The robins have come.

Marbles! Marbles every where.

Stilts were the craze for a few days.

Our flag is still at half-mast in mourning for the Maine.

Miss Mary G. Hilton, of Oak Hill, Carlisle, spent Tuesday night with Miss Pratt.

It is said that the upstairs pupils are trying hard in their music and are reading well.

If you want to know who is the best runner in the school, ask Mr. Yellowrobe.

Mr. Harry Lindsay and Mr. Stair of Huntingdon, were guests of Mrs. Rumport, over Sunday.

George Welch is now numbered among the printers. He takes hold of the trade with interest.

Susie Henni, '98, has gone to Steelton, to live in the home of Mr. Mason Pratt, for a while.

If you don't think it is a fine evening, ask Assistant Disciplinary Yellowrobe. He knows.

Mr. Harkness and his boys are at work on the spouting—not the most agreeable work under the sun.

Rain? No, only the reign of the baseball king who is getting his "pitcher" ready to catch the drops.

Thirty men and a dozen carts are at work on the athletic field, and the grading is fast nearing completion.

Nine printers are taking lessons on the typewriter. A class of 12 was started in shorthand, this week, with Mr. Sturm as teacher.

There is much evidence of strength in the way that the schools have settled down to hard, earnest work since Commencement.

No. 1 pupils are doing very practical work. Just now they are building houses in thought, thus learning much about the carpenter and his work.

The carpenters are making the running tracks in the gymnasium circular at the turning points, east and west, which is a great improvement.

Miss Luckenbach and a severe cold have been wrestling with each other for about two weeks, until the former was obliged to succumb and retire to her room. She is getting the upper hand at last, however.

"What you do, do QUICKLY!" is a very good motto for most of us. There is such a thing as being in too big a hurry, but the SLOW person must learn to move and think quickly or he will have to step aside to make room for those who do.

When Miss Shaffner announced to her girls that the time had arrived to sign requests to go to country homes for the summer, 106 girls signed in 19 minutes. There were about a dozen pens going at once, and each table was in charge of a special officer.

The funeral services of Sarah Smith, Shoshone of Idaho, took place on Sunday afternoon. Sarah had been with us but a very short time, and she was a child with many friends both at her home and here, who mourn her loss. From pneumonia she went into consumption.

Photographers from Philadelphia were here last week taking views of the school for lantern slides.

Miss Annie Agnew, of New York City, and Miss Nellie Ives, of Chambersburg, are visiting Miss Nana Pratt.

Why is it that No. 7 gave the best results in Art work this year, of any of the school rooms? "It is true!" says Miss Forster.

To save groans at examination time, over wasted moments, it is well to get our school work into good shape at the beginning of the year.

The change of color in the campus from dead brown to a lovely tinge of green on Sunday, between the morning and evening hours, was remarked upon by several.

Capt. and Mrs. Pratt are in New York City, at the home of Mrs. Agnew, for a little rest. The last letter from Captain as we go to press, says he is feeling much better than when he left. He was then almost ill.

A few who were not promoted after Commencement are very unwise in refusing to do their best now. Can't they see that they are showing by those very actions that the examining board made no mistake?

Miss Bowersox' mother, Mrs. S. A. Bowersox, of Paxtonville, was a guest of her daughter during Commencement and was one who lingered a few hours longer than the others, with the scenes that interest her greatly.

On Wednesday, after school, Miss Weekley brought the class that has just been promoted to her, to the Printing-office, on a shop-visiting tour. Wonder if the girls know what a type-louse is, now! They each received an electric shock from the motor.

Samuel A. Wilson, of Anadarko, Oklahoma, ex-pupil writes to his cousin Minnie Findley, that he is well and prospering. He is married and has a home of his own. Minnie says he gives constant aid to those in need, and that he feels that his experience through the "Outing System" at Carlisle did him a world of good.

Now that we have seen the original of the handsome pastel, recently hung in Assembly Hall, in exchange for one not so good, we appreciate the gift all the more. It is the face of Mrs. Larocque, of N. Y. City, who is an esteemed personal friend, and friend of the Indian. The portrait hangs on the opposite wall from the saintly face of Susan Longstreth.

Clarence Butler '98, left for Washington State, on Wednesday evening. He expects to take a special course in Electric Engineering and will let us know which of the Western Universities he enters. He will first investigate, to see which offers the best course. Clarence spoke in high terms of his visit to Philadelphia and the Educational Home, and of the treatment he there received.

Kendall Paul, took the place of foreman, business manager, editor and proprietor of our office last Thursday afternoon when all the heads were called to the administration building to be photographed. It was at a most critical time, when forms had to be made up, proofs read and presses made ready for the paper which was to come out the same evening. Through Kendall's good management the HELPER appeared on time, as though nothing had occurred to interfere.
