A STORY OF TWO INDIAN BOYS MANTEO AND MANCHESE.

INEZ BROWN, SIOUX.

CHAPTER II.

A VISIT TO A STRANGE LAND.

When Manteo and Manchese returned home that night they had many remarkable things to tell their people. They told of the white men; their dress; swords and the way they spoke.

The Indians were all interested, and the next day a large number of them went to visit the ship, to welcome the white men to their shores. Manteo and Manchese were fond of the sailors and accompanied different exploring parties, acting as guides.

One day Manteo suggested going to England when the boats returned. Manchese did not care to go at first because he thought they might never return, and he and Manteo could never find their way across the Big Sea in their little canoe. Manteo said the Great Spirit would take care of them if they only trusted him. They finally decided to go. Captain Amidas was glad to take them.

The voyage was a pleasant one and in a few days land was sighted. The boys were much surprised at what met their sight. They expected to see wigwams like their own, only larger, but instead they saw large cities and beautiful stone castles reaching nearly to the clouds.

The white people were very good to them. The wide streets, large bridges and buildings were very strange to them and their wonder grew as they saw more of the city.

In London they visited Queen Elizabeth at the Royal Palace. She greeted them kindly and spoke to them, though they could not understand her. They were much interested in the fine gentlemen and beautiful ladies in their gay dresses.

Manteo seemed much pleased and happy, but Manchese appeared displeased and discontented.

Sir Walter Raleigh was going to send his ships back to the New World with people to make a settlement.

While he was preparing the ships the boys lived in London and when they were ready they came back to their native land.

They had been absent about eight months and had learned a great many things about the other countries and the white men cross the ocean.

Sir Richard Grenville was in command of the boats and Ralph Lane was appointed Governor of the New Colony.

Indians Doing Excellent Work.

The Indian Craftsman, bearing the imprint of the Carlisle Indian Press, United States Indian School, Carlisle, Pa., is an interesting magazine with illuminated cover and attractive illustrations. The design of the cover of the June issue is by William Deitz, a Sioux known as "Lone Star" and the contents include "Legends, Stories, Customs," by Carlisle Indian students. The leading feature is a batch of excerpts from personal letters written by Commissioner Leupp to various persons who have addressed him personally on matters of interest to workers in the Indian field. The other contributions are: "A Chickasaw Tradition," by A. Patton; "The Improvement of Non-Reservation Schools," by M. B. Freer; "The Teacher Taught: An Indian Story with a Moral," by Waldo Adler; "Indian Names in Pennsylvania," by Myrtle Peters; "Tuberculosis, the Scourge of the Red Man," by Dr. F. Shoemaker, with illustrations; "Iroquois Legend of the Three Sisters," by Helen Lane. Enclosed with the issue as received by The Evening Wisconsin, are neatly printed booklets and artistic wall leaflets bearing impressive advice from various sources. These auxiliaries to the magazine itself show that the Carlisle Indian Press is capable of doing excellent work.—The Evening Wisconsin, (Milwaukee), August 17, 1909.

A HAPPY VACATION.

SARAH G. HOXIE,

I spent a delightful vacation at Ocean City, New Jersey. There was nothing so pleasing to me as the roaring of the waves upon the shore. Many afternoons and evenings were spent on the beach, or in the ocean.

This was my first experience in the country and I found out that, "Reliance" will conquer if the efforts are put forth. The change from "teacher" to "cook" agreed with me. I enjoyed my work and became fond of my patrons, the Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Baer. One could not wish for a better home and family to work for. I did general house work and received, for the first month, a salary of ten dollars. The second month this was increased to twelve. One cannot realize the benefit and advantages of the outing until they have had the experience themselves. Still, with all the pleasures, the patience and kindness shown me, I was glad to return to Carlisle and see dear friends once more.

A VACATION AT CARLISLE.

INEZ BROWN.

After school closed last spring many of our friends and classmates left for their homes and the country. It was lonely here for a while, but we soon became interested in our work and found time to enjoy ourselves in various ways after work hours.

I worked in the office and enjoyed it very much.

During the summer, we had two general school picnics at Boiling Springs and a few small ones at Mt. Holly and Belliare Park. These outings are always a source of great pleasure to us.

Vacation passed very swiftly and, although this summer was spent differently from last, I feel that it has been much more profitable.

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

Ira Spring has been elected captain of the Junior Varsity football team.

Miss Hetrick spent Saturday and Sunday with friends near Harrisburg.

Miss Reichel and Miss Pettis made a flying trip to Harrisburg last Saturday.

Samuel Hidalgo, a small boy from Porto Rico, has entered the school as a student.

Adeline Greenbrier is assisting Miss Kaup in the Normal. Her friends wish her success.

George Thomas and Hugh Wheelock returned from their outing. They have joined the football squad.

