VOLUME VI.

CARLISLE, PA., JUNE 10, 1910.

NUMBER 40

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

The joyful anticipation of all—the close of school this month.

We hear through a postal that Fred Cornelius has reached Mt. Pleasant, Michigan, safe and sound.

We are glad to see St. Elmo Jim with us once more; has just returned from the country looking well.

“The Evening Prayer” was very sweetly sung by Texie Tubbs at the union meeting last Sunday night.

Sadie Dunlap, a member of the senior class, wishes to be remembered to her classmates and friends.

Susie Porter, going to the country recently, writes that she is getting along nicely and finds her work a pleasure.

John Mead and Alex Vilnave spent Memorial Day with friends in the country where they were very nicely entertained.

Many of the girls who are going to the country for the summer are anxiously looking forward to the day of departure.

Bruce Goesback, who left here a year ago, is now at his home in Fort Washakie, Wyoming. He intends to return to Carlisle in the fall.

Mrs. Nunn gave to Miss Kaulp’s Sunday school class some very good advice on the manner of forming their social life while here at school.

Rose Beck, a member of the Junior class who went home sometime ago, writes that she is having a lovely time visiting friends in North Carolina.

In a letter to a friend, Jerome Kennerly, 1911, states that he is satisfied with his position and will try to do his best. All the Seniors wish him success.

Vernon Davis, our Conway student, is greatly interested in aerial navigation and occasionally he gets up into the air in order to obtain information regarding air currents.

George Thompson writes that they are having beautiful weather at his home in Massachusetts. He is having a fine time, but he sometimes wishes he was back at Carlisle.

Myrtle Thomas, who went out in the country last spring, is living at Mt. Holly, New Jersey. She reports having a nice place, and expects to come in in the fall to resume her studies here.

Sara Hoxie, class '10, is getting along nicely in New Jersey, but says she gets lonesome for Carlisle. Sara is coming in in the early part of this month to prepare to return to her home in California.

Estelle Tahamont has a very nice home in Mt. Airy and writes that she is pleased with her work there and that she has made many new acquaintances. She sends her fondest remembrances to all.

After working two months at the Teachers’ Club, Bessie Johnson is back in the sewing department. She is greatly missed by the girls for she has a pleasant disposition and makes every one around her happy.

On Saturday the solicitors for the Red Man took a trip to Harrisburg and spent a delightful morning in visiting the various departments of the state capitol. The building contains four hundred and seventeen rooms, most of which are decorated with twenty-two karat gold.

Leonard Hudnall, of Small Boys’ Quarters, is on leave of absence and will spend his vacation at his home in Colorado. He made a good record while here and is held in esteem by his friends and acquaintances. He took only two final examinations during the three terms at Conway and with another year at the same school he expects to be able to enter college. We all wish him a delightful journey home and a safe return.

TOLOMAN MOUNTAIN.

L. H. RUNNELS, San Poil.

Toloman is an Indian name meaning paint. This paint was secured by Indians from one of the high peaks in the range of mountains that extends through the state of Washington. There were various colors of paint secured from this point, such as red, blue, yellow, brown and white.

The mountain is very conspicuous even from a distance owing to a reddish appearance which distinguishes it from the adjacent mountains. It serves as a sentinel to guide the Indians when on the chase. It also had the appearance, as the Indians say, to beckon one back for fear they should be lost; and to stay where food and fish were plentiful.

This mountain is a terminal, as it were, for the eagle’s course. He sits upon its peak and watches his prey below, from which he has clear sailing to make his attack. It is a place upon which the natives of that valley come to make their wishes for future success as hunters and alert in all their undertakings. At present it is known by the white settlers in the surrounding vicinity as Toloman Mountain. It derived its name from Nature’s children, the Indians.

THE RACCOON AND THE OPOSSUM.

ESTELLA W. ELLIS, Sac and Fox.

Once upon a time the raccoon and the opossum were enemies. They hated each other and tried every way they could to get rid of one another.

One morning they met by the river and the opossum was pushed into the river, but soon he got out.

