My dear Friend:

I assure you it has given me pleasure to read your letter of February the 25rd and to learn that the education you received at Carlisle has been such a pleasure to you and of so much use in your efforts in behalf of those with whom you have come into contact. It is always gratifying to hear that those who have been educated here have used their training as a means to help others. That is the best you can do to make your life a success and I extend you best wishes for continued service among your people.

I am pleased to know that you have a daughter who is happily married, and that her husband is also working for the Indians. May he continue to bring you satisfaction by his efforts.

Very truly yours,

HKM.

Supervisor in Charge.
