ABOUT CARLISLE ATHLETICS.

Sensational and record-breaking performances characterized the dual meet between State College and Carlisle last Saturday which resulted in a tie score of 56-56.

Talbot, the intercollegiate hammer-throw champion, created a new world's college record by throwing the 16-lb. hammer 173 ft., 6 inches. This record is likely to stand for a long time, and it is an honor to the school to have such a record made upon our field.

Fred Pappan won the mile race in a very plucky manner, and broke the school record, which has been held by Eli Beardsley for five years, by three seconds. The new record is 4 min., 33 seconds.

One of the surprises of the meet was the defeat of Tewanima for second place by Arquette in the two mile event after the latter had run a hard mile. Watts, of State, won this race in the fast time of 9 min., 52 seconds. Arquette was right at his heels, and of course, ran the distance several seconds under our school record.

Captain Moore won the 440 dash and half mile run in fast time, coming near the school record in both events.

Fred Schenandore's performance in the high and low hurdles was highly creditable, equaling the school record in the former, and coming close to Thorpe's record in the latter.

Thomas won the broad jump and scored the largest number of points, but unexpectedly lost out in the high jump, in which event he usually makes his best performance.

Dupuis came to the rescue in the last event, with the score against Carlisle, and saved the team from defeat by winning the 220 yards dash.

Every man did his best, and worked hard, and the school was fortunate in preventing defeat by such strong opponents.

The lessons of the meet were the importance of taking advantage of little things, striving hard for every point, sacrificing personal glory for the benefit of the team, and the importance of conserving strength and muscular power wherever possible to do so without loss of points, when a man is in two or more events.

Following we give the summary of events:

100-Yard Dash—First, Berry, State; second, Chubb, State. Time 10 3-5.

120 Yard Hurdle—First, Schenandore, Carlisle; second, Pierre, State. Time 15 4-5.

One mile—First, Pappan, Carlisle; second, Laub, State. Time 4 min. 33 seconds.

440-Yard Dash—First, Moore, Carlisle; second, Chubb, State. Time 50 3-5 seconds.

Two Mile run—First, Watts, State; second, Arquette, Carlisle. Time 9 min. 52 seconds.

Half-mile run—First, Moore, Carlisle; second, Blackstar, Carlisle. Time 2 min. 1 second.

220-Yard Hurdle—First, Schenandore, Carlisle; second, Mathews, State. Time 26 3-5.

220-Yard dash—First, Dupuis, Carlisle; second, Berry, State. Time 23 seconds.

Shot Put—First, Talbot, State; second, Thomas, Carlisle. Distance, 45 feet 9 inches.

Pole Vault—Tie between Sundown, Carlisle, and Mahil, State. Height, 10 feet 8 inches.

High Jump—First, Armsby, State; second, tie between Wheelock and Thomas of Carlisle, and Mahil of State. Height, 5 feet 8 inches.

Hammer Throw—First, Talbot, State; second, Burd, Carlisle. Distance, 173 feet 6 inches.

Broad Jump—First, Thomas, Carlisle; second, Mathews, State. Distance, 22 feet 2 in.

Discus Throw—First, Talbot, State; second, Thomas, Carlisle. Distance, 130 feet 4 inches.

The lacrosse team won a splendid victory over the Mt. Washington Club of Baltimore last Saturday by the score of 3 to 1. The Baltimore boys scored one point in the first-half while the Indians scored all their goals in the last period of play. Captain Garlow's men won many compliments from lacrosse experts at Baltimore for making such fine showing in their first season's play, which reflects much credit upon Coach O'Neal.

The last game of lacrosse will be played with the Navy team at Annapolis next Saturday.

Swarthmore will be the opponents of our track team in a dual meet on our field the coming Saturday. Swarthmore and Lafayette recently had a close contest, and the meet tomorrow will be no cinch for the Indians. Captain Moore, of Carlisle, and Captain Bradford, of Swarthmore, will meet in what should be the most interesting event on the program.

In the half mile run both these men have done under 1 min. 58 sec., and are considered two of the best half milers in the state. It should be a hot race.

Mr. Wingard, who assisted Mr. Warner during the football season last fall, acted as referee at the State College-Indian dual meet last Saturday in a highly satisfactory manner. Not a dispute occurred during the meet, which is something unusual when State and the Indians get together.

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

The boys who went to Baltimore to play lacrosse, reported having a very nice time.

The Susans will have their last meeting of the year on Friday evening. They hope to have a good one.

Last Friday at about 3:45 in the morning the boys of Athletic Quarters had the pleasure of seeing Halley's Comet.

THE ARROW is in receipt of an invitation to the seventh commencement exercises of Sherman Institute, the Indian School at Riverside, Cali. They are to be held May fifteen to nineteen.

