Madam:

Referring to Office letter to you of May 20, 1912, informing you that the Superintendent of the Carlisle School had been instructed to send you the money in the school bank belonging to your son, Henry Vilcan, when he ran away, you are now informed that the Superintendent of the school says he sent this money, amounting to $43.70, in a check to Henry on October 19, 1911, and that this check has been paid. Of course, the Office is unable to say who got the money, but it believes that Henry received it.

In accordance with instructions contained in Office letter of April the 20th I respectfully report that Henry Vilcan was enrolled at Carlisle on August the 2nd of 1906. Our school records contain the information that he was then eleven years of age and that his mother, Zilma Carter, gave her consent for the enrolment. The boy was enrolled from Charenton, Louisiana, and it is asserted on the application for enrolment that he is a three-quarters blood member of the Chitimache Indians residing in that vicinity.

Sir:

On November 1, 1911, the Office wrote you regarding a sum of money in the school bank to the credit of Henry Vilcan, who ran away from Carlisle on February 12, 1911.

You were requested to interest yourself in his capture and return, and on November 6, enclosed a report showing your inability to locate the runaway up to that time.

The Office is not entirely satisfied, as yet, to drop this matter, and suggests that one more effort be made to find the young man. Failing in this, you may remit to his mother the entire amount of money now in the school bank to his credit. She has been informed that you will try again to find Henry, and if you do not succeed, will send her the money.

I have your letter of November first relative to the desertion and bank account of Henry Vilcan. I transmit herewith a report from Mr. Denny, who is in charge of the quarters where Henry was domiciled. Should we hear of Henry, steps will be immediately taken to return him to the school. The Office realizes, of course, that when a student deserts from the school and has had financial help so as to enable him to get out of the immediate vicinity and the state, that it is a very difficult matter to apprehend him. We have invariably taken active steps to apprehend runaways when they have deserted.

Henry Vilcan ran away from this school February 12, 1911.

There was no special reason for his running away.

As is customary in the cases of runaways, telephone messages giving a description of the runaway, were sent to all the nearby towns. There was nothing heard of Henry's whereabouts until late this summer when some inquiry was made from Indiana about him. The last heard from him was through a post card which he sent to one of his boy friends from Kansas.

It is to be regretted that Henry Vilcan and Joseph Lang are causing their parents so much anxiety and that they have not yet returned to their homes. Under the circumstances, however, I do not know that anything can be done to assist. If the boys could be located there might be a chance to do something definite, but as we have been unable to get any trace of their present whereabouts, I am powerless to do anything at all.

I can only hope with you that they will soon return safely to their homes. Please notify me when they do.

Regarding the return home of the other Louisiana children, the majority of them have decided that they will not return home until after their return from their country homes in September. I trust such an arrangement will meet with your and their parents' approval.
