VOLUME XIV.

CARLISLE, PA., OCTOBER 12, 1917.

NUMBER 5

CARLISLE'S BIRTHDAY.

Saturday, October 6th, was the thirty-eighth birthday of the Carlisle School. Two football victories, the 'Varsity against Franklin and Marshall with a score of 63 to 0 and the Reserves against Dickinson Reserves with a score of 15 to 13 were won on that day.

In the evening Dr. Thomas C. Blaisdell, dean of the College of Liberal Arts, Pennsylvania State College, delivered one of the most interesting and inspiring of addresses. He held the undivided attention of the students and faculty, and his engaging manners and helpful words will long be an inspiration to all of us.

He said in part:

"For thirty-eight years boys and girls have been coming to this school privileged with a wonderful opportunity which comes only to a few, the opportunity to get an education worth while. The education you are getting here is practical, which will make men and women of you.

"Somewhere in the Bible it says, 'I will make man more precious than fine gold.' That is the business of American public schools, colleges and every educational institution. I wonder if we are doing it in our schools as well as we should be doing it. I think Carlisle is one place where they are doing it, where they are giving the boys and girls an education that will make them more precious than fine gold.

"A young fellow got married and his wife had a rich uncle. One day after they were married this uncle came to the young fellow and said, 'I am going to Europe and I am putting $6,000 in the bank and you can draw it out as you need it. Here is a lot, blue-prints, plans and specifications. Now I want you to build a house. Build it as nicely as you can for the $6,000.' The uncle went to Europe and the young fellow took the plans, etc., and went to building the house. He thought $6,000 was a good bit to put into a house, and he wondered why he couldn't build it for $5,000 and be ahead $1,000, as no one would ever know the difference. So he bought less expensive materials and built it on the $5,000 principle. It was finally completed and looked well. At the end of six months the uncle returned from Europe and immediately wanted to see the house, so the young man took him around to see it. The uncle seemed pleased and complimented him on being able to build such a nice house for that amount of money. He said, 'I am much pleased with it and I tell what I am going to do,' pulling out a deed and handing it to the young fellow. 'I am going to make you a wedding present of this house. You may move into it.' How do you suppose that fellow felt? He was the kind of a fellow that could be brought with a price. Don't be a man with a price but a man more precious than fine gold. That young man put his character into that building just as you boys and girls are putting your characters into everything you do.

"Always be ready to serve and ready to do something for the other fellow, and always ready to help. The world is going to ask you what you can do, and if you say 'I can smoke a cigarette' the world isn't going to have much to do with you. When a man like Mr. Edison says he employs no man who smokes cigarettes he has a reason for doing it. He knows that he cannot be as efficient as a man who does not smoke.

"Young girls, the world is going to ask you what you can do, too. You are going to be trained to do something, and I am mighty glad of it. Be sure that during your stay here you gain efficiency. Use every day, every hour, and every minute to gain efficiency, so that when the world asks what you can do you will be ready to say 'I can do.' You are doing your best work each day not for a few days or years but the best work for eternity. You are putting into your hearts and lives ideals that will last. As you are shaping your characters, are you making yourselves into men and women who can be sold for a price? What kind are you going to make for yourselves? What are you going to do to make yourself the man or the woman more precious than fine gold? If we would really succeed in making ourselves more precious than fine gold we must have an ideal in our lives toward which we are working. Are you working for just one purpose, and with that ideal are you going to make yourself more precious than fine gold?"

Notes by Students on Dr. Blaisdell's Lecture.

" 'Tis the set the soul that decides the goal,
And not the storm nor the strife."

Don't be a man with a price.

The reason why you boys and girls are here at Carlisle is to make yourselves more precious than fine gold.

A girl should not marry a man who drinks, with the idea of reforming him.

The contractor who built the houses that could stand the trembling of the earth moulded his character into his work.

We are known by our work, as our character is woven into it.

Rev. M. E. Stock now an Army Chaplain.

The many pupils who cherish fond memories of Father Stock will be surprised to learn that he has been appointed chaplain in the 311th Field Artillery, now at Camp Meade, Md., and expects to sail for France in the near future.

The Catholic young men in the 311th Field Artillery are most fortunate in Bishop McDevitt's choice of chaplain for them, as Father Stock will not only look after their spiritual welfare but if needs be will prove a most kind, tender, and sympathetic nurse. His very personality is an influence for good.

