ELLA BUTTS. Nov. 1911.

It was with sadness that the news of the death of Ella Butts was received at Colony. A few years ago she went to the southwest hoping to regain her health and although physicians and friends knew the dread disease, tuberculosis, had laid a strong hold on her, Ella made a brave fight and was ever hopeful and cheerful. During the last few days of her life she seemed in her usual health and wrote many loving messages to the dear ones at home. In them she expressed her great faith in Jesus her Savior, and that her life had been so full of happiness and peace.

Through weeks of silent suffering she looked calmly into the future and did not falter; with a heroism born of her supreme faith in Jesus she approached the end, thrilling with her latest breath the higher note of exultation, as one who knocks at the gates of eternal morning.

The body was brought to Colony where many friends and relatives met to witness the last said rites in the little Indian church.
