Indian Politics.

A WRITER to the Denver Republican speaks thus of Indian politics, and those of us who know something of the workings of the Indian police and the machinery that moves the average Indian community, readily recognize in some instances the truth of the writer's portrayal. But times are changing. The Indian is becoming better educated, and the "artful cunning" of the white politician is being learned all too rapidly, while the natural methods of the untutored red man is passing out.

The red man has his politics the same as the white man, says the Denver writer, except that it is not developed to so great an extent.

Tribes have their factions, and factions have their plots and schemes, though they are not characterized by the artful cunning employed by the tricky white politician. Their ideas are necessarily crude and their methods of attaining their ends are often barbarous. There is also the "machine" to be found on the reservation. True, it is a simple and crude "machine," but so was the "machine" in the white man's politics simple and crude in the beginning.

The "machine" may be said to commence with the Indian police. The policeman gets a handsome blue uniform with brass buttons, and is furnished with a silver badge of authority. He receives $10 a month from the government for his services in keeping peace and order on the reservation. The uniforms and the money come to him through the Indian agent, and very naturally the agent is a great man in his eyes. The policeman is a man very much envied among his red brothers, for his uniform and $10 a month looks good to them. There have been numerous instances where a policeman has lost his job and another man a little more cunning secured the place.

When new uniforms are distributed the old ones are given away to friends of the policeman, as a rule, and they are not given for nothing either. There is often an in-tangible consideration. Their influence may be wanted in some matter. An agent of the government may want the sanction of a majority of the tribe regarding a proposal for the allotment of lands, or a change in the reservation or some kindred measure, or the agent of an Indian Rights association may want an expression of sentiment on some proposition—some white man may want to secure a number of Indians as a feature for some great exhibition; in any event, the emissary does his business through the leading red men, who get the others to sign papers or whatever is wanted of them. Sometimes one faction will oppose a measure for no other reason than that the other faction favors it.

Do not Cover the Face When we Sleep.

THE GREAT FALLS LEADER, Montana, speaks words that all may profit by, in the following clipping from its editorial columns.

We cannot all be out of doors all the time, but we can let into our rooms and places of work great quantities of fresh air, and while at work get into the habit (without thinking too much about ourselves) of standing erect, or sitting erect, so as to give our lungs all the room possible to take in the good air, which is God's medicine.

The writer in the Leader says:

Of late years all doctors in the country have been advocating the usefulness of fresh air.

They advise patients to spend all the time they can in the open air.

They declare that the open air is a preventive to disease and that fresh air has been even known to cure people after a disease had a firm hold upon them.

The fresh air treatment for consumption is no longer an experiment, but is said to have proved itself of benefit to all those who have tried it.

It is even said by the more enthusiastic that consumption may by means of this treatment be entirely eradicated within a comparatively few years.

Not only are people advised to stay out of doors as much as possible, but efforts are being made to introduce more fresh air into buildings and enclosed places, so that those who have to remain indoors may experience as little injury as possible.

Official experts are continually studying the best methods of securing wholesome ventilation and sanitation in all places of public assemblage, and also in cars and stages of every sort, and they are making considerable headway.

Fresh air is good; sunshine is good.

The motto of the present day is more pure air, more pure food.

It will not only have its bearing on the health of future generations, but also on the health of those who live in the present day.

So get out in the open, live in the open as much as possible, and get your share of the health and happiness that is waiting for you.

The Galveston Wall.

In the great flood at Galveston, Texas, a few years since, Carlisle lost an old student, and there were workers here who had friends to perish in the awful tidal wave.

The great sea wall around the city which was begun in October 1902 was completed recently.

The wall is three and one-half miles long, and stands 17 feet above mean tide. It is 16 feet wide at the base and 5 feet on top. It is built of solid granite and extends around the eastern and gulf sides of the city.

PROVERB.

FROM

"Wisdom of the World."

SHEARER.

The motto of every good citizen should be: "The means to promote the greatest good to the greatest number."

Arrow Shots.

The school trip to the World's Fair is off, for good reasons.

The uplifting of the Indian is a perpetual conflict with ignorance.

An Indian must learn to MAKE his money first before he can make it last.

Our Indian printers are not restaurant waiters, but they can pass the pi without much trouble.

