To the Honorable,
The Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

Sir:

Replying to yours of the 23rd inst., marked "Finance 7083"

I have to inform you that Corbett Lawyer is about nineteen years old. He is a sensible, practicable young man, and competent to look out for himself and his affairs. I asked him whether he wanted his money to remain in the Treasury till he is through school, or have it sent here. He said first, he would let it remain in Washington, but afterward asked if he could not put it on interest. I told him he could, and draw 6 per cent on it. He then said he would rather have it sent to him here, where he can make it earn something.

Very respectfully,

R.H.Pratt
