Mrs. Turner is a daughter of Mr. Chambers. There are four in the family. Mrs. Turner has not been pleased at all with Annie. Annie is a very hard girl to manage. With some patrons I judge Annie would be a very capable girl as she has the ability; but Mrs. Turner is not the patron for Annie. Annie tries but forgets so soon and this is a considerable trial and she also has a quick temper.

A pleasant farm home one mile from Town. Patron kind, mild and firm, has proved a good disciplinarian; says A. is unsatisfactory; self-willed and impertinent; can do well when she tries; has been attending school ever since she came to her; has taste for study but is lazy about work; she is of very little value and cannot be depended upon; her whole thought is to return to the school. A letter from the school superintendent would be of great help to her.
Patron does not care to keep her for winter.

She should be transferred and not returned to school.

Patron says for the past month Annie has been very unsatisfactory, she slams the doors breaks dishes purposely, very noisy in her room in the evening. She has to go as often as 3 times to quiet her, at times very impatient she is a bright girl and can do well if she tries. Unless she improves, patron does not care to keep her. Wants her removed.
