A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER EDITED AND PRINTED BY THE STUDENTS OF THE UNITED STATES INDIAN SCHOOL

VOLUME VI

CARLISLE, PA., SEPTEMBER 10, 1909

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

Abe Colonohaskie visited his home in Cherokee, N. C., during the summer.

Miss White is entertaining her sister, Miss Ida White of Butler, Pa., for a week.

Miss Katie Hains, of Palmyra, Pa., was the guest of Miss Rice for a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitwell, accompanied by Inez and Harriet, went to Jackson, Michigan, for a few weeks.

The printing department extends thanks to the painters and engineers for work done during the past month.

Mr. and Mrs. Stauffer took a vacation trip which included the St. Lawrence region and the Thousand Islands.

Margaret Blackwood and Fannie Keokuk are now working in the business office of the Carlisle Indian Press.

The printing department is greatly indebted to Mr. Ramsey, of the business department, for assistance during July and August.

Mr. Miller, the school printer, passed his vacation in the west. He also visited homefolks in Kansas City and Chicago on his way home.

Mrs. Canfield was away for some weeks this summer visiting relatives in Medford, Oklahoma. Before returning to school, she took a trip to Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner were away some time this summer visiting relatives in Buffalo, New York, and later took a trip to Atlantic City for a few weeks.

Stephen Glori, who left here in May to take up his trade as printer in New York City, writes Mr. Miller that he is earning a good salary and getting along finely. Stephen is to be congratulated on his earnest endeavor to succeed.

Emma Newashe, who has been working in the business office of The Carlisle Indian Press for the past year, has entered the sewing department for a change. Emma gave perfect satisfaction while with us and we are sorry to lose her.

Mrs. Helena B. Warren, of Bena, Michigan, brought a party of girls and boys here last week from the Chippewa reservation there. Mrs. Warren is a teacher in the Indian School at Bena. Her husband, Henry W. Warren, who is a graduate of Carlisle, is superintendent.

A number of our teachers attended summer schools during the vacation months. Miss Lechrone entered the classes at Mt. Gretna, Pa.; Miss Lida M. Johnston was at the New York Chautauqua, as were also Miss McDowell and Miss Jennie L. Gaither. Miss Katherine C. Bingley took a course at the University of North Carolina Summer School.

Joseph Sheehan, a former student of the school, visited us last week. Joseph is a printer and has been working at his trade now for about one and a half years. He is getting along well, he tells us, being employed now with Baughman & Sons, publishers of the Citizen, at Frederick, Md. Before going to his work there he was for a time employed in Waynesboro, Pa.

The "Old Home Week" celebrations in town were enjoyed by the school. Each evening parties of girls and boys were taken down by the teachers and employees to see the illuminations and enjoy the general good time. Wednesday and Thursday afternoons the school was granted a holiday in order to see the parades. The school was well represented in both pageants. In the civic parade on Wednesday the boys marched in company formation and the industrial departments were represented by floats, one showing the work of the girls and the other what the boys are doing. The fire company represented the school in the firemen's parade on Thursday. Of it, the Philadelphia North American reports: "The fire department of the Carlisle Indian school, with its military training, was one of the finest features of the parade, and one of the most popular."

THE ARROW force—which also gets up The Indian Craftsman, of course—is much interested in a new machine for the department of printing. It is a Dexter folding machine, the finest machine of its kind made, equipped with the latest electrical devices. This addition to our plant was made necessary by the large volume of our general work and the increasing circulation of our school magazine, The Indian Craftsman. It will help us keep up the quality of our product, while endeavoring to assume the responsibility for a larger quantity, without adding to our present force of fifty people.

The New Athletic Quarters Finished.

The new athletic quarters are now almost ready for occupancy, and a number of parties of inspection curious to view the beauties of the interior have explored the building in the last few days. One of the most attractive features is the entrance hallway from which the stairs to the upper floors ascend. A large dining room, reading room, billiard room and a reception room are conveniently grouped on the ground floor, while back of them is the kitchen equipped with all modern appliances. The remaining space on the ground floor and all of the upper floors is taken up with rooms for our athletes. These rooms will accommodate about 45 men and are bright and large, and all open into wide halls. There are fine wash rooms and bathrooms with showerbaths, and everything necessary for the comfort of our boys who will uphold the athletic reputation of "Old Carlisle".

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

Miss Reichel spent her vacation at her home in Saegerstown, Pa.

Miss Shultz, of Girls' Quarters, spent her vacation at her home in Fairfield, Pa.

Mr. Whitwell held down the "big chair" in the Quartermaster's department during the absence of Mr. Kensler in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Denny spent their vacation in Sisseton, S. D. They visited while in that section some of Mrs. Denny's relatives and friends.

