NEW YORK, June 2, 1885.

My dear Sir:-

I am glad to hear from General Armstrong that you can meet with us Tuesday, July 7. I believe it is possible to strike on a plan of dealing with the Indian Reservations which will secure so much support from both East and West as to enable us to push it through Congress, and I am morally convinced that if the friends of the Indians can agree heartily on such a scheme they can get the Indian problem a long way to solution during the next four years.

Yours sincerely,