The raccoon tried again and succeeded, for the opossum floated down the river until he was washed upon an island.

The opossum was so glad he was safe that he began to smile, and it was an everlasting smile. For now if you see an opossum you will see he has a smiling face.

Howard Jones came in from the country last week and is now attending to school duties.

From now on the athletic field will be strictly reserved until the time when it will again be in use.

Callie Swayney, who has just entered this school, says she feels quite at home among the girls.

The plumbers are now working at the first farm putting the drain pipes into the new dairy building.

Owing to the large number of boys going out under the "Outing" the small boys have now but one troop.

Mrs. Culbertson, the club matron, is at her home in town for a few days' rest. The girls miss her very much.

Antone Danforth and Roy Tarbell came in from the country last Saturday evening to enjoy the sociable with us.

Henry Blatchford represented the sophomore class at the opening exercises in the auditorium last Monday morning.

Last Sunday morning the boys who attended Sunday school in town got somewhat damp before they reached their quarters.

Tony Tillohash, who has been in Philadelphia teaching his language to a class of Penn. students, has returned to the school.

Mr. Thomas St. Germain left last Sunday for Washington, D. C., where he will take a position as a clerk in the Land Office.

Through a letter we learn that Emma Newashe is having a fine vacation. She is now visiting Fannie Charley in Miami, Oklahoma.

Mr. Henry Cloud was much impressed by the beauty of the surroundings of Carlisle and the order that seemed to reign everywhere.

Father Murphy, the pastor of St. Patrick's church in town, came out to give benediction to the Catholic pupils at school Sunday afternoon.

Mollie Mantel, a member of the freshman class, left last Saturday morning for Port Deposit, Md., where she will remain during the summer.

The outing students who have served their term in school, are coming in every day to prepare for the return to their homes this summer.

Henry Lawe, who went home two years ago, writes to his former instructor, Mr. Lau, stating that he is getting along all right working at his trade near his home.

Miss Cowdry chaperoned a number of girls to Mt. Holly for a picnic last Saturday afternoon. A very good time was reported and the girls wish to thank her for taking them.

The sewing room girls were very much pleased to see the last of the new summer uniforms finished. They will now start on work dresses for the girls who leave in the third party.

Fred E. Schenandore left last Tuesday evening for his home in New York, where he will spend the summer. He expects to return in the fall. We all wish him a pleasant vacation.

Melinda Desautel, who has been nursing successfully in Lansdown, Pa., expects to leave there soon with her patient, Mrs. Anthony, for New York, where they will spend two months.

Bessie Johnson, a junior, is now counting the days before the time when she will depart for her home in California. Bessie has made many friends who will be sorry to see her leave.

Phonographs seem to be very numerous at Carlisle judging from the sounds which come to us from different directions, if we but listen. Last Sunday evening there were no religious services, but the good listener could easily find enjoyment in the music that came from these wonderful little instruments.

Last Saturday evening the girls were seen at the social in their new summer uniforms and they all looked so sweet that we hope they will wear them again next Saturday evening.

Minnie White, a member of the Senior class who has been taking nurse's training at our hospital, has come back to Quarters. She expects to go out into the country for the summer and return in the fall.

Engracio Baculy, Filipino, has enrolled for the purpose of learning the carpenter's trade. He says that he is pleased with Carlisle and that he will do his best in all that he undertakes to do. We extend to him a hearty welcome and hope that he will make a success of his time while here.

Last Thursday evening the Nez Perce girls, the presidents of the Bible societies, and the members of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, were bidden to the home of Mrs. Cowdry on Hanover street where they were delightfully entertained with music and games. After remaining out on the lawn until nightfall they adjourned within, where delicious refreshments were served, after which more music and games and then home to the Quarters.

On Thursday, June the second, twelve young ladies and as many young gentlemen attended a party given at the superintendent's residence in honor of Stella V. Bear. The first part of the evening was spent in singing, playing on the piano and in playing games. At about eleven o'clock all were called to the dining-room to partake of the delicious dainties which had been prepared for them. It was a very happy evening, one long to be remembered.