Miss Jennie Gaither and Miss Hough enjoyed a trip to Gettysburg on Sunday, August 15. They went over the battlefield and had a pleasant day.

Miss Jennie L. Gaither spent a week of her vacation visiting friends in Washington, D.C., and then went to Lake Chautauqua, N. Y., where she attended several of the courses at the Chautauqua Summer School.

On August 11th, Mr. H. Gardner, of the carpenter shop, passed an important anniversary. That day rounded out the twenty-fifth year of Mr. Gardner's connection with the school. Few can beat such a record here.

Miss Dunlevy, assisted by Margaret Blackwood, Emma Newashe and Anna Chisholm, attended to the work in the business office of THE ARROW and The Indian Craftsman during the summer. It is needless to say that the work was well done.

Miss Dunlevy, who has had charge of the business office of the Carlisle Indian Press for the past five months, left us the first of September to assume her work with Dr. Reed, of Dickinson College. We are sorry to lose her, for her disposition is such that she makes friends with all whom she comes in contact.

Miss Charlotte Belle Mann, of Baltimore, Md., is now with us in the business office of the print shop. Miss Mann is a graduate of the Woman's College, Baltimore, and previous to her appointment by the Civil Service Commission, was associated with the Baltimore News, a well known paper of that city. We are pleased to welcome her to our midst and trust she will enjoy her stay with us.

Genus Beard, who left here about a year ago to assume the mechanical management of The New Era, the Rosebud Reservation magazine, is making good. We are glad to note the changes and improvements in that publication. May he continue to "move up" is the wish of all his Carlisle typo friends.

Mrs. Lovewell, formerly a teacher at Fort Shaw, Montana, has been transferred to Carlisle. Before coming here she spent part of her vacation attending the meeting of the National Educational Association at Denver. We are glad to welcome Mrs. Lovewell to Carlisle and hope her stay may be pleasant and successful.

Supervisor Charles E. Dagenett made Carlisle a short visit the past month while on his way from Buffalo to Washington. Mr. Dagenett is always interested in the work of the institution; sufficiently so to make us a visit whenever in this part of the country, and we are always glad to have him come. He is one of the most prominent Alumni of Carlisle

One of the parties going through the school this month was that made up of the employees of the State Printing Plant, Harrisburg. The party was a large one and made the trip out to the school especially to see The Carlisle Press, which has received so many complimentary notices in the technical journals this past summer as to attract the attention of all modern plants and craftsmen in similar business.

Miss Eva Foster, who has been spending the summer with her mother, Mrs. Foster, at this school, will leave Carlisle on September 10, to return to Minneapolis. She will go by the Lake route, spending several days on the Great Lakes. Miss Foster is a student at the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis, where she will take up her studies again when school opens. She is a member of the class of 1911.

John White, one of our 1909 graduates who has been working in the printing department during the summer, left the school on August 21st last, to take up his trade of printer in Waynesboro, Pa. His new employer is Walter T. Todd, business manager of the Herald, a newspaper issued daily and weekly by the Waynesboro

Printing Company. John has long been one of our most trustworthy apprentices and we wish him the greatest success in his effort to start out for himself.

A number of new students have arrived at the school recently. Mary Swallow, of Pine Ridge, and Elsie Robertson, Walter Robertson, and Robert Weatherstone, all of Brown Valley, S. D., are among the latest new comers. By the time this issue of THE ARROW goes to press they will have been here long enough to get settled in their new quarters, and we hope they will find their work at the school pleasant.

Louis Roy, who left this department in May to accept the place of assistant printer at the Chilocco school, is proving his worth as an Indian craftsman. The July issue of The Indian School Journal attests his ability as a cylinder pressman. This issue under his hands is not only an improvement over former numbers of that publication, but shows much skill in handling doubletone ink, one of the hardest propositions put up to a pressman. THE ARROW force congratulates him on his fine showing.

Hon. Robert G. Valentine, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, paid us a business visit during July. He was here especially to look into the industrial work and to go over the matter of proposed improvements at Carlisle. Matters of general importance relating to the education of the Indian were discussed with Superintendent Friedman. This was his initial visit to Carlisle since becoming Commissioner, and judging from the manner in which he worked while here, he will make a commissioner with a reputation for doing things.

We were pleased to receive last month a visit from Mr. Addison Johnston, class of 1908, and a former apprentice in the print shop. Mr. Johnston is a Cherokee, his home being in North Carolina. He left the school in 1906 to enter the State Printing Department at Harrisburg, which position he has filled most acceptably ever since. He is one of the many students of Carlisle who are "making good" and the school is glad to enroll him among its successful Alumni. We extend our best wishes for his continued success and trust he will visit us whenever the opportunity presents itself.

SUMMER VACATION NEWS.

Miss Eva Foster, a junior of Minnesota University, spent the summer with her mother here at the school.

