

Philadelphia
322 S. 21st Street.

May 12th. 1902.

My dear Colonel Pratt.

You have given me great-pleasure in the gift of the "Catalogue of the Carlisle Indian Industrial School", which I received on Friday last, and I thank you heartily for the remembrance.

I congratulate you, on the splendid victories you have gained, in the founding, and upbuilding of the School, and earnestly hope, each successive year, may bring to you and to your work, larger blessings.

My friends will enjoy the Catalogue, as I may have opportunity to show it, and speak of your achievements for Indian education and self help. I am pondering whether private beneficence is now needed at the School, or if the Government allowance, meets all of your requirements.

Very Cordially Yours
Mary E. Brown.