Why is the average Indian like a clothespin? Because he does his best work with the mouth shut.

The meat strike did not strike the Indian meat-eaters; their supplies like Tennyson's Brook, go on forever.

When the Indian starts to look for a job as though he were afraid he might get it, he is apt to lose it.

It is becoming plain to all interested observers that the tide in the Indian camps is running towards education.

When will the average Indian boy who likes to borrow money, learn that a dollar always looks bigger when it is paid back than when it is borrowed.

You can't CAN experience and send it to the Indians. Indians must secure experience as all other people have to, through hard knocks in its natural state.

One of the greatest obstacles to the civilization of most Indians is their disregard for the rules, regulations and customs of civilized people pertaining to the marriage relation, says a prominent writer.

Good effect of civilization: Until the advent of the Americans no systematic efforts ever had been made to vaccinate Filipinos. The islands are now declared to be practically free from plague as a result.

Hollow Horn Bear, a Sioux Chief who has been at the World's Fair for some time, was heard to say by a white man friend of his the other day: "I wish I had a white man's education in order to cope with them in business."

The Arrow.

WITH THIS issue of our school paper, The Arrow makes its bow to the public and to former readers, in the hopes that its aim for truth and the right, may gain a worthy recognition.

Our Arrow will not be sped by the untutored savage as an instrument of warfare and protection, but through intelligent industry and purposeful study the educated Indian will hope to pull the bow-string with such triumph and force as will send an Arrow of light into every dark corner of this great Republic, until it can no longer be claimed that education is useless for our Red Brethren.

We do not start out with any antagonistic ideas,

Our Arrow has a friendly point, but we wish to shoot mark with all friends of the Indian, both on and off the reservation, with such a direct aim and concerted purpose that ignorance and vice will tremble and succumb.

We wish our Arrow to serve as a Pointer as well as a Shooter—an index to show the road up the hill of learning and experience. To do this we need the co-operation and help of all true friends of the cause.

Then let the air be full of Arrows.

Subscribe, and ask your friends to take a shot, that the little messenger of light may make a train so wide, strong and far-reaching that the Anglo-Saxon may read as he runs, that the Native American is only a brother needing opportunity.

Through sufficient patronage we hope to increase the number of pages of the Arrow, that it may become a medium for the best thought obtainable upon all sides of the Indian question.

We trust that our reservation friends and all others will favor us from time to time with material to whet the point of our Arrow and make things interesting.

Are Our Students Liked in their Country Homes?

"If I always had help like James, I'd enjoy farming immensely. He is a good worker, always pleasant and courteous and gives me no uneasiness by trying to get out of doing the right thing."—[Patron speaking of Jas. Pabawena.

"Ellwood is a good willing boy; he is respectful, has good principles and he is industrious—would rather be at work than doing nothing."—[Said of Ellwood, Mather by patron.

"Joseph is the best boy we've ever had. We don't need the boy this winter but if he wants to stay we'll take care of him."—[Patron of Joseph Manuel.

Since March 31, 1903, Wm. Moon has read 42 books. Among them were: "Black Beauty," "Life of Washington," "Life of Sheridan," "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "Pickwick Papers," "Bull Fights in Spain," "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," "Wide, Wide World." Stories of adventure and travel were the subject matter of most of the other works. He has kept a record of each book read. Some of the books he has read several times, "Black Beauty," for instance, four times.

Miss Patterson.

Our former co-worker, and since an active worker in the Indian service at various points, as School Superintendent, Miss Ella L. Patterson now finds herself at Capitan Grande, in California, and she enjoys the beautiful place and her quiet work.

Her sister Blanche has been with her all the year, and her married sister "Bessie" who was also with us for a time as teacher, spent some weeks with Miss Patterson during the latter's vacation period, at San Diego.

A part of the time they were tenters at Coronado, but finally moved to more comfortable quarters in San Diego.

She speaks of the climate as delightful, as being the finest they "have ever seen, and an every day wonder."

Carlisle has students and workers who know the delights of that climate.

Head Coach Rogers has arrived.

Assistant Coach Hudson will arrive in a few days.

Assistant Coach Pierce is expected next week.

The foot ball squad will report Sept. 1st. Improvements are now underway in the cage. Within a week a fine new floor will have been laid.