Mr. John E. Ramsey, a lumberman of East Tennessee, spent three weeks here with his brother during the month of July.

Miss Reichel elected to serve a short apprenticeship in the Sewing Room in preference to going away to summer school.

Mr. August Kensler, our faithful quartermaster, is spending his first vacation in 17 years crossing the "pond" to the "Fatherland"—old Germany.

Ask Simon Blackstar if the water in the Conedogwinet on Sundays is cold! He took a bath unexpectedly one afternoon at the Cave, caused by his boat capsizing.

Miss Shultz is rather proud of her new rooms on the first floor of Girls' Quarters. She thought they never would be finished—but then, the boys like to work in that building!

Our former Senior Teacher, Miss Marietta Wood, was transferred to Santa Fe, N. Mexico. She will be missed—the Seniors liked her. We wish her success in her new field.

The old play room in Girls' Quarters has been remodeled and converted into a nice Y. W. C. A. Hall. The Y. W.'s should be delighted with their new quarters. The Mercers expect to use the room as a society hall.

The small-party picnics this summer have been too numerous to mention individually, but many baskets filled with good things to eat have been seen to take the car never to return.

A new maple floor has been laid in the Teachers' Dining Room, and "touch downs" are quite frequent among the waitresses—with Jennie Warrington and Clara Trepania well in the lead.

The Waynesboro Exchange says: Miss Lydia Kaup, of Carlisle, was a visitor in town yesterday. Miss Kaup is an agent from the Indian School at Carlisle and was here to visit the girls from the school who are in the families in town. There are three Indian girls in Waynesboro for the summer. Miss Kaup's duties are to see that the girls are treated deservingly.

Quite an exciting game of ball was played on the Franklin School grounds on August 3 between our boys and the "Sally's". But our boys won—and ate the watermelons too! (Ask Mr. Denny and Mr. Miller.)

James Mumblehead officially represented the Y. M. C. A. at the Northfield Conference, Northfield, Mass., this summer. He is going to tell us about it some Sunday evening soon. Don't miss it!

Mrs. H. M. Carter paid us a flying visit just prior to Mr. Carter's vacation. Both spent the month of July at their old home in Indiana. Their daughter, Miss Mabel, preferred remaining at Carlisle.

Flag Salute was observed regularly until the month of August. This is one of the prettiest ceremonies that takes place at Carlisle, and regret marked the closing salute of the season on Sunday evening, August 1st.

We know that Carlisle has added to the happiness of one small life of the year. One of the "Fresh Air" children spent a portion of July with Katherine, and it was certainly a rare treat to see the enjoyment the child received from her outing.

In the absence of a speaker from town, the third Sunday evening in July was given over to singing by the entire student body, led by the orchestra. Some of the boys told their best girls the next day that their throats were sore—but the evening was enjoyed by all present.

Popular Band Concerts.

Frequent band concerts throughout the months of June and July continued to delight the pupils and employees of the school, and the residents of Carlisle, who came out in goodly numbers. Exceptionally good was the last concert of the season, Friday evening, July 30, 1909, the program of which follows:

March—"The Lisgar Rifles".....	Evans
Overture—"The King of Diamonds".....	Rockwell
Humoresque—"Aux 3 Suisses".....	Bonnechope
Chinese Dance—"Sing Lee".....	Brown
Salon Stitch—"First Heart Thrills".....	Eilenberg
Schottische—"On the Beach".....	Beyer
Tone Picture—"Sunshine and Flowers".....	Evans
March—"Pennsylvania".....	Everett

SCHOOL PUBLICATIONS TO BE BOUND.

One of the most important features of the work accomplished in the printing department during the past summer was the sorting out, compiling and getting into shape for binding, all the copies of the many different publications ever printed at The Carlisle Indian School. The period covered by these papers extends from the year 1880 to 1909, inclusive, beginning with the School News, a paper 4x5½ inches. The titles of these publications are: the School News, Eadle Keatah Toh, The Morning Star, The Indian Helper, The Red Man, The Redman and Helper, The Arrow, THE CARLISLE ARROW, and The Indian Craftsman, this last being the new publication of the school.

The complete files contain 90 volumes. No bound volumes of these publications are in existence so that when bound and placed in our library, they will make a very much needed addition to that department. The value of this compilation of volumes cannot be fully estimated, showing as it does, the growth and progress of the institution almost from the very day of its founding. The articles appearing from time to time from students on their outing or from those who have started out for themselves in life with the benefit received from the training of the school, are most interesting. The records of the progress made by the students themselves and the influence for good that has emanated from these weekly messengers, are most inspiring.

Wanamaker Party Not From Carlisle.