Father Stock is not only patriotic in the extreme, but is as brave as a lion, and will face the greatest storm of shot and shell to administer to the sick and dying.

You Catholic Indian pupils, with whom Father Stock has labored with so much zeal in your behalf, do not forget to say a fervent prayer for his safe return, for his place can not be filled easily.—M. M. Sweeney.

THE NANKON PASS.

China is always interesting to study, whether one is looking for people or land physiography. There are many phases of geography study in China that appeal to the traveler. Of course you know that the great wall of China was built to keep out invaders in years gone by. In many places near the wall are large passes where invading hosts could lie in wait until they were sure of rushing in on their enemies and surprising them when they least suspected it. One of these famous passes is the Nankon Pass in northern China. It is a wonderful place, and besides having a remarkable history, it is one of the most picturesque spots in the Celestial Empire. The shadows playing in and out among the mountains, and the different colors the shrubs, trees, and other vegetation, make one think he is in some beautiful fairy-land.—Walter K. Putney in Young People.

MY COUNTRY.

I am an American.

I belong to the United States of America, and am proud of it, because my country is great and strong, and its ideals are just and humane.

I love my country because it is a democracy, where the people govern themselves, and there is no hereditary class to rule them.

I love my country because the feeling of the people is against all classes, and what classes we have are constantly mingling and breaking up.

I love my country because it never wishes to conquer any other country, nor to annex any territory that does not belong to it without the consent of the people who live in such a territory.

I love my country because the only use it has for an army and navy is to defend itself from unjust attack and to protect its citizens.

I love my country because it is founded on the principle of federation and not of empire.

I love my country because it is ready to join with the other Nations of the world in a World Federation, and thus do away forever with war, whenever the other Nations are willing.

I love my country because it asks nothing for itself it would not ask for all humanity.

I love my country because it is the land of opportunity; the way to success is open to every person, no matter what his birth or circumstances.

I love my country because the oppressed of other countries are welcome here and have all the rights and privileges of native citizens if they obey our laws.

I love my country because every child in it can get an education free in its public schools and more money is spent on training children here than in any other country.

I love my country because women are respected and honored.

(To be continued next week.)

GENERAL PRATT VISITS SHERMAN.

Gen. Richard H. Pratt was the guest of Superintendent and Mrs. Conser during the first week of September. His visits to the school are always welcome, and doubly so to those who came into personal contact with him and the members of his delightful family during the heyday of his work at Carlisle. The General gathered the Carlisle colony together for a photograph, and included Superintendent and Mrs. Conser in the group.

General Pratt is still actively interested in the welfare of the Indian, and judging from his appearance he will remain in the first-line trenches for a number of years to come.

He left Sherman for Washington, D. C. It was his intention to stop off at Laguna, N. Mex., where he would visit for a few days with the Mormons and see a large number of his old students who have established homes in the vicinity.—The Sherman Bulletin.

RED CROSS MEMBERS.

Since the last issue of the Arrow the following campus residents have joined the Red Cross and paid their dues:

Miss Ella Albert,	Mrs. Ida Boger,
Noah Bench,	Mamie Heaney,
Elizabeth Frost,	Nellie Hawkins.

(subscribing m'ber.)

Between thirty and forty others have handed in their names and will become members as soon as they are able to draw their money. Already forty-six of the employees and their families have become members.

Query.

Are you sure you can pronounce correctly the following words:

cantonment	government
quota	perspiration
Trieste	Italian
library	excursion
civilization	vaudeville

An Enjoyable Evening.

Last Saturday evening a party was given in Grace Maybee's room by Ruby Childers, Grace Maybee, and Delia Chew. The refreshments consisted of walnut and strawberry ice cream, assorted cookies, apple pie, crackers, peanut butter, fruit, and candy. The guests were Relia Oshkosh, Christine Cuttler, Ida Clark and Mamie Heaney.

THE FRANKLIN AND MARSHALL GAME.

By Coach Harris.

After the first five minutes of play it was plainly seen that the Carlisle team would run away with their heavy opponents. Franklin and Marshall put up a game fight throughout, but the wonderful speed of the Indian team, both on offence and defence, was too much for the Lancaster bunch. Carlisle showed wonderful improvement on defence over the Albright game, and it was very gratifying to see the smiling, quiet, good-natured conduct and the tiger-like fighting spirit that the team displayed throughout the entire game. The results; Carlisle 63, F & M. 0.

