annie Morton; Marshal, Miss Christine Redstone; Reporter, Miss Alice McCarthy; Critic, Miss Cynthia Webster; Assist.-Critic, Miss Melissa Green.

The school-room sweepers were entertained by Prof. and Mrs. Bakeless, and Miss Smith in the Professor's office on Tuesday evening, after study hour. No sooner were they, to the number of about twenty, seated around the large class tables, when ice-cream and cake began to pour out from behind the curtained corner leading to the little book-room. It was delicious cream—Hartzell's best. But the literary environment of library and school-documents brought forth literary productions even more to the taste than was the refreshing cream and toothsome cake. Before each guest was a small paper, and after satisfying the inner man—or boy, it was on this occasion—quotations found on the slips were read, amid shouts of laughter, as each fitted so closely the calling of the reader. They all appertained to scrubbing or cleaning, and were exceedingly apropos. They bore the names of such authors as Milton, Carlyle, Lowell, Irving, Cooper, etc. Mrs. Given, Miss Reasoner, Miss Ely, and her guest Mrs. Hoff, and Miss Burgess were invited in to help enjoy the fun. That the hour proved one long to be remembered by those who took part, need not be said.

The town of Brookline, Mass., is to be complimented for possessing the back-bone necessary to make and enforce a law preventing the dirty habit of spitting on the sidewalks, in public buildings and street cars of that place. The offence is made punishable by a fine of $100, a penalty sufficiently heavy to stop the filthy practice if it is strictly enforced.

No real gentlemen will oppose such a law which stands upon the basis of a health regulation, whether he approves of its legality or not, because GENTLEMEN do not spit on the floors or side walks or in the street cars and they will not approve of others doing so.

One of the saddest funerals that has occurred for a long time at the school was that of Ida Bennett, of Hoopa Valley, California, who was buried last week, she having been ill but a very short time. She was sent to the hospital about three weeks ago, and went rapidly into consumption. Her immediate friends and those who came in contact with this young girl of fifteen, loved her fondly for her sweet character and gentle ways. She seemed determined not to give up, but when at last she was obliged to succumb, her end was most peaceful and happy.

The new cabinet of our Y. M. C. A., is just now very busy planning the work for the year. It is the earnest desire and intention of the leaders to emphasize more strongly than ever, the object of the Association, viz; to deepen the spiritual life, to promote aggressive Christian work, and to lead young men to consecrate their lives to Jesus Christ.