A dispatch purporting to be from Atlanta, Ga., has been going the rounds of the newspapers to the effect that twenty-five Indian maidens from the Carlisle Indian School have reached Blue Ridge, that state, and will spend a fortnight in horse-back riding, mountain climbing, etc. That they are chaperoned by daughters of John Wanamaker and John B. Stetson, of Philadelphia, and they will actually go into Atlanta on horse back attired in native dress before breaking camp. Supt. Friedman, of the Carlisle Indian School, when interviewed, said no such party left this school. The maidens are likely from Philadelphia, where there is a school, or from some western point. —Carlisle Evening Sentinel.

Death of Lonnie Patton.

We take the following tribute, concerning one of our prominent last year's graduates, from The Thlinget, an exchange published by the Indian Training School at Sitka, Alaska:

It is with a feeling of sadness that we speak of the death of Alonzo A. Patton. He was one of Alaska's promising young men. After spending a time at the Sitka Training School he went east to study at the Carlisle Indian School. He was graduated in April of this year. He studied electricity and received his diploma from that department. Lonnie was ambitious for himself and the native people of Alaska. He desired to be one who is honored because of his true worth. A paragraph taken from an article he wrote in the CARLISLE ARROW shows the high aim he had in living. He says in this article on the American Indian of today: "It is important and right that all the privileges and rights laid down in the federal constitution be ours, but it is vastly more important that we be prepared for the exercise of these privileges and these rights. Unless we fit ourselves to exercise them we have no right to demand them"—"We shall either constitute the ignorant and criminal element of the American people or its intelligence and progress. We shall contribute either to its business or industrial prosperity or we shall prove a depressing element."

This is his call to his fellow students on behalf of his own people. While in school he worked and studied with a brave heart and in his last illness he showed the same heroic spirit. He was brave and helpful to the end. He fought hard to throw off the disease that was fastening itself upon him, but when he knew it was God's will that he must go he submitted cheerfully. He had not lived for earthly things alone. He was an earnest Christian and had laid up for himself treasures in heaven. For him to have lived and to have accomplished what he did is enough. There are many others that need the same influence to make them what he was.

Indian Band at Harrisburg.

One of the largest crowds that has ever attended a Reservoir Park concert heard the Carlisle Indian Band give an afternoon and an evening program yesterday. It is estimated by Park Commission officials that from eight to nine thousand people heard the evening program alone.

If the afternoon concert was popular the evening concert was the best ever. Captain C. M. Stauffer, the conductor, had the band in splendid form and for the evening he had arranged a special bunch of numbers complimentary to June brides. Incidentally, every one of them, from Sousa's Bride Elect, to the Wedding Marches, were received with much enthusiasm.

Samuel Griest's vocal solo, Dear Old Dear, with band accompaniment, set the crowds applauding, as did the baritone solo, The Toreador's Love Song from Carmen, rendered by Jose Cigala.

Standing room was at a premium anywhere near the band stand and the porches and terraces of the house and vicinity were filled with people. The hill-slopes as far as the golf course contained hundreds. In the circle above the house were scores of autos and teams.—Harrisburg Patriot, June 19.

A Word of High Art.

The Indians at the Carlisle School are issuing a very creditable monthly magazine, known as the Indian Craftsman, which shows marked ability on the part of all who have any connection with the publication. The book is a work of high art, not only in the matter of reading matter, which is well selected and well written, but also in the make-up and press work as well. The mechanical work, which is done by apprentice-students, under the direction of the superintendent of printing at the school, would do credit to any high-class establishment. Every Evening, Wilmington, Del., July 26.

Sunday Evening Lawn Meetings.

The Sunday Evening Lawn Meetings were very successful. Coming as they did just at twilight, and being out in the open, there was an added solemnity that made the service very impressive. The students did their parts nobly, there being not one single disappointment from them. Below is the program for Sunday evening, August 1, which is selected at random from the many excellent meetings held:

Orchestra—Violin, Mr. Charles Kennedy; Flute, Mr. Joseph Poodry; Oboe, Mr. James Sampson; Clarinet, Mr. Joel Wheelock; Cornet, Mr. James Mumblehead; Piano, Miss C. Greenbrier. Leader of singing, Mr. John White.

Opening service—All stand and read:
The Lord is good to all. He maketh the sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and the unjust.

He causeth the grass to grow for the cattle, and herb for the service of man; that he may bring forth food out of the earth. Yea, all the earth is full of his riches!

O that men would praise the Lord more and more for his goodness, and for His wonderful works to the children of men!

Lord's Prayer—To be sung by all the girls.
"Send the Light" No. 182, Hymnal second part.

Cornet and Baritone Duet—Mr. J. Mumblehead and Mr. C. Kennedy.

Scripture Reading.
"Softly and Tenderly" Quartette—Miss C. Greenbrier, Soprano; Miss E. Bartholomew, Alto; Mr. J. Mumblehead, Tenor; Mr. J. White, Bass.