A letter has been received from one of the Carlisle ex-students stating that there are several Carlisle boys at Winslow, Arizona, working at the ice plant. Ferris Paisano and John Ganque are expert ice pullers while Lewis J. Roy is manufacturing latches for their quarters. Elizabeth Paisano and Susie Poncho, both Carlisle ex-students, are also working there. They say they are having a most delightful time, and wish to be remembered to all their Carlisle friends.

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

John McInnis has returned to Quarters and his friends are glad to have him back again.

William Yankee Joe, an ex-junior, reports from the Hayward Indian School that he is still on night duty there.

Elizabeth Silas, who has been promoted from the shirt-making to the dressmaking class, is progressing nicely.

Last week Miss James, Miss Zeamer, and their helpers put up for the winter four hundred and four quarts of rhubarb.

David George, who is working at his trade of painting at Lemoyne, Pa., came in for a visit over Saturday and Sunday.

Anna Rolette and Estella Bradley, members of the Sophomore class, left for the seashore Friday where they will spend the summer.

A number of girls spent a very pleasant hour with Miss Johnston on Sunday evening, where they had song service in place of the regular Y. W. C. A. meeting.

Dr. Allen, who comes out to the hospital every morning, is so cheerful and sunny that his manner acts as a tonic. He always leaves us better than he found us.

Harry Woodbury left us last Monday to visit relatives in Saratoga, N. Y. We are all sorry to see him leave, but extend to him our heartiest wishes for a pleasant summer.

Joseph Porter, who is a printer at Shawnee, Okla., writes that they are having hot weather down there. He also adds that he is fast becoming acquainted with the Sac and Fox Indians of that neighborhood.

Miss White's father and sister, who have been visiting in Washington, D. C., are here for a short visit before returning to their home in Butler, Pa. Miss White's niece, from Washington, is also her guest.

Word has been received of the recent death of Alex Tall Chief, Osage, who attended this school from 1881 to 1885. His death occurred at Fairfax, Oklahoma, where he made his home, and was considered a good Indian.

A letter from Dollie Stone, who is living at Olney, Pa., states that she is getting along well. Lillian Porterfield is the only other Indian girl in Olney, and they find it very pleasant to see each other as often as their duties permit.

William J. Beaudoin is now employed by the Wisconsin Iron Co., of Pointe Mills, Mich., receiving $3.25 per day—nine hours' work. He writes: "I am very glad I went to dear old Carlisle, as it has done me lots of good."

While the morning division was in the auditorium for chapel exercises Monday morning they discovered a robin building a nest in the chandelier. Robins are getting quite progressive, as another one has a nest in the library.

An agreeable surprise party of the Indian girls from the hospital occurred on Decoration Day at St. Katharine's Hall. They were accompanied by the head nurse of the hospital, Miss Guest, and an enjoyable afternoon was spent.

Commencement week at Dickinson College brings many interesting visitors to our school rooms and shops. Fritz Hendricks piloted a party through the Academic Building last Monday morning, and Albert Exendine came through with a party a few days before.

Many interesting letters were received by the Sisters from Indian pupils in the country, in which they describe how much they enjoy their country homes and how nicely they are situated. Many also sent nice post-cards. Some of those who were heard from were the following: John Russell, Clyde Red Eagle, Mamie Gilstrap, Annie Gilstrap, Hoske Nal Wooty, Minnie Black Horn, Emma Grumboise and Anna Miles.

Mr. H. M. Carter, who has the clerical work at Yuma Indian School, accompanied two new pupils to Phoenix last Saturday. Mr. Carter was at Carlisle previous to his transfer to the Southwest, and is wonderfully surprised at the advanced stage that this part of the country has attained. He was greatly interested in the way we live at the Phoenix school, visiting the different departments to such an extent as his time would permit. —Native American.

Leo Walker, an ex-student, and a member of class 1909, writes that he and his family are living happily at Shawnee, Okla. He is now working for H. W. Warrington of New York, whose business it is to find out all about the Indians near Shawnee and in Mexico. Leo has lately made two visits to Mexico in connection with his work.