Many boys can be seen daily practicing LaCrosse. Indications are that much interest will be taken in this original Indian game, which is growing in popularity in the colleges.

Mr. Allen Leaves Carlisle.

We are glad and sorry both to announce the appointment by the Interior Department of Assistant-Superintendent Allen as Special United States Indian Agent, to take effect October 1st.

In this promotion to one of the highest offices under the Civil Service rule, there is just recognition of Mr. Allen's ability and power. He may remain here for a week or two, and we will reserve further comment at present.

What the Carlisle American Volunteer Says Regarding Mr. Allen's Departure.

The many friends of Assistant Superintendent E. A. Allen, of the Indian School will be sorry to learn that he is about to leave the institution.

He has received notice of his appointment as Special Indian Agent for the United States, and will assume his new duties on October first.

Mr. Allen and family will go to Indian Territory when he relinquishes his work here, but it is understood he will have no permanent headquarters. His time will necessarily be spent in travelling in the interest of the Indians and Mr. Allen said to a Volunteer representative yesterday his new work will consist in "being wherever there are Indians."

During his three years' residence at the Carlisle School as Assistant Superintendent he has shown himself to be a true gentleman, straight forward and honorable in all his dealings, and worthy of the highest confidence. In his departure Carlisle loses a good citizen and the Indian School a man who thoroughly understands the Indian question, but in his advancement to the higher position the Indian Bureau gains the wider service of one who is abundantly able to fill it.

(The Sentinel and Herald also contained complimentary notices.)

Shearer's "Wisdom of the World."

Look for change of motto each week at the head of editorial column! Save them! Let us make them a part of our living.

"Wisdom of the World," by William J. Shearer is a compilation of valuable Proverbs. Captain Mercer was the recipient from the Author, of the beautiful little volume. From its pages we will select a motto for each week.

William Penn said that the wisdom of a nation lies in its proverbs.

Cicero said that they are salt pits from which you may extract salt and scatter it everywhere.

Professor Shearer's book is the collection of twenty years from the proverbs of all nations and all time. Richardson, Smith & Co., 135 Fifth Avenue, N. Y.

Home From Europe.

Lieut. G. H. Gosman, Assistant Surgeon U. S. Army and Mrs. Gosman, arrived at Carlisle, Wednesday night for a visit with Mrs. Gosman's parents—Captain and Mrs. Mercer. Lieutenant and Mrs. Gosman have just returned from their wedding trip which embraced a tour through Scotland, Ireland, England, France, Holland, Germany, and Italy. They sailed from Naples Aug. 12th. Mrs. Gosman of Brooklyn, N. Y., Lieutenant Gosman's mother, is a guest of Captain and Mrs. Mercer, and with them, enjoying the return of the young couple. Doctor Gosman will join his Co. at Chickamauga Park, Ga., in a few days, but Mrs. Gosman will remain for a little longer to visit with her parents.

Getting Civilized with a Rush.

While settlers were pouring into Bonesteel, S. D., in early July, in anticipation of the opening to settlement of the Rosebud Reservation, no one's entry created such a sensation as that of Two John, a full blood Sioux, who, with his wife, dashed into town riding in a new $2000 automobile which he had recently purchased in Omaha.—[The Indians' Friend.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen and daughter Esther took dinner with Mrs. and Miss Senseney in Chambersburg, on Friday with Senator Bard and other distinguished guests.

It was decided to leave out the word "Carlisle" from the new heading of our paper, and place it in the explanatory sentence which appears below the heading.

THE FOOTBALL TEAM OF '98.

Among those of the famous team of '98, who are expected to return this Fall to assist, are 1. Rogers, 1st Coach; he lies at the right and is holding the headgear and has on shoulder pads. Rogers has just graduated from the University of Minnesota, and has been Captain of the University team, one of the strongest in the West. 2. On his left and the center man, first row sitting, is Hudson, the quarterback, who made his name famous by his superior drop-kicking. He has been called The-Man-with-the-cunning-toe. He will take a two weeks' vacation from the Pittsburg Deposit Bank where he is head book-keeper, and assist Rogers. 3. Bemus Pierce, the man in the center of second row, will be Rogers' first assistant. He has become famous as a player and as a coach. The man on the extreme left of first row is the All-American quarter-back, Johnson. He has not accepted an offer to play with the team and continue his studies. On the left, first row standing, is the newly appointed Athletic Manager, Disciplinarian Thompson. On the extreme right of same row is Coach Warner, who left us to coach Cornell, his Alma Mater. In the middle of first row is ex-Captain Wheelock, and the others in the picture have made names worthy of mention. They are Sickles, Smith, Seneca, Miller, Scholder, Roberts, Warren, Metoxen, Scott, Redwater.