"Just as I am without one plea" No. 130, Hymnal first part.

Address—Mr. George McMillan.
"O Morning Land" Duet—Miss Carlisle Greenbrier and Mr. James Mumblehead. Accompanist—Miss Elberta Bartholomew.

"Praise God from whom all blessings flow" All stand and sing.

Closing prayer—Mr. George McMillan.
"Onward, Christian Soldiers"—Orchestra.

The Quartet—"Softly and Tenderly" above was unusually good; the duet—"O Morning Land" too, was excellent; and the cornet and horn duet was splendid.

At another time, a Trio—Violin, flute, and guitar by Charles Kennedy, Joseph Poodry, and James Mumblehead, was excellently rendered.

Mr. Martz, of the Carlisle Y. M. C. A., spoke the first Sunday evening on "Example"; Mr. Kutz, of the Sentinel Office, on July 25, on "Whole Hearted Service"; Mr. McMillan, of the Carlisle Deposit Bank, on August 1, on "Power."

Now is the time to look after your subscription to THE ARROW. Keep it paid up so as to get every number.

GENERAL VACATION NEWS.

(Reported by Business Department.)

Mabel Carter roomed in Girls' Quarters during the summer.

A new Store House, 30x80, has been built for storing of raw material, coal for the blacksmith, etc.

At a distance it looks as though some one had painted the old school red, judging from the new coat of red paint on all the tin roofs around.

Vera Wagner, an Alaskan of the class of 1908, is spending her vacation at Carlisle. She is now a student of the West Chester State Normal.

Life here this summer has been pleasant. All seem to have enjoyed themselves. Even the visitors have enjoyed our cool, pleasant surroundings.

The office force during the summer has been re-enforced by Miss Sarah A. Rice, New Bloomfield, Pa.; Miss Jean Seymour Hough, Philadelphia, Pa.; and Miss Estelle Weidler, Carlisle, Pa., all stenographers.

John Goslin gave a very creditable performance on the lawn before the employes and students one evening in July. It consisted of loose-wire walking and tumbling. His helper was Francis Coleman.

Everybody ought to enjoy visiting the Library these days! During the summer it was cleaned from cellar to attic and a new inside coat given it. The "museum" is an interesting and instructive addition, also.

The croquet yards at the Hospital, in front of Teachers' Quarters, and in front of Girls' Quarters, always have had a full quota of players. Many pleasant hours have been spent on these yards this summer.

The Doctor, the Superintendent, Mr. Denny, Mr. Miller, Mr. Kraus, Mr. Strong, and Mr. Deitz, are the tennis players. Many hotly contested games have been played by them on the courts in front of Small Boys' Quarters this summer.

The new Athletic Quarters is a magnificent building. To be able to room there is considered a rare streak of good fortune. Even the girls are clamoring for track teams and field sports these days. They're jealous, they say. Wait for the big house-warming there!

Many have been the walks to the apple orchard at the Second Farm this summer. Fruit in abundance has grown there, and it has been free for the asking. The girls haven't failed to ask. They never let an opportunity like this slip. But the boys are just as bad!

Bathing at Cave Hill has been popular with the boys this summer. You could find them there after supper and on Sunday afternoons always! And for some reason or another the girls, too, were always wanting to go to the Cave. It is presumed that the boating attracted them.

The employes were kind to the girls this summer, taking them walking as often as it was possible for them to do so, and the girls appreciated it, while the employes were glad of the opportunity to make life a little more pleasant for every one here.

Kathryne Dyakanoff, a graduate of Carlisle, paid the old school a visit en route to her home in Unalaska, Alaska. She has just completed a four years' course at West Chester State Normal. We wish her a successful career in her far-away home.

Agnes White, after being graduated at Carlisle, enrolled in the Bloomsburg State Normal, where she has been for the past four years. Recently she was with us a few days before leaving for her home. It is her intention to teach. May she ever be another ex-student to whom we can always point with pride!

Shortly after Commencement all the brick buildings on the campus were blue-washed on the outside. Since that time the interiors of Large Boys' Quarters and Small Boys' Quarters have been repainted and the floor in the Students' Dining Hall received a new coat of paint, as well as the entire exterior of the building.

Olga Reinkin, of last year's class, has gone home to Alaska. She had intended to enter one of the State Normals for a course, but her mother's dying called her home. It was always Olga's wont to obey duty's call, and we are not surprised that she gave up her plans to help others although she had planned "greater things". Carlisle's wishes are that success will crown even her smallest efforts.

Emma Newashee, Mary Harris, Selina Twoguns, Alice Jake, and Pearl Wolf, chaperoned by Miss Wister, attended the Y. W. C. A. Conference at Mt. Lake Park, Md., from June 25 to July 5. They report a splendid time in addition to having been benefited greatly by the meetings attended. "Echoes" are expected at Union Meeting shortly.