Mr. George A. Lydick, of Cass Lake, Minnesota, stopped at Carlisle on his way to Washington, to visit with his children, Ruth and James Lydick, last Sunday. He seemed to be very much pleased with the appearance of our beautiful campus.

Prominent Guests.

James Lyons left for the country last week. The Juniors miss him in their class room but they extend to him a hearty wish for a successful summer.

The Y. W. C. A. had a very interesting meeting last Sunday. Miss Wistar, who has been absent for some time, gave an inspiring talk on "Sincerity."

The florist and his detail of boys are now busy setting our flowers in the beds about the campus. These will add very greatly to the beauty of our grounds.

The speaker at the Y. M. C. A. meeting last Sunday evening was Mr. Brinton of Dickinson College. He gave a fine talk, which was full of good advice.

Fannie Charley gave her friends quite a suprise last Saturday evening by coming down from Mt. Airy to visit them before leaving for her home in Oklahoma.

Jefferson Smith, a senior, and a very popular student, is practicing faithfully on his celo in order that he may be ready to give us a solo with band accompaniment at the next outdoor concert.

While the last week's ARROW gave a short account of the remarkable victory of our relay team on April 30, at Philadelphia, the time made by them was not mentioned. For the benefit of outsiders, our boys made a remarkable record of 3 minutes 28 2-5 seconds.

Miss Thompson and Miss Rose, of Metzgar College, were here on a visit last Friday afternoon. They were pleased with the work done by the students in the different shops.

Louis Dupuis won the final event (the 220 yd. dash) at last Saturday's meet with State College which saved us from defeat. That's going some for a fellow weighing over 190 lbs.

The Juniors are proud of their classmate, George Thomas, who made the greatest number of points for the Indians at the dual meet with State College last Saturday afternoon.

The Mercer Literary Society is to give a special program on Friday evening. It will be their last meeting for the season and they are working faithfully to make it an interesting one.

A party of boys and girls, properly chaperoned, took a trip to "Belair Park" last Friday for a picnic in the wilds. It was altogether enjoyable and they hope to be allowed to go again soon.

Louis Runnels, a member of the senior class, is now employed by Mr. Wetzel as general utility man. Louis is a good, industrious young man who is certain to succeed in what ever he undertakes.

Lida Wheelock's recitation "Uses of Flowers" was well rendered in chapel on Monday afternoon. The recitation was appropriate to this season of the year when Nature is clothed in her finest.

Thursday afternoon the baker shop detail attended a picnic at Boiling Springs. The time was very pleasantly occupied in playing games of different kinds and in consuming very palatable food.

A Baltimore Oriel, the first seen on our campus this year, paid us a visit last week. It is not a frequent visitor and therefore all the more enjoyed. Those who saw it thought it a very beautiful bird.

Agnes V. Waite, by close application to her practice, has become quite proficient on the mandolin. Last Sunday morning she entertained her roommates and some of her friends by playing to them some of the latest and most popular pieces. We wish to thank her for the pleasure she gave us.

Rev. Diffenderfer, last Sunday afternoon, preached a most excellent sermon on the subject: "The wonderful Power of God." He talked so interestingly and made it so plain, that we all feel greatly benefited.

The girls in the dressmaking department expect to be through with the girls' summer uniforms by the end of this week. At present they are busy working on the dresses for the girls who are going out with the third party.

James Mumblehead paid us a visit last week. He is working in a printing office at Halifax, Pa. He stated that he has a good position and is doing nicely. He plays in the town orchestra for which he receives a considerable amount of spending money. He is the owner of a new cornet.

Mrs. Shoemaker and daughter Dorris, left for Washington Sunday. They will visit Dr. Shoemaker's relatives there then go to Wisconsin to live with Mrs. Shoemaker's parents. They leave friends at Carlisle who wish them well wherever they may be. Dr. Shoemaker does not leave us until June first.

The Y. W. C. A. were fortunate in having with them last Sunday Miss Elsie V. Jones the territorial secretary of Pennsylvania, Delaware, and Maryland, who gave the girls a very helpful and encouraging talk. A vocal duet was given by Ella Johnson and Mazzie Skye, after which Miss Wistar gave a short address. Mr. Friedman dismissed the meeting with a prayer.

The Juniors held their monthly meeting in the music room last Monday evening and rendered the following program: Declamation, R. Peters; impromptu, David white; piano solo, Clara Trepania; essay, Gus. Welch; anecdotes, Rachel Chase; story, Margaret La Vatta. There being no business to transact our visitors were called upon for speeches to which they responded very pleasantly. They spoke of the fine class spirit which was shown throughout the evening. Our teacher gave us a short talk, after which the critic offered helpful suggestions, and the meeting adjourned.

SPARE MOMENTS.

