Since I have returned home I have been working mostly on the farm. For the last two seasons I have been raising peas for a Co. in Green Bay. I was a painter at Carlisle so I take up my old trade every time there is a change of doings that kind of work around here. I have done all the painting on our house in and out, and I have done painting for white manjotes well as an Indian. Every where I have painted they said I was a good painter because I always was careful not to let any paint drop or wait. I think I have told every thing so you can understand how I am making out.

Yours friend
Chas. D. King