As in the Albright game, we had twenty-four men in during the progress of the short game. Our team averages from 16 to 23 years of age, 90 per cent of the team being in their nineteenth year and the average weight not exceeding 157 pounds, which I think is the lightest and youngest team that ever represented the school. Every player on the squad went into the game with the do-or-die spirit.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES.

Mrs. Francis has been on a visit to Washington.

Mr. Edgar Curry of Walton, N. Y. was a Sunday visitor. Charles Peters is attending high school in Bay City, Michigan.

Misses Reichel and Dunagan went to Lancaster to see the game.

Mrs. Goodbread of Philadelphia is visiting her aunt, Miss Kaup.

The Junior class heartily welcome back their classmate, Lucy Ashland.

William Littlewolf, who is on the U. S. S. Texas, was a visitor Sunday.

The junior boys welcome the two new members, Robert and David Hill.

There are now five companies at the Large Boys' Quarters,—A, B, C, D, and E.

Mrs. J. H. Channel of Beverly, West Virginia, is visiting her sister, Miss Greynolds.

Miss Cornelius and Grace Maybee made ice-cream and cake for our Sunday dinner at the hospital.

Mr. Ralph Herr of Wilkesbarre, Pa., was the week-end guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Herr.

Mrs. Lee G. Blevins, formerly Miss Mae Lavadore, Carlisle '17, is now living at Lagrange, Oregon.

The nurses are given lessons in first aid once a week. They are learning the different ways of bandaging.

The Susans society gave a volunteer program Friday evening that was the best I ever attended.—Frances Leslie.

One farmer was so pleased with his corn cutters that he gave them permission to visit his orchard and help themselves.

Sixty-five boys went out to the neighboring farms to cut corn. The farmers came after them in autos, buggies, cars and farm wagons.

Miss Snoddy is spending several days this week at the D. A. R. Convention at Allentown. She is a delegate of the Carlisle chapter.

The girls are very much interested in Red Cross work. Nearly every girl on the campus is knitting or is learning to knit for the soldiers.

Captain Tibbets played a fine game last Saturday, making three touchdowns besides gaining most of the first downs that were made.

While passing through the conservation train we saw bran bread, bran biscuits, bran cookies, and all looked so good that we longed to eat of them.

A letter from Mrs. Roy Gilmore, nee Lucy West, Carlisle '17, states that she is at Fort Worth, Texas, visiting her soldier husband who is stationed there.

Mr. Heagy and Mr. Bradley accompanied a crowd of boys to Lancaster, Pa., last Saturday afternoon to see the game between Franklin and Marshall and our boys.

THE PROTESTANT MEETING.

By Owen Woothlakewahbitty.

The meeting was led by Fred Blythe. There being no speaker, the time was devoted to the singing of hymns. After the first hymn the Scripture lesson, taken from the thirteenth chapter of St. John, was read by Harold Pierce. The Lord's prayer was repeated.

During the course of the evening two beautiful selections were rendered by the orchestra.

The meeting closed by singing the hymn, "Beautiful Isles of Somewhere."

THE MERCER LITERARY SOCIETY.

By Isabel Lavadore..

The Mercers congregated at the usual hour. The vice-president called the house to order. Roll was called and each member responded with a selected quotation. This was followed by the confirmation of new members, who were as follows: Elsie Spring, Lucy Thomas, Lucy Smith, Lizzie Tatesy, Rhoda Cadotte, Hattie Williams, and Lena Desersa. The treasurer then gave her report, which was accepted.

The following names were handed in for membership: Frances Perryman, Lucy Logan, Molly Buffalo, Hazel Plummer, Sadie Bedoka, Emma Williams, Mary Choate, Frances Jacobs, Grace Douglas, Eva Dubray, Hattie Topechy, Margaret Levering, Hattie King, and Edna Levering.

Eleanor Houk gave the reporter's notes, after which the following program was rendered:

Song—Mercers.

Reading: "Six Times Nine"—Rachel Cabay.

Recitation: "The Last Leaf"—Martha Shambaugh.

Biographical Sketch of General Pershing—Nellie Thompson.

Mandolin Duet—Edna McDonald and Elizabeth Sweet.

Duet: "America, Here is My Boy"—Nettie Standing Bear and Vera Green. Encore: "Over There."

Anecdotes.—Edna McDonald.

Essay: "Haste"—Delia Chew.

Vocal Solo: "Do Not Trust Him Gentle Lady"—Lizzie Grant accompanied by Gertrude Pego, guitar.

