Peaches!

We like 'em!

Good-bye, vacation!

School opened yesterday.

Our moon-light nights can't be beaten.

The teachers came back Wednesday night.

Cantaloupes are good, but we don't get many.

The foundation for the little boys' quarters is going up fast.

School began on pot-pie day, which Joe thinks is a good sign.

Sunday morning was the first inspection in the new building.

The Morning Star for August and September will be printed together.

Penelope, one of the new Apaches, was buried, Sunday, Rev. Dr. Morrow officiating.

The Grangers' picnic at Williams Grove this week, brought many visitors to Carlisle.

Mrs. Worthington and daughter Marie returned, Tuesday, after a few weeks visit among friends in Sunbury and Altoona.

Impromptu concert last Wednesday evening in the Chapel. Very select! Performers, Mrs. Campbell, Miss Crane, and Miss Shears. A treat.

Miss Ruthierford stopped over between trains with the Worthingtons, on her way from Doubling Gap to her home in Washington, D. C.

Annie B. Irvine, Miss Patterson's little niece from Washington, is visiting her aunts. Miss Annie and Richenda are already making friends.

F. H. Yamagald, a young Japanese, who is attending the F. and M. College, Lancaster, Pa., called and seemed interested in our work. The young man's English was excellent, and he says he has been in this country only one and a half years.

The Library start, in the new assembly room, is doing its best to look up, and Luke Phillips keeps the few, old, much-soiled books in good order, but will they not be lonely when they get in the real library-room which the small boys are to vacate in November?

Miss Leverett, of Plymouth, N. H. is with us.

Miss Longley, of Metzger Institute in at present a guest of the Pratt's.

"What are the ladies looking for, Jack?" "Nofin! only foah weaf ewovahs."

Prayers every, evening before retiring is the new order of things at the Large Boys' Quarters.

Mr. and Mrs. John Eves, of Millville, Pa., spent Wednesday night at the school, guests of Miss Rote.

Levi St. Cyr, one of the new Winnebagoes, who understands English, is an applicant for a position in the printing-office.

We are pleased to hear from Miss Coates that she is to be Preceptress this year in the High School at her home in Wellsville, N. Y.

An officer in charge of a company should not be seen chewing anything, while in command, not even a little piece of stick or paper. No, not even his tongue.

A very little girl near Emmittsburg, Md., sent quite a large club, recently. The Man-on-the-band-stand would be glad if lots of little girls would do likewise.

Marching out of chapel last Sunday night was a disgrace. We hope the practice of dumping out the back door in a heap will be discontinued this year, and the boys and girls be allowed to march around in front, decently and in order every time.

The coal-shovellers have their hands full these days putting away our winter's supply in convenient places. We have 850 tons, a large portion of which was emptied from the cars directly into the new coal-bin near Mr. Sanno's house.

Owing to breakage in one of our presses, the Sentinel office kindly helped us off with 3000 of our HELPERS. Townsend and Bennie did their first work on a steam press. Townsend managed the press well enough, but the telephone afterwards was too much for him.

Johnnie Given, Don, Herbert, Irene, Lida, Little Richard, Sarah Folke, Annie Marmon, Dot, Seichu, Annie Morton, Emma, Emily, Gertrude and Amelia were the favored ones who had a good time at Richenda's birth-day party. We do not believe another little girl in the country ever had such a party, there being children from three distinct races, and from several tribes of Indians, but they played happily together, never thinking of silly race differences.