A letter received from Emma Rainey says that she wishes to be remembered to all her friends.

Rev. G. R. Ganoe delivered a very impressive and instructive sermon in the chapel Sunday afternoon.

John Feather, a member of class '10, writes that he is enjoying himself at his home in Neopit, Wisconsin.

Two games have been arranged for the Jr. Varsity with Scotland; one to be played here and one at Scotland.

We are all glad to see Mrs. Friedman walking around once more, and we hope she won't ride that horse again.

A talk to new students, given in the auditorium Monday, by Harry Wheeler, was enjoyed by all who were present.

The subject of the sermon last last Sunday was, "Learn of Me." We all enjoyed it very much; it was so interesting and helpful.

The dressmakers are very busy making the new winter uniforms. They are unusually hard to make and it will be some time before they are all completed.

George Thomas, one of the Carlisle halfbacks, has returned from his home and all his team-mates are glad to see him back again.

The Indian Reserves opened their football season last Saturday, losing the first game to the Mercersburg team by the score of 26 to 0.

The carpenters are remodeling the hall leading into the library; it was too dark, so they are putting in seven new windows on each side.

The Junior Varsity football team has been organized and they are practicing hard for their coming games. "Spring Chicken" is captain.

Mr. Deitz, our instructor in silver-smithing, has moved from the academic building to the shop building. He is quite pleased with his new quarters.

Sergeant Alexander Cadotte, a faithful doorkeeper, has been promoted to the rank of 2nd Lieutenant in Troop D. We extend to him our hearty congratulations.

The Freshmen are studying the poem of Hiawatha. Although there are some Indian names to twist one's tongue, they find it very interesting, as well as instructive.

Daphne Waggoner returned last Friday from Ohio, where she had been among her relatives. Her friends and classmates were very glad to welcome her back again.

Harry Wheeler represented the Sophomore class in chapel exercises last Monday morning. He delivered his speech in a natural and pleasing manner. It pays to do things well.

Sara Jackson writes that she is having a very pleasant vacation at her home in Cherokee, North Carolina. She will soon return to her country home in West Chester, Pennsylvania.

Shelah Guthrie left for her home in Meeker, Okla., last Tuesday evening. Her friends and classmates miss her very much and hope she will soon be well enough to return to Carlisle.

Henry Vincent has shown that he is quite a business man. Last Saturday evening he erected a candy and ice-cream stand in the Y. M. C. A. hall; and, if we may judge by the crowd of customers, he must have done well for the association.

Our new Y. W. C. A. hall is rapidly nearing completion. We are all very anxious for the time to come when we shall hold our meetings there. Our organization is growing so rapidly that we need just such a nice, large room in which to hold our meetings.

Last Friday evening some of the senior girls, accompanied by Miss Hunter and two of the teachers, went to Mt. Holly Park for their supper. The weather was ideal and the Park was practically deserted, so they had it all to themselves. The time was spent in walking around and in telling myths and legends learned at the home fireside.

Last Saturday's game was a hard fought one from start to finish, the first half ending with a score of 3 to 0 in our favor. In the second half Peter Houser scored a brilliant touch-down by catching one of Villanova's forward passes. This made the score 9 to 0 at the close of the game.

Mr. Herr, and his assistants, have recently placed in the lobby of the Indian Press two large wall cases with glass doors. These cases will be used for the display of Carlisle Indian Handicraft made by students of the Native Art Department under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Dietz. The cases are nicely made and came from the carpenter shop.

Florence Hunter, class '09, now a Junior in the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, who has been spending part of her vacation with old friends, returned to the city last Saturday morning. Miss Hunter is very much interested in her college work and she has done remarkably well in her studies. She is held in high esteem by the faculty and is a general favorite with her fellow students.

The Catholic pupils seem to be very much interested in their Sunday School which takes place on Sunday afternoon. Beside Rev. A. W. Brandt and the Sisters the following are in charge of classes: Margaret Blackwood, Inez Brown, Edith Ranco Alberta Bartholomeau, Ernestine Venne, Louise Kenney, Ellen Grinnell, Mamie Nilcan, Joseph Forte, Peter Jordan, John Farr, John Monhart, David Solomon, Leon Jure, Jacob Paul, Louis Runnels, Edward Blackwood and Joseph Animikwan.

ABOUT CARLISLE ATHLETICS.

In a very lively game last Saturday the Indians defeated Villanova by the score of 9 to 0, scoring a touchdown and goal and a field goal, the same as last year. Villanova presented an unusually strong team and Carlisle was fortunate in defeating the collegians. It was only by the hardest kind of work that the victory was accomplished.

Houser, Wauseka and Captain Libby did by far the best work of the Carlisle team, Houser especially doing more than his share of the ground gaining.