JAMES MUMBLE HEAD, Cherokee.

All men and women should have something to occupy their leisure moments, something very dear to their hearts, to which they will turn with delight as soon as the necessary toil of the day is over, something of such a nature that the doing of it will be not only a source of joy to them but a source of profit as well. The manner in which a person, who is obliged to work hard for his actual living, occupies his spare moments determines, largely, his measure of success in life. Many of our greatest men have acquired a good education and owe their final success to work done outside of the regular hours for work, in the odds and ends of time which they might easily have wasted.

If, as has been said, one hour a day will enable any man of ordinary ability to become efficient and useful in any chosen line of work, if he puts his whole heart into the study of it, it is worth while to consider the mighty possibilities of two or three hours a day.

History is full of examples of men, who, having no leisure for a school education, have become self-educated and have taken their places among leaders of men. In this connection, the name of Abraham Lincoln comes first to mind, a name better known perhaps than that of any other American. Lincoln's entire schooling, as we use the word, did not last a year, and, during this short time he could have acquired but little knowledge, yet, so well did he improve these few months, this "schooling" little as it was, inspired him to think and to study all the rest of his life. By economizing his leisure moments and by using them for self-improvement, he became president of the greatest republic the world has ever seen, and carried that republic through its season of greatest peril.

To prove the point we are trying to make as to the value of spare moments, we can use no better argument than by citing those men who have used their spare time to their own advantage and ultimately to the advantage of their fellow men.

Victor Johnson, a full-blooded Indian, wrote his poem "The Brook" in time which his collegemates devoted to pleasure and recreation. To their surprise, he won the prize offered for the best poem, and thus proved to himself and to all those who knew the circumstances the value of diligently using the golden moments in which there are no school lessons to be studied, nor tasks to be performed.

Robert Hill, a Choctaw Indian, studied law during his spare hours. This mental training enabled him to conduct his small affairs with intelligent prudence and economy, and to-day he is a man of great fortune, in a position to do much for his people and for the world at large.

Sequoyah, the Cherokee Indian, who achieved distinction in literature as the inventor of the Cherokee alphabet, laid the foundation of his fame by the work of his leisure hours. By employing his spare moments well, he was able to give his fellow tribesmen the most valuable gift inventive genius could bestow upon them. To-day, a full-blooded Cherokee Indian, even though he can neither read nor write English, can be justly proud of the fact that he has the opportunity of keeping well informed on the news of the day through the medium of his own language.

The world admires a self-made man, provided the work has been well done. It is necessary, then, for us who are young, to be ever on the alert, striving to learn to labor conscientiously that we may become studious and industrious. We cannot afford to wilfully waste a moment; there are good books to be read, there are interesting lessons to be learned, there are bits of manual labor to be done. Knowledge gained by our own efforts will always stay by us; the diligent employment of our spare time will keep us out of mischief while we are young and prove a safeguard against falsehood and dishonor, when we are older. No better advice was ever given to a boy or a girl than these words:

"Do noble things, not dream them all day long;
And so make life, death, and the vast forever,
one grand, sweet song."

THE Cherokee girls were glad to see Mary Welch, who arrived last week to enroll as a pupil. We hope she will like it here.

THE GRASSHOPPER WAR.

ROBERT TAHAMONT, Abenakis.

This war took place between several tribes of Susquehannack Indians who lived on the numerous islands in what is now called Susquehanna River.

It was called the grasshopper war from the simple fact that it was the result of a quarrel between two Indian lads about who should own a grasshopper.

One day two little Indian lads caught a grasshopper, and as they both spied it at the same time, each claimed it as his own, and thus a quarrel arose which soon resulted in blows.

The mothers of the two lads came and took sides in the quarrel and each defened her son, so the women too, began to quarrel and fight.

Later on their husbands came home and each were told of the wrong inflicted by the other, and they took up arms and started out to avenge the wrong.

As a result of this uprising the neighboring tribes took up arms and a war broke out among them and the various other tribes along the Susquehanna. This is how the war received the name of the grasshopper war.

New Book on Baseball.

When Merkle failed to touch second, in the memorable game between Chicago and New York in 1908, it was Johnny Evers who called the umpire's attention to the blunder that cost the Giants a championship.

This was characteristic of the Chicago second baseman. He is conceded to be one of the greatest tacticians of the game. Nobody knows more about inside baseball.

In collaboration with Hugh Fullerton, Mr. Evers has just put this knowledge into a remarkable book, called, appropriately enough, "Touching Second." The serial rights have been purchased by the Philadelphia North American, and "Touching Second" will appear in The Sunday North American prior to its publication in book form.

The history of the game, baseball law, personality of the players, how the various positions should be played, stories of notable games, expositions of the rules and a host of other themes are treated.
