Sir:

Jimmie Bluebird informs me that it is his intention to stay at Carlisle until he can complete the instruction in a trade and so that he can add to his stock of book-learning at the same time. He is now being instructed in shoemaking and has entered the 6th Grade in the Academic Department.

The young man is of pleasing appearance, is bright and intelligent and his character has been above reproach since his entrance to the school. He seems to be a young man who would make a desirable student.