Local happenings of three weeks ago are left out as stale matter.

Sarah Kennedy Oliver says at the close of a letter inquiring about the delay of the Arrow—"My little girl, Robeana Juene is growing like a weed, and she is dearly loved by all.

Commander Chas. M. A. Embick, of Boiling Springs with Department Commander John McNevin of Altoona, and General Suydam, of Philadelphia were callers on Wednesday.

Mr. Gansworth's talk before the student body on the Sunday evening before he left on this trip among the students on farms was one long to be remembered for its earnestness and sound, practical doctrine.

For advertising rates apply to The Arrow. The local ads. under "Personals," will pay ONE CENT A WORD for all Want Ads. or other matter under the head of PERSONAL ads., the choicest place in the paper.

Mrs. Peter who was the guest of her daughter Miss Peter for a short time has returned to her home in Chicago. May she come again soon, is the wish of her newly made friends and those who knew her before.

Josephine Janese, class 1902, of Elbowood, North Dakota, has been a visitor this month. She has spent several weeks in Philadelphia studying at the German hospital to further fit her for the position she occupies in the Indian service.

A former student of our school and niece of Mrs. Allen, Miss Artie Smith was married August 1st to Mr. Edward Peacore. Both are employees of the Tomah, Wisconsin, Indian School. Mr. and Mrs. Peacore will be home at Tomah, after September 1st.

Rev. Dr. Jackson, General Agent of Education in Alaska, addressed the student body on Sunday afternoon, and his impressive talk was listened to with marked attention. Mr. Hemminger, the Evangelistic singer favored us with two hymns which charmed his audience.

Miss Stewart, Sloyd instructor, at this writing is probably on the briny-deep, on her way home from Europe. May she return to us in safety, is the wish of many friends. Her special department and the entire school, no doubt will benefit by her splendid trip and study at Naas, this summer.

Word from Mrs. Otto Wells, of Anadarko, Oklahoma, speaks in the most encouraging terms of little Mattie's improvement in health: "Be sure and tell that I am getting better every day," she said to her mamma as she was writing, and Mattie often wishes she could see her little friends at Carlisle and play with them every day.

Miss Ericson, our first Sloyd teacher and now Sloyd instructor in Porto Rico has been a visitor for the past ten days. There have been parties and entertainments galore in her honor, and all have enjoyed her cheerful, happy presence as well as her descriptions of and experiences in the little island possession.

We have before us the Souvenir Views of the United States Indian School, Quapaw Agency, Wyandotte, Indian Territory, compliments of Superintendent and Special Disbursing Agent Horace B. Durant, the successor to Assistant Superintendent Allen when he left Quapaw to come to Carlisle. The views and descriptions are interesting. Supt. Durant is said to be a gentleman of genuine character and a live, energetic man for his present position.

Among those who have returned from their vacation and reside on the grounds are Miss Nellie Robertson, from Dakota, Miss Carter, from Massachusetts and Connecticut, Miss Wood, from New York, Mr. Canfield, from Indian Territory, via., his home in New York, Mrs. Canfield from Oklahoma, Miss Ferree, from Ohio, Mrs. Foster and daughter from Michigan, Miss Bowersox, from Lewistown, Mr. Nonast, from Chicago, Goliath Bigjim, from Cherokee, and Genus Baird from Wisconsin.

Some of our Porto Ricans have enjoyed meeting with friends and relatives from their home, who came with the company of teachers that spent the summer in the States. Among others were Julio Hoheb and Esperanza Gonzalo, who went to Phila. The latter saw her sister but for a day, and she says by letter that it was one of the happiest days of her life. The Porto Rican teachers were somewhat astonished to hear her using the English she does. She saw Rafael Ortega and Enrique Rexach who graduated from Dickinson College. The teachers have enjoyed America. Esperanza is living with Mrs. Edge of Downingtown and has with her Ida Bruce. They are in love with their summer home and country mother, and are very well.