On the third Wednesday in July volunteers were asked for to sing at the Chapel that night preparatory to rendering special music at the Lawn Meeting the following Sunday evening. The response was so generous and the enthusiasm so great that the four walls of the Chapel seldom echo such splendid singing as was heard that night. A full orchestra was present, Mr. Stauffer directing both the playing and the singing. You can always count on our students when their services are needed.

Sunday-School Notes.

Our Sunday School has not lagged. Reference Sundays, at which time all the students responded, have lent new zest to the exercises. Though comparatively small in numbers, intense interest has been manifested by some, and all have given the services the respect and attention which they are due. Carlisle Greenbrier has been faithful at the piano; Ella Johnson, untiring in her efforts as secretary and treasurer, and Chas. Kennedy and his violin, unusually helpful with the music.

Miss Kathryne Dyakanoff, Class of 1905, and now a graduate of West Chester State Normal, gave a very interesting and instructive impromptu address to the Sunday School scholars while visiting here; Mr. Henderson conducted a general discussion of the lesson one Sunday; and Miss Kaup taught the whole school very effectively the following Sunday.

The first Sunday morning in August was disagreeable, and the boys attended Sunday School in the Chapel in preference to going down town to the several churches there. It was a surprise the way in which they entered into the service. Their words gave the other scholars to understand that they, too, knew something about the Bible, and their voices uplifted in song as they were added greatly to the singing; Jas. Mumblehead leading this part of the service.

ANOTHER CARLISLER MAKING GOOD

We are in receipt of samples of printing executed by Patrick Verney, class of 1909, who is at present located at Ketchikan, Alaska. The samples are postcards of Alaska views printed for his father's curio shop. Patrick is doing very nicely and there is no question about his succeeding so long as he keeps to his trade. We quote from a letter accompanying the samples: "I have thought a great deal of you for what you have given me along the line of printing, and which I will never forget as a debt I can never pay to you nor the School. I have done well ever since I got home and am enjoying the best of health and the fine weather of Alaska. I have been on the move all the time and have not spent a day in idleness, making myself useful. At first I worked around our house doing some repair work, carpenter work and paper hanging, keeping store, and then the printing, which I enjoyed the most. I have been working quite a while earning three dollars and fifty cents per day at eight hours each. I am also printing our own postals and other things for our own use.

"We are having fine times here, yet I often think of Old Carlisle. On the thirtieth of May there was a game of base-ball—just as good as those I saw in the East. Today Ketchikan won, but the Indian team of Metlakahla expects to win a hundred-dollar game on the Fourth of July. I only wish that some of my Carlisle friends could be there on that day and share it with me. I always think of them when we are out boating for we have all kinds of rowboats, sail boats, gasoline and steam boats, and I don't have to pay twenty-five cents an hour for them—like at Carlisle.

"I was quite proud of Carlisle's track team which won at Harrisburg. I jumped up and down and said "Hurrah for Carlisle!" when I got the ARROW. I congratulate those typos who took part.

"I would like to receive the Craftsman for which please find the enclosed stamps. Send April and May numbers if possible. Best wishes to the printers."

THE ARROW is stopped when your subscription expires. Don't forget it.

Eli M. Peazzoni Now a Benedict.

We have received the following communication from one of our boys, Fred Cornelius. Though a little late to publish, we give it as a matter of news:

Eli M. Peazzoni, who graduated with the class of 1907, was married on May 26th to Miss Clara Scott, of Ivyland. The ceremony took place at West Hope Presbyterian church, Philadelphia. The wedding guests were the relatives and friends of the bride. After the ceremony the happy couple remained in Philadelphia, but later they removed to Ivyland Pa., where they will reside until fall, when Mr. Peazzoni will resume his duties in the automobile business. They expect to make their permanent home in that city. The courtship began eight years ago when Eli was a student at Carlisle, and it was on his first outing that he met his present bride, and soon afterwards became engaged to her.

A Bouquet For Our Boys.

The Harrisburg Star-Independent says: The Star-Independent has received from the Carlisle Indian School a copy of The Indian Craftsman, a magazine printed mainly by students at the Carlisle School and about students, together with some specimens of job work from the same source. The work shows high development of the printing craft at this most excellent school. It furnishes incontestable reason why this school should never be abandoned. The Indians are artists in the printing, binding and illustrating of the magazine, and their work compares well with that of any other school in the country.

Did Their Work Well.

The mechanical part of the printing department of this school, during the vacation period of Mr. Miller, the superintendent of printing, was under the direction of Joseph Porter, one of the regular student-apprentices. He deserves praise for the excellency of the work produced and for the manner in which his shop was kept during that period. Those who helped him make this reputation are: James Mumblehead, Wm. Ettawageshick, Harrison Smith, Wm. Bishop, Ira Spring, and Charles McDonald.

