Mr. J. J. Duncan,
Day School Inspector, Pine Ridge Agency,
Pine Ridge, S. D.

My dear Sir:

Upon receipt of your letter of September the 8th, in which you conveyed to me Mr. John Pulliam's wishes regarding the studies to be taken by his son Martin, I referred the same to our Principal Teacher, Mr. Whitwell. I submit below the report that was conveyed to me:

"Training in business methods is given to all students in the four highest grades in addition to the regular Business students.

Martin is at present in the Normal but will get a chance as soon as he is able to grasp the work."

The Normal referred to by Mr. Whitwell is really our department for beginners in Academic studies, so it will probably be some time before Martin can be expected to have advanced where instruction in business methods would be of advantage to him.

Mr. Pulliam's son Amos was seen at this office at noon today. He expressed himself as being well and getting along very nicely in every way. Amos was returned to school the latter part of August from quite a long stay at an Outing home and has again been detailed to his chosen trade of blacksmithing.

Amos has also been informed that his father is anxious about him and that he is to arrange at once to write to his father.

Very truly yours,

HCM.

Superintendent.

Mr. M. Friedman,
Superintendent,
Carlisle, Pa.

Dear Sir:

Mr. John Pulliam wishes me to write to you asking you to arrange it so Martin, his son, can take a business course, to fit him for clerical work or stenography, etc. He says he wants him to go five years, and if he likes the school he wants him to go three years longer. Mr. Pulliam seems anxious to have his boys well fitted for life's work, and I hope you can carry out his wishes.

He would like to hear from Amos, how he is doing. If you will write me I will let him know. I wish you would tell him to write to his Father. It will do him good. His Father has written to him, but he has not answered him lately.

Yours truly,

J. J. Durcans
Day School Inspector.
