My dear Mr. Types:

I have received your letter of recent date, in which you convey the sad information that your daughter Celestine died last August. The news came as a surprise and I extend you my heartfelt sympathy in your bereavement. I am sure her other friends here at school join me in such expressions of regret and sympathy.

My dear Miss Gaither.

This evening I have the opportunity of writing you a note. Now first of all we are well here at my country home and it snowed rather hard this morning so the snow is very deep and we didn't have any school so I stayed home all day. I guess you already know that they are planning for me to come in this spring. Now, Miss Gaither, I just hate to go back and leave the folks and I have such a splendid home and I don't care to go back for I want to stay here this summer and learn how to cook and all kinds of things along that line. I am getting along just fine on my studies and my work too.

I stand as high as any one in my class and I never get into trouble in school either. I might as well stay than to go back and eat the same gravy. While here I get good things to eat. I often wonder why it is that my father wants me to go in, but I never can see any reason, unless some one is influencing him. Will you please attend to this matter for me?

I think I have written longer than I expected to. I will stop.

With much love to you.

Sincerely, Celestine Taylor.

C/o Geo. S. Fox.

March, 4, 1909.

Mrs. Nettie L. Gault

The news of the death last August, at her home in Spalding, Idaho, of Celestine Types, was a shock to her former teachers, since upon her leaving the school they entertained great hopes of her entire recovery. Celestine was a good girl, beloved by her friends, of whom she had a large number, and who will remember her sweet disposition and gentle Christian soul.
