Any general statement or wishes of patron or pupils, together with Agent's estimate of place, people, and pupil:

In spite of the fine home and kind but firm patrons, Joe seems discontent and wishes a transfer.

Mr. Fullmer intimates that Joe was sullen and unpleasant to get along with at first but this has been somewhat overcome, though he shows discontentment.

Mr. Fullmer is willing to keep Joe this summer and promote him in ways according to his worth if he can persuade him to be content; but he does not wish to keep him against his will.

I talked with Joe and tried to show him that he had a good home, but he still requests a transfer.

Mr. Fullmer is one of our best patrons and one of long standing so special effort should be taken to give him a good boy this season in as much as he has been patient with Joseph.

Since Joe will not remain he wishes one somewhat older than he for regular farm work. Also a boy about 14 yrs. of age to do house work. The larger boy will be for summer use only and should be experienced enough to plow and use a team.

Special attention is desired
