Mrs. Lystia Wahoo Twin,

Cherokee, North Carolina.

My dear Friend:

I was pleased to receive your letter of recent date, but I regret very much that you had to make me such an unfavorable report regarding your health and your stay at home since you left Carlisle.

Whatever mistakes you may have made in the past are also to be regretted, but there is yet opportunity to show that you were benefitted by the training you received at Carlisle and that your life was influenced for good by your stay here. I assure you that you have my best wishes for a brighter future and that your friends here at school join me in such good wishes.

I enclose you herewith a check covering the amount of the balance to your credit in our school bank. I trust you will make good use of the money and that it will prove to be of great assistance to you.

Miss Gaither informs me that your trunk was placed in the storeroom at the Girls' quarters soon after your departure from school and that it contained nothing but letters and post cards. Since then it must have been given away to some girl who could not afford to get a trunk, for it is not in storage there now.

Again with best wishes, I remain,

Your friend,

Dear Mr. Friedman:-

I was glad to hear from you, to think some interest is still being taken in me.

I know I have been in a great mistake, but I always try to do the right thing. So sometime I know I will come out alright. My punishment I consider upon me now since I have been home I have not seen a well day, have been sick at all times.

Even than I work day after day, trying to accomplish some thing of use. Being I have no means at all hardly mama wished me to ask you if it is not to much to have my trunk & my own goods sent to me. All so my money which I have earned while out under the outing system. If my health were good I would not trouble you for this. Will be true to dear Carlisle always. With best wishes, Lysteria.

CARLISLE, Pa., Dec. 2.—The Carlisle Indian School had a pretty romance in the elopement last night of Miss Lystia Wahoo, a North Carolina Cherokee of advanced grade, with Joseph Twin, who left the school several years ago, and is now a professional baseball player.

The attachment between the two began when they were fellow students at Carlisle. Some time ago the dusky wooer suggested marriage to Miss Wahoo, but her parents insisted that she defer her marriage, at least until she was graduated.

Yesterday Twin visited the school with the privileges of a returned graduate. He managed to see his sweetheart, and prevailed upon her to flee with him. He displayed enough ready money to show his independence of time-payment furniture houses, and the red-skinned girl co-ed decided that a marriage certificate was much to be preferred over a diploma.

Last night Miss Wahoo decamped by stealth from the girls' quarters and met Twin, who was waiting just outside the grounds with an automobile.