Guitar Duet: "Missouri Waltz"—Gertrude Pego and Elizabeth Sweet.

Pen-pictures: "Mrs. Blair and a Brother Standard,"—Elizabeth Beaulieu.

School Song: "Nestling 'Neath the Mountains Blue"—Mercers.

The official visitors were Miss Williams and Mr. Nonnast. Miss Williams greeted the new members, and added some very cordial expressions of friendship and good will. Mrs. Sanderson, a former member, was also present. She favored us with the reading of a few anecdotes. The critic gave her report, and the chairman announced to the Mercers that she had heard from Mrs. Roy Gillmore, formerly Lucy West, class '17, who sent greetings to the Mercers. The house then adjourned.

THE STANDARD LITERARY SOCIETY.

By Charles Cadotte.

The house was called to order at the usual time by the president, Andrew Cuellar. The roll was called, and the society song was sung, led by Norton Taquechi. The minutes of the foregoing meeting were read and approved. The following program was rendered:

Declamation—Joseph Bluehorse.

Essay—Andrew Cuellar.

Impromptu—Daniel Madreno and Leno Cuellar.

Summer experience—Hobson Tupper.

Select reading—Eugene Sutton.

Debate.

Resolved, That the annexation of Mexico to the United States is desirable.

Affirmative—Norton Tahquechi and Francis Auge.

Negative—Owen Wooth and Albert Shaw.

The hedges for the evening were: Emerson Metoxen, John Leroy, and Charles Henry. They decided in favor of the affirmative side.

Under the good of society Mrs. Ewing, Miss Smith and Mr. Boltz responded with helpful talks. Our advisory member also gave us a talk. Music was furnished by the Standard orchestra. The critic made his report, and the house adjourned.

Marriage of Carlisle Ex-Student.

Miss Elizabeth Keshena, commercial 1913, was married early in August to Mr. J. E. Stevens, chief clerk at Pipestone, Minn., where she is employed. The Leader wishes them a long life and much happiness.—The Haskell Indian Leader. (Mrs. Stevens was graduated from Carlisle in 1912. The Arrow also extends best wishes for happiness and success.)

GENERAL NEWS NOTES.

The many friends of Louis Palin will be pleased to hear that he is the owner of a garage in his home town, Plains, Montana. He is also agent for the Studebaker cars.

The Juniors received a very interesting letter from their ex-president, George May. At the time of writing he was preparing to leave Fort Wayne, Michigan, for Waco, Texas.

Mr. Lamason and Miss Kaup took the girls for a walk Sunday afternoon. They came back by way of the first farm where they were permitted to take a few delicious tomatoes.

The busy days are over at the school farms as the silos are filled and threshing is over. Besides the small jobs that are to be done, there is corn to be husked and potatoes to be dug.

The girls at the Model Home cottage for this month are: Abbie Somers, Lucy Green, Ada Freeman, and Georgia Connor. Abbie proved herself a capable cook during the past week.

This week Mr. Wheelock and George Tibbets are helping Mr. Brown with the Carlisle Arrow and Red Man. Mr. Wheelock is running the monotype keyboard and Mr. Tibbets the folding machine.

The food conservation train had on exhibition interesting things such as vegetables sliced and dried for seasoning purposes, and linseed oil as a substitute for beef fats in the making of pies, cookies, and bread.

Because the nurses do not go to Domestic Science, Miss Cornelius has arranged to have each girl take her turn at doing the Saturday baking. Grace Maybe began last week; her dishes were a great success.

The Junior Class are very much interested in learning to make oxygen and hydrogen. The girls who experimented were Eusevia Vargas, Hattie Feather, Lucy Lenoir and Emily Moran. They proved to be some chemists.

The students had breakfast at six o'clock Saturday morning because of a large party of boys who went out to cut corn. The Small Boys' Quarters is rapidly being filled. The newest arrivals are from Wisconsin and New York.

The advanced girls and many of the campus ladies were very much interested in visiting the Food Conservation train, which was in Carlisle all day Friday. Methods of canning, drying, and various helps in food conservation, together with many interesting facts concerning the war, were explained.

The members of class '17 who are attending high school under the Outing entered these classes: Elizabeth Allen, Sallie Greybeard, Marie Poupart, Pauline Chisolm and Agnes Hatch, sophomore. Roberta Seneca is taking a special course in business and Sarah Fowler is attending normal school. Ella Israel, '15, is a Senior.
