I have been working on the farm ever since I leaving Carlisle, when I came back I went right to work into my fathers farm containing 62 acres all under cultivation. I had a chance to accept to work in Indian service in Minnesota but I refused, as I felt ashamed to leave my fathers work behind and go to some where else, as I am just a man to be on the farm I stay the same farm till few years after I married, than I settled down to my allotment for which is where I am living now. I made cleared about 12 acres and cultivated, in 11 years I ought to have twice as much but thats my best.
