Watch for the tender touch of green that shows in the budding trees;
See how the sunlight laughs for joy at the song of the

See how the sunlight laughs for joy at the song of the rippling brook, rippling brook, At the violets bending their purple heads in the breath of the April breeze.

See if the white anemones, like lingering flakes of

Go drifting silently through the wood, athrill with the joy of Spring; Hark to the notes that bubble and burst from a gay little warbler's throat;

Watch for the rose of the bluebird's breast, or the gleam of his azure wing.

Find me some blue hepaticas, so daintily sweet to see, Earnest of fairer days to come when the world is abloom with May:

Ponder the bits of springtime lore, ay, ponder them, dear, for me;

And gather he fragrance that floods the world to stow in your heart away.

Gather the sunlight's molten gold that streams from the ky above;
Gather the brightness and bloom and joy that the

Come to me, dear, with your heart and your hands

brimful of the budding Spring.

FOR THE BUSINESS BOY.

ERE are some rules which appear in a circular issued by one of the largest establishments in Chicago. They are full of stimulating suggestiveness to the young man who is determined to push along on the highway of life, and to make a success of his journey:

Be courteous.

By an example

Eliminate errors.

Develop resources,

Master circumstances.
Anticipate requirements.

Recognize no impediments.

Work for the love of the work.

Act from reason rather than rule.

Be satisfied with nothing short of perfection.

Do some things better than they were ever done before.

Do the right thing, at the right time, in the right way.—Howard Times.

THE OLD WALNUT TREE AS IT WILL SOON APPEAR.

PLANTING TIME

Don't forget that the peas, flowering or garden, must go into the ground early. The trenches for the peas should be prepared at the earliest possible moment, as soon as the condition of the weather and soil will permit—the earlier the better, in order that the vines may make a good root-growth while the ground is cool and moist.

Don't neglect to plant plenty of the dear old "grandmother's garden" flowers; and remember the fragrant ones, as well as those for show only. Plant some scented foliage plants The old lemon verbena is one of the best. Some of our most popular flowering plants of to-day are the old kind our mothers loved. These plants "seldom die and never resign" their office of beauty-bearing.

Lettuce is easily started in boxes in the house, or if there is a furnace in the cellar, with a window in the apartment through which the sun may reach the box part of the day. The boxes may be set there, and when the ground get in condition to work, the lettuce should be ready to stransplant. All hardy vegetables, such as beets, cabbage, radishes, turnips. peppers, etc., can be started in the house with much saving of time.

The common ruffled parsley, used so freely as a garnish for many dishes and as flavoring for others, is easily raised. Seeds should be sown early in boxes in the house, or in the hot bed, or, later, in the open ground. The seeds germinate readily. When fully grown, cold and freezing weather does not harm the parsley, and it can be had green all winter if given a little protection. A sprig of it suits well to put in boquets, or in the vase. It is useful, ornam ntal, and easily grown. Do plant a few seeds of it.

For either the flower or vegetable garden prepare the ground, get good seeds, plant generously to allow for many mishaps, give good cultivation, and you will find yourself well repaid for money, care or exertion. Don't neglect the garden.

THE QUESTION IS NOT SO SIMPLE AS IT SOUNDS.

WHAT is money? "Why, what a silly question!" I can hear some of you erying; but it is not, says a writer in the London News. We all know what money is made of-gold and silver. So it is now but there have been far-off times and outof the way places where all sorts of things were used instead before people learned to see the value of metal exchange, as it is called. Besides, in some countries there was neither gold nor silver to be had. So wine or oil, eggs or rice, have all been used to buy and sell with, while among savages the skins of the wild animals they killed, or the shells they picked up on the shore, have often been used instead of money.

Even valuable trees have been cut down to serve as money but of a very clumsy kind: fancy the difficulty of taking about great logs of wood. Nor were gold and silver the only metals employed, brass, pewter, bronze and copper were in use among many nations and these were carried about in large pieces, before mints were thought of where money could be coined so that purses were no good at all. In Sweden, in former times copper was the "medium of exchange." as it is called, and was carried about in large plates, sometimes two feet long; but needless to say folks who had much of it had to have wheelbarrows to carry it in .- Glen Mills Daily.

The following letter has been received by Major Mercer from Mr. H. A. Mc Comas about the death of Adelbert Williams which occurred April 9th in Philadelphia. MAJOR W. A. MERCER,

CARLISLE, PA. DEAR SIR:

I was very sorry to inform you today of the death of Adelbert. As written you a short time ago, Adelbert was taken with scarlet fever about two weeks ago, and upon the advice of the physician was taken to the hospital, where he might receive the proper attention. He seemed to be getting along very nicely, but last Saturday had a change for the worse, and after everything had been done for him that was possible to do, death came about 11:00 this morning. Having become so attached to Adelbert, we feel his loss very much, as we had begun to regard him almost as one of our owu, inasmuch as he always shared in everything the same as our own. Adelbert was a boy that any mother could be proud of, always ready and willing to do anything he was asked to do, of a good and kind disposition, and truthful at all times.

We will bury him, as stated to you over the phone, in our lot at Buckingham, which is but a short drive from our place in the country, and where Adelbert has spent his past five summers.

> Yours very truly. H. A. McComas.