GROWN ON THE SCHOOL FARM.

Notwithstanding the continued drought from which this section has suffered severely, our farms boast greater yields than ever before. A partial statement of crops follows:

First Farm.—135 bushels of Oats from 4 acres, 250 bushels of Rye from 23 acres, 300 bushels of Potatoes from 4 acres, 800 heads of Cabbage from  $\frac{1}{2}$  acre, 475 bunches of Onions from one-sixteenth acre, 710 bunches of Asparagus from  $\frac{1}{2}$  acre, 1,180 bunches of Rhubarb from  $\frac{1}{2}$  acre, 20 bushels of peas from  $\frac{1}{2}$  acre, 20 bushels of Beans, 2 bushels of Turnips, 12 bushels of Lettuce from the Garden, 12 bushels of Radishes from the Garden, 17 bushels of Spinach from the Garden, 8 tons of Alfalfa from 4 acres.

Second Farm.—120 tons of hay from 56 acres, 200 bushels of Apples from the Orchard, 620 bushels of Oats from 21 acres, 700 bushels of Wheat from 33 acres. The Second Farm has about 250 chickens, and has furnished from 600 to 700 doz. eggs for the students' table since the first of the year. ## How to Get an Education.

Boys say to me: "We want an education, but we can't get it: so we are going to learn a trade, or go into a store, or do something else."

Now, let me say that every boy who wants an education, if he will bend his forces to it, can get just as good a one as he wants. The way is open. Education doesn't come through academies, colleges, seminaries, though these are great helps; but it comes by study and reading and comparing; and all the schools and colleges and seminaries in the world will not make a scholar of a man without these, and with them a man will be one, if he never sees a college. And what is true of boys is of girls: and what is true of this pursuit, is of any other. The force must be in yourself, and you must develop it. It is that indomitable "I can" that sets a man astride in the world.—Onward.

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

Again do we greet our readers. Volume six it is.

Miss Emma K. Hetrick visited her home in west Hanover, Pa.

How do you like THE ARROW's new heading? Lone Star made it.

Mr. Ramsey spent his vacation on a trip to his home in Cleveland, Tennessee.

Miss Olive Webster, formerly cook at the hospital, resigned and has gone to North Dakota.

Miss Bessie S. Beach, our librarian, spent her summer leave at Branford, Connecticut.

Dr. Shoemaker and Mrs. Shoemaker were in Washington for two weeks, seeing the sights and visiting friends.

Norman Egolf, our dairyman, has been transferred to Genoa, Nebraska, where he will occupy the same position.

We had to give you a double number of THE ARROW this week in order to cover the news during our vacation period.

Mr. and Mrs. Nori, their two little children, and Louise Kenney, spent several weeks at Point Pleasant, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Henderson took a trip South during the summer. They visited among other places the home of Mr. Henderson in North Carolina.

Miss McDowell attended the Chautauqua Summer School at Chautauqua, N. Y. She also visited her father and brother at Conneaut, Ohio, during her vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Friedman spent the week of August 16 at Atlantic City. Their stay at the seashore greatly benefited Mrs. Friedman's health. Mr. Friedman is also looking remarkably well with a becoming coat of tan gained on the Boardwalk.

The boys of the carpenter shop are to be congratulated on the excellent showing made by the two school floats in the "Old Home Week" parade in town. Both of the floats were the work of the carpenter shop boys, and the decorations were also arranged by them under the direction of Mr. Herr.

In its fine account of The Carlisle Civic parade The Philadelphia North American spoke of our part as follows: In the second division there was an exhibition of what is probably Carlisle's most notable product—useful, educated, refined Indians. A company of the boys from the school marched with their usual military precision, while two floats represented the work of the girls—and mighty attractive girls some of them were, too.

A number of our girls and boys took part in the "Old Home Week" exercises held at the Courthouse in town on Tuesday night, August 24th. The girls, dressed in white, accompanied by Mrs. Henderson, and the boys in their natty uniforms with Mr. Miller, called forth great applause when they sang "My Own United States." James Mumblehead was the soloist, and sang as well as he always does. James deserves credit not only for his own singing but for the excellent way in which he took charge of the chorus and for the good results obtained.

On Saturday, August 21, a party of printers from the State Printing Department at Harrisburg visited the School. They expressed themselves as agreeably surprised at the work accomplished here in all the departments but they were naturally most interested in the print shop, where they saw our Indian boys doing the same kind of work which they themselves do. They liked the shop, the method of instruction and the results obtained. Incidentally they told of the good work of Addison Johnson, one of our former students who is employed now in the State Plant.

