Fort Sill reservation containing nothing but the Indian cattle, what they called Apache cattle, we have over fifty thousand cattle here at Fort Sill reservation, we generally brand the calves every summer, and it is almost time to round up the cattle, its lot of funds when they brand the calves, we brand every year about twenty five thousand calves, during in the fall, we ship six or seven hundred head of steers, when they get their cattle money, some of the Indians gets, eight hundred dollars, some of them three four hundred. But I do not know where all that money go to, they do not know how to save their money.

Yours truly,
