To

R. H. Pratt,

1st Lieut, 10th Savy, Incharge,

I have the honor to report the death of the following scholar, Dora, - Sioux - aged Died April 24th inst. at 11.50 o'clock A.M.

She entered the Hospital on the 14th of January last, with pain in chest ^{and} moderate fever. The lower portion of left lung was solidified. The disease had evidently been in progress for some time, causing so little disturbance as to pass unnoticed. No change of any account occurred until about the 1st of March, when the condition of the lung showed some signs of improvement; her strength ^{and} general health were more satisfactory ^{and} hopes were entertained that she would soon return to the usual duties. About the 20th of March during the prevalence of our measles epidemic, she became worse. This was attributed at the time to an impending attack of the prevailing disease. - No aggravation of the pulmonary trouble was discoverable at this time. The measles ran their course without complication, until the 9th of April when serious pulmonary disturbance was noticed. A Bronchitis involving both lungs developed, the measles had left her extremely prostrated. The Bronchial difficulty became much more severe, suffocative attacks occurred. The succession of diseases, Pneumonia, Measles, Bronchitis, proved more than she could endure.

Very respectfully, re,
E. H. Kipburn,
Physician.