Carlisle seemed unable to gain much ground outside of tackles, as Villanova's ends were especially effective, while Carlisle's ends and backs have not yet acquired the ability to successfully interfere for the runner. The half-backs also were slow and unable to pick openings very well, and were often tackled from behind.

The team won by hard playing and a good defense, and the spirit shown on the field was due in a large measure to the excellent cheering and spirit of the students in the stand. Carlisle's line-up was as follows: Newashe, left end; Wauseka, left tackle; Fastbear, left guard; Germaine, center; Bird, rightguard; Garlow, right tackle; Kennerly, right end; Capt. Libby, quarter; LaClair, left half; J. Wheelock, right half; Houser, full back.

Score: Touchdown, Houser; goal, from touchdown, Libby; goal from field, Houser.

Scrub Team Schedule.

Oct. 9th, Middletown A. C. here; Oct. 16, Gettysburg A. C. here; Oct. 23, Wormleysburg Young Men's League, here; Oct. 30, Norristown H. S. at Norristown; Nov. 6, Bloomsburg Normal at Bloomsburg; Nov. 13, Walbrook A. C. at Baltimore; Nov. 25, Muhlenburg College at Allentown; Nov. 27, Phoenixville A. C. at Phoenixville.

The annual cross country race will be held early in November and a dual meet will likely be arranged with Penn and Princeton. The candidates for cross country honors should get busy at once and train for these events.

Bucknell plays the Indians on our field tomorrow. This game will prove a great tryout for our boys. The last time these two teams played the score was 16-0 in the Indians' favor.

Louis Tewanima competes Saturday at Pittsburg in the three mile A. A. U. championship for the middle Atlantic district.

Two games have been arranged for the Jr. Varsity with Scotland; one to be played here and one at Scotland.

The scrub team was defeated at Mercersburg last Saturday 26-0.

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

Mrs. Lovewell is staying at the hospital during the absence of Miss Guest.

Miss Guest has gone to Philadelphia on business connected with the school.

The apprentices of the different shops are very busy organizing their football teams.

Mrs. Shoemaker and Miss Doris have gone to Washington, D. C., to visit with friends for a few days.

The Sophomores are proud of Harry Wheeler for giving such a splendid talk, in chapel, last Monday morning.

Isaac Quinn, who spent a very pleasant vacation in Peever, So. Dak., returned to the school Sunday.

The girls in the art department have made one rug, and nearly finished three others, since school began.

Mr. Friedman and Mr. Kensler did the monthly inspection last Saturday. They found the rooms in very good order.

A Catholic meeting was held in the music room last Sunday evening for the purpose of organizing a choir and an orchestra.

Jefferson Smith, who recently returned from home, has entered the Junior Class. And also the printing department.

The recitation given by Laura Tubbs in the auditorium last Monday afternoon, was enjoyed by every listener. The Sophomores are proud of her.

Mr. Warner and Lewis Tewani expect to go to Pittsburg next week. Tewani is to compete in a 3-mile race with the A. A. U. of that city. We hope he will win.

Miss Ada Pettis, who has been Miss Reichel's guest during the past week, returned to her home in Saegerstown, Pennsylvania, last Sunday evening.

Joseph Porter paid his friends a visit last Saturday. "To be a successful man," says Joseph, "one must be a hero for courage, and a coward for honor."

Miss Amelia McMichael, who has been a teacher here for three years, has resigned and gone to Alaska, to engage in missionary work among the Aleutian Indians.

John Bastian and Francis Coleman are the janitors in charge of the academic building. Now is their chance to show the observing young ladies what good housekeepers they are.

The Sophomores are glad to have with them again, Adeline Boutang, the smallest member—physically—in the class. Adeline spent her vacation at her home in Cass Lake, Minn.

William Yankee Joe, one of the promising half-backs, sprained his ankle during the game with Lebanon Valley. We wish him a speedy recovery, so he can take his place among the football heroes again.

We are glad to have Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Wingard with us. Mrs. Wingard is a native Pennsylvanian, an honor sufficient unto itself to insure her a cordial welcome. This is her first visit here, and she is charmed with the beauties of the old place.

Eli Pazzanonia, a Carlisle graduate, class 1907, is now working at Waybrook, Pennsylvania. He and his two assistants have four cars to keep in repair. His wages average more than $25.00 per week. This proves what a Carlisle student can do for himself if he only works hard enough.

The Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. held a union meeting in the Y. M. C. A. hall last Sunday evening. Sara Hoxie led the Meeting. The speakers were the delegates to the Y. W. C. A. convention at Mountain Lake Park, Maryland. They were: Selina Two-guns, Pearl Wolfe, Emma Newashe and Mary Harris. Each gave a very interesting talk about her trip there and the good received.

RIGHT AWAY.

