James Snow, an ex-student of Carlisle, and one of the best two-mile runners ever at Carlisle, is making good at the carpenter's trade which he learned while at school here. He has recently been appointed assistant carpenter at the Crow Creek Agency, South Dakota. A letter just received from him contains greetings and best wishes for his former instructor, Mr. Herr, and his other Carlisle friends.

1910

James Snow, a Sioux Indian and former student of Carlisle, who while at school was one of the best two-mile runners, is now making a success at his chosen trade,—that of carpentry— which he learned while at school. He is now assistant instructor in carpentry at the Crow Creek Agency, in South Dakota.
