My dear Mr. Friedman:

Thank you for your letter of February 24, and hope you will succeed in finding the right person for the messenger place.

Just as soon as the legislative rush is over I mean to take up the matter of furnishing the Craftsman with news in a ship-shape way.

With best wishes, I am,

Sincerely yours,

Assistant Commissioner.

Indian Industrial School,

Carlisle, Pa., February 24, 1909.

My dear Mr. Valentine:-

I have your letter of the 20th instant ^{the} informing me that Guy has been promoted from ~~the~~ $360 place which he had as messenger in the Office. I am very glad to learn that he has thus moved ahead.

I note that you are desirous of having a young man properly qualified in this school for the vacancy left by Guy. I shall take this matter up at once and hope to be able to obtain for you a young man who does not have to depend entirely on the $30 per month which constitutes the salary connected with the position.

I shall fix up the matter concerning Guy's indebtedness to you just as soon as you send the account. You should be reimbursed for any expense incurred in assisting this young man.

I hope that we may have your active assistance in the matter of notes from the Indian Office in connection with the INDIAN CRAFTSMAN. This magazine will improve as the months go by.

Sincerely yours,

Mr. R.G. Valentine, Asst. Commissioner,