"Begin right, and right away," is a motto which would have saved many a youth from disaster. Nothing is more delusive than delay. I have known many people who came to grief through procrastination, indolence, and dillydallying. There is nothing else quite so destructive to the energy which does things, or which so paralyses the executive faculties, as a habit of dawdling. The only possible corrective of it is to determine stoutly to begin, on the instant, the task before you. Every moment's delay makes it harder and harder to start. It is the beginning which is difficult. If dawdlers could only be set in motion many of them would run awhile; but they lack the power of initiative.

Shun the habit of "putting off," as you would a temptation to crime. The moment you feel a temptation to dawdle come upon you, jump up, and then go with all your might at the most difficult thing you have to do. Never begin with the easiest thing; take the hardest, and hang on persistently until you have overcome the habit. Fear procrastination as a dangerous enemy. It is more than a thief of time; it steals character, ruins opportunity, robs you of freedom, and makes a slave of you.

How can one expect to succeed when his tomorrows are always mortgaged for the debt that should have been paid today? The ready boy, the one who is always on the alert for the next thing, who is always prepared to do the thing required of him, and to do it at once, is the one who wins. A habit of promptness is a most valuable one to form. It unifies and strengthens the faculties and makes one methodical.

Everybody admires a boy who, like a race horse, is always ready to start. A ready boy makes a prompt, efficient man. Somehow, readiness and promptness seem to brace up all the faculties and raise their value to the highest power. They follow in line when promptness leads the way.—Success Magazine.

A NEW cement bridge is being constructed over the stream near the main entrance. Teams are now obliged to use the back entrance to the campus.

Happiness and Selfishness.

True happiness is only to be found when you have the assurance of having been the medium of contributing to the happiness of other people. Through an egoistic pursuit after self-comfort, disregarding the comfort or well-being of your neighbor, you may attain a certain degree of contentment in life—but never happiness. Have you ever tried to draw comparison between your relative contentment at being aided yourself and at having aided some one in need of your assistance—between favors received and favors rendered? If you want to be happy, do not wait for deeds of kindness bestowed on yourself; do not say, "I would not do anything for this and that person because I know they would not do anything for me." Deeds of kindness are spontaneous, and they are done without expectation of reward other than the feeling of satisfaction, pleasure, and happiness in your own soul. The life of the selfish man dries up and becomes a desert of barrenness; but the man who patiently sows the seeds of kindness—even though some may fall on ungrateful soil—will reap the fruits of blessedness and happiness.—The Reformatory Pillar.

The Apprenticeship Problem.

The proprietors of industrial establishments at the present time are not blind to the necessity of training labor in their works. There is hardly a manufacturing firm to-day, especially in the jewelry and shipbuilding trades, which does not have some form of apprenticeship whereby boys are indentured for a term of years to the trade. The point of consideration is to what extent do these systems meet the arguments advanced for the introduction of industrial education as a part of the public school system. All employers realize the value of such education, and those who can afford it prefer it to their own system. A careful investigation, however, shows a wide variance in their procedures. Some have no system, while the majority have a system of indenture for a term of years and a few have an elaborate scheme of training, comparing favorably with the best public training that can be afforded.—The Metal Worker.

MY SUMMER'S OUTING.

EVELYN PIERCE, Seneca.

I spent the summer at Glenolden, Pa., with Mrs. L. P. Baekkey. I did all the cooking and assisted with the other work. Mrs. Baekkey took great pains to teach me how to do things in the right way. She was very kind and took me to several places of interest, two of them, Valley Forge and Fairmont Park, were of special interest to me.

At Valley Forge we went through all the rooms on the first floor of Washington's headquarters. We saw many relics of Colonial times—old furniture and oil paintings grown dim with the years.

I was delighted with Fairmont Park. The woods looked so wild and natural. The animals in their dens, the flowers, the crowds and the music, altogether made a picture in my mind that I shall not soon forget.

ONE of the noblest sights this world offers is a young man bent upon making the most of himself. Alas! that so many seem not to care what they become—men in stature, but not yet born into the world of purpose and attainment; babes in their comprehension of life! A cigar, a horse, a flirtation, a suit of clothes, a carouse, a low play or dance, and just enough work to attain such things, or got without work. What an introduction to manhood and duties! One cannot thus rate in life, and make himself master of it, or get any real good out of it. A part of his folly may ooze out as the burdens of life press on him. A necessity may drive him to sober labor, but he will halt and stumble to the end. It is a sad thing to begin life with low conceptions of it. There is no misfortune comparable to youth without a sense of nobility. Better be born blind than not to see the glory of life. It is not, indeed, possible for a young man to measure life, but it is possible to cherish that lofty and sacred enthusiasm which the dawn of life awakens.—Anon.

A CARD received from Patrick Verney states that he and Joe Simpson are enjoying the sights in Seattle. They wish to be remembered to their many Carlisle friends.