Dr. F. Shoemaker left us last Monday, a week. He intends staying in Washington a few days, getting instructions, then will proceed to Crow Agency, Montana, where he will take up his special work of improving health conditions among the Indians. We are sorry to lose Dr. Shoemaker, but are pleased at his promotion. His Carlisle friends hope he will like his new duties, and that he and his estimable family will fare well wherever they may be.

Two Carlislers Making Good.

We learn through Superintendent Eddy that David Little Oldman is now engaged in improving his allotment of 20 acres of irrigation land on Tongue River, given him this spring. He has been employed at the Tongue River Agency as horse-shoer at a salary of $75 per month, in which position he gave satisfaction. Since receiving his allotment he has fenced in the entire 20 acres, and plowed 5 acres, planting it in corn, potatoes and garden vegetables for winter use. Supt. Eddy speaks in high terms of him and his evidently progressive spirit. David is an ex-student of Carlisle, and we are very pleased to learn of his success.

Joseph Picard, of L'Anse, Mich., has written Mr. Weber a most interesting letter since his return home. He seems to be putting to the best of use the knowledge gained while here at school with the result that his services as steam fitter and plumber are in frequent demand. He has been engaged to assist in putting in a hot water plant, the first in the town, which will be of further advantage to him. He writes, "The things I learned in the shop come in pretty handy now, only I wish I had a little more of it. I tell you, time spent there is worth something." Whether working at his trade or on the farm, he is, seemingly, endeavoring to keep up to the highest point of excellence.

MY TRIP TO WASHINGTON.

JEFFERSON B. SMITH, Gros Ventre.

On the occasion of a lecture, "The Farewell of the Chiefs," given last month in Washington, by Dr. Joseph K. Dixon, Commissioner Valentine sent to Carlisle for ushers for the affair, and twenty of the students responded to the call, of which number I was so fortunate as to be one. Arrayed in school uniform, the twenty would-be ushers left Carlisle for Washington, Wednesday morning, April 20, 1910; arriving there just in time for luncheon at Riggs Hotel, to which we did ample justice.

After luncheon, our chief, Mr. Stauffer, directed us to an immense lecture hall where we met Commissioner Valentine, Ex-Commissioner Leupp, Colonel Cody, better known as "Buffalo Bill," and many others, all of whom it was a great privilege for such a body of young men to meet.

Our duties began immediately after dinner when we were obliged to be at our posts in the lecture hall. Naturally the audience absorbed all of our attention at first and we were greatly interested in the number of distinguished people assembled there. The President's Cabinet, the Senators, and the Representatives all were present. We were all very anxious to see our President, who arrived after the audience had gathered. As President Taft entered, the audience arose and remained standing until he was seated.

The lecture, which, as I have said, was on the subject, "The Farewell of the Chiefs," was illustrated with colored slides and life pictures—pictures showing many prominent Indian chiefs, Indian customs, and Indian costumes.

On Thursday morning we explored Washington. We climbed the monument to the top, called at the Indian Office, where we had the pleasure of again meeting Commissioner Valentine, and visited the capitol. We timed our hour of arrival so that we might be at the capitol at twelve, at which time the sixty-first Congress would be in session, and when the hour had struck, we went into the gallery of the House of Representatives to witness the proceedings of the House. Speaker Cannon, better known as "Uncle Joe," called the House to order. After a prayer, the roll was called, and then resolutions were acted upon, and questions concerning the welfare of the nation were discussed.

From the House, we went into the Senate Chamber and heard the senators discuss the high cost of living. Our experiences at the House and the Senate were the most interesting of all our Washington experiences, because our study of Civil Government during the winter had aroused a special interest in both houses.

From the capitol we went to the Congressional Library, of whose size and beauty words can give but little idea. Here we wandered about the rooms, being especially interested in the show cases which contained rare books and letters written by George Washington and other men connected with the early history of our country.

After luncheon, we went in an automobile on a more extended sightseeing trip, seeing many places of interest of which we had read and heard. The automobile ride ended at the depot whence we bade Washington farewell, with a sigh at the thought that our pleasant trip, which will long linger in our memories, was ended.