Mrs. James Wheelock and Isabel are in town visiting with the baby's great grandparents on Main street. Mr. Wheelock is heard from occasionally, and in his last letter he says the Band is making great hits every where they go. On August 20, they were at Ft. Wayne, Indiana. They will take a little vacation soon before starting out for the winter's trip.

NOTE: We have changed our publication day to THURSDAY, so that most of the subscribers in the States or in near-by States may receive the Arrow before Sunday. Three thousand Arrows will be distributed in Carlisle this week. If the town citizen does not already subscribe he will be given a chance. Give no money to a solicitor without taking a receipt.

The advertisements this week will be as interesting as any reading matter, as it is a new departure for our school paper. Our publication now is more like the weeklies published by the various Universities and Colleges, where advertisements are taken to help defray expenses. We hope to secure a variety of ads. and if we get enough, increase the number of pages so as not to decrease the amount of reading matter. Send us news! We want to keep the Arrow flying with a high and accurate aim.

The Pacific Coast Indian Teacher's Institute is now in full blast at that beautiful watering place, Newport, Oregon. The writer had the privilege of attending the Institute held at the same place last year. The work is carried on this year under the Supervision of Miss Estelle Reel, Superintendent of the Indian Schools and Supervisor M. F. Holland. Superintendent T. W. Potter of Chemawa School is announced as the President. The program has an attractive appearance, and we hope for the Institute a profitable and altogether successful time.

Lottie Harris, who is taking a course in nursing at the great Jefferson Hospital, Philadelphia, is in for a few days' vacation from her arduous work. She is looking well, enjoys her work and hopes to finish by Spring, when she will be a professional nurse ready for business, along with others of our girls who are occupying enviable places in the field of nursing. Our trained nurses have the highest respect of all at the school and in the country at large.

LATER: Lottie has gone to Cherokee N. C. for a visit.

Life's Gifts.

*L*IFE'S fairest things are free;—
The azure sky, with spangled sheen,
The lambs at play in meadows green;
In sweet profusion blooms the rose;
O'er hill and vale the violet blows;
And free, in beauteous splendor, flows
The boundless, billowy sea!

Life's dearest things are free,
Nor to be bought with mines of gold.
Thy peaceful home, its joys untold,
Its love that binds in willing thrall,
Is free alike to great and small,
And, like a halo over all,
God's matchless love for thee?

Indians Protected From Gambling.

WE ARE informed that as soon as Colonel Randlett's bonds are returned by the Department—which will be in a few days—the payment of Government money to the Indians which is over $200,000 will take place.

The payment will not be taken to another city, as the Colonel threatened to do last year on account of gambling going on in the city, but will be made at the Kiowa agency.

The Colonel was not anxious to make this payment in any other city but as U. S. Agent acting under instructions from the Government for the best interests of the Indians he would have been forced to make this payment elsewhere had not the gambling houses of the city been closed.

This has always been a serious question and one that has greatly interested our business men not only as a question of the money being paid here and going into legitimate channels of trade, but also a question that concerned the welfare of our city morally,

During the last payment the Mayor and City Council closed up the gambling dens and instructed the officials to enforce the law. The same course will be followed again, anyone caught fleeing the Indians will be summarily dealt with.

We have a United States Marshal who will attend to gamblers and confidence men outside of the city limits. "Public officers are public servants" and should attend to these duties.

The payment of this large sum of money to the Indians at this place is an important transaction for Anadarko.

The merchants who have been carrying the Indians the past six months will receive their share of the money which is due them, while all lines of trade will be greatly benefited.

The thanks of our citizens are due Col. Randlett for making this payment at this place.—[Anadarko Democrat.

Hopeful Prospects.

The Indian Territory has a good crop prospect, and with an oil-well staked out every few miles over the country, and coal mines liberally supplying the country with heavy fuel, there is no reason why the people of the Territory may not expect prosperity in large bunches this fall.—[The Denison Daily.

The Creeks Care fore their Voters.

It is said that the candidates for governor of the Chickasaw Nation provided big barbecue dinners at all the polling places at a recent election, and the voters lacked nothing to eat. They were well cared for.
