REPORT OF H. B. PEAIRS, SUPERVISOR OF SCHOOLS

on the

Carlisle, Pa. Indian School

Feb. 7, 1916.

Section IV. - Employes

In general the employe force is of at least average efficiency. The heads of departments are possibly stronger than the average. The great need now, is a well qualified, experienced teacher of agriculture. This has already been discussed under the heading agriculture. There should be no unnecessary delay in securing and appointing someone for this position as the farming season will soon be at hand.

All employes are earnestly striving to put the new course of study into effect and to thus increase the efficiency of the school. There are a few weak employes but on account of my short stay at the school I will leave it to the superintendent to report upon them or wait until I make another visit.

H. B. Peairs
Supervisor of Schools.