The Indian School outdid itself, and Superintendent Friedman and his coworkers should receive the thanks not only of the committee, but of the town for the splendid showing. First came 50 cadets of the large boys' quarters, marching like U. S. regulars. Then came a large four-horse wagon float carrying girls who laundered, sewed, and did other things just as they do at the school. Next was the boys' float. These redskin youths were making carriages, and doing carpenter work, and other things done in the school shops. All of them received the plaudits of the throngs of spectators, and deservedly so.—Carlisle Evening Sentinel.

ANOTHER SCHOOL PICNIC.

On August 11 the school held its second picnic at Boiling Springs. There were five cars well filled to leave the school grounds that morning. The day was an ideal one and everyone seemed to be in the best of spirits, ready for the fun ahead, which was more than realized in the many pleasures the Springs affords. Miss James and her corps of assistants had been busy for a couple of days ahead preparing the very appetizing and bountiful supply of good things to be enjoyed at dinner and supper, to which all did ample justice.

Quite a number of the employees and students enjoyed seeing the collection of Colonial and Revolutionary day relics now the possession of Mr. J. C. Bucher, of Boiling Springs, who so kindly extended an invitation to those desiring to have knowledge of these valuable chroniclers of the olden-times of this section of the country when the school was by turns garrisoned by British and Colonial Revolutionary troops.

We who enjoyed the privilege of this outing missed many faces that are usually found among us but who were now away on vacation.

We were pleased to see Miss Hawk, who had come over to the Springs to see us before leaving for her far-off Alaskan home. Other visitors were also welcomed. About seven o'clock all returned to the school, rather tired, but expressing themselves well pleased with the day's outing.

Opening of School.

Wednesday, September 1st, witnessed the beginning of another school year at Carlisle. The boys and girls who were away from the school under the Outing System during the summer came back in time for the opening day and swelled the little company of students who remained here during the summer to a goodly multitude. The teachers and employees were all back from their vacations with new energy and enthusiasm gained at the summer schools attended and from pleasure trips taken, and every one was anxious and eager to get things started and the school year well begun.

This has been done. A good beginning has been made; the various classes have organized; the new members of the faculty and the employees who are newcomers are "getting on" to the Carlisle way of doing things, and everything bids fair toward making this the most successful year for the accomplishment of good in the history of the school.

Our Physical Director Marries.

George A. Crispin, our popular physical director, spent his vacation in bringing to a culmination a charming romance. On August 4th, 1909, in Charleston, Illinois, Mr. George A. Crispin, of that city, and Miss Nettie Morgan, also of Charleston, were married. Miss Morgan and Mr. Crispin had been friends since childhood, and their wedding is regarded by their friends at home as a pretty conclusion of an attractive romance. At Carlisle, so well did Mr. Crispin keep the secret that he was contemplating matrimony, that the announcement of his marriage came as a surprise to his many friends here. Mr. and Mrs. Crispin are now at home on West Louther street, Carlisle, Pa.

Best wishes to the bride and congratulations to the bridegroom, are the hearty offerings of all Mr. Crispin's Carlisle friends.

Miss Guest, our genial nurse, has returned from her vacation.

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

Joseph Porter, one of the apprentices of our printing department, and a member of the Navajo tribe, left this week Monday to accept a position with the Bulletin Publishing Company, at Dillsburg, Pa. He starts in at $12.00 a week and we expect him to "make good". He has done excellent work at his trade during the past year. The printers will miss him; but that is what we are here for—to leave as soon as we can support ourselves by our trade.

Mr. Frank Cayou, who is visiting us this week, is a shining example of what our Carlisle boys can do. After graduating from Carlisle in 1896, he attended Conway Hall for two years and went to Dickinson for one and a half years. He was enrolled as a student at the University of Illinois for three years, then became assistant athletic director and coach there. Since then Mr. Cayou has been connected with some of the strongest football and other athletic teams in the west, his "Little Giants" football players at Wabash University several years ago making him especially well known as a coach. For the last year, Mr. Cayou has been coach of the teams of Washington University at St. Louis.

Corn Roast by Employees.

On Monday night of this week the employees of the school enjoyed a corn roast in the grove. While it was the wheelbarrowful of roasting ears cooked in the ashes that gave the name to the occasion, just as good and just as much in demand were the roasted apples and sweet potatoes which helped to make up the feast. Some narrow escapes were made in crossing the creek in the dark, but all arrived safely and found plenty of light in the huge bonfire which Dr. Shoemaker, Mr. Kraus, and several little boys kept blazing high. Nearly all the employees were in attendance at one time or another during the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Friedman, too, came over and helped all have a good time. Mrs. Friedman sang a little song, as did Mr. Warner, Miss Hough, and Mr. Frank Cayou for the entertainment of the party, and every one ate corn, applauded each number and had a jolly, good time.
