A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER EDITED AND PRINTED BY THE STUDENTS OF THE UNITED STATES INDIAN SCHOOL

VOLUME VII.

CARLISLE, PA., OCTOBER 7, 1910.

NUMBER 5

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

Fred Cornelius writes from Wisconsin that he is taking a short vacation with his home folks.

Anna Hauser, one of the new students, is now working in the laundry and seems well contented.

Charles Monchamp last week received from his home some wild rice, and it makes many friends for him.

Katharine E. Wolfe, class '10, after a pleasant summer in Quincy, Pa., has returned to continue her studies in the commercial department.

Wesley Tallchief came to the school last Saturday evening to pay his friends a visit. They were sorry that he could not spend a longer time with them.

The annual report is finished; all the work is being done by the Carlisle Indian Press. It has a very beautiful cover designed by our artist Lone Star.

Clifford C. Taylor is back and the Juniors are rejoicing because he is one of their reliable athletes who is certain to win laurels for them in the class-day contests.

We are informed of the recent marriage of Alice Jake and Elmer Echohawk. Both were Carlisle students and their many friends extend to them hearty congratulations.

Mr. Friedman has received a nice letter from Rena Redeye, a former student, who is living at her home at Tunesassa, N. Y. Rena writes: "I am well and trying to be a good girl. I am very thankful for what I learned while I was at Carlisle."

Any one passing by Girls' Quarters in the evening will find it interesting to watch the moon flowers unfold their blossoms; the change from bud to blossom is somewhat like the opening of the eyelids after a nap, at first rather slowly, then rapidly and wide.

Lloyd Reed and Stilwell Saunooke have recently returned from a visit to their homes in North Carolina. The Cherokees, especially, are pleased to see them come back to our dear old school.

In a recent letter from Agnes Caby we learn that she is well and longing to return to Carlisle but is unable to do so on account of the death of her father. She wished to be remembered to her former teachers, classmates and friends.

Out of the great crowd at the football game in Harrisburg only a few seemed to prefer the new rules. When the old style of play was used the crowd showed their appreciation by cheering lustily. It may be that players have not yet fully grasped the new rules.

It seems to be the real aim of Supt. Friedman, to have a full school without delay for there is an unusually large number of new students for this time of the year, and more are coming right along. In some instances former acquaintances have appeared and old-time friendships are being renewed.

Letter From Raymond Hitchcock.

We are in receipt of the following communication from one of the graduates of last year's class:

Shawnee, Okla., Sept. 19, 1910.

Dear Sir: I feel it is a duty to pen you a few lines. I have been in good health ever since I have been South, and have been working all the time until the past month. After drawing a Union card last May I have made $20 per week. I worked in Oklahoma City during the month of July in one of the leading shops. I was on the floor and on the stone for a while. I need to study imposition a little. I held the situation on the stone very well but was not quite accurate enough. Could you mail me or inform me where I could get some rules on imposition?

Joe Porter (an ex-student) was around the other day. He became a member of the Union the same time I did. Last summer he campaigned all over the state for a man running for Congress.

Yours truly,

RAYMOND HITCHCOCK.

INDIANS WILL BE WELL ENTERTAINED.

Superintendent M. Friedman, of the Carlisle Indian school, has arranged a splendid course of lectures and entertainments for the student body and faculty. There are ten numbers in the course, and the individual numbers have been carefully selected for their excellence, both from the point of view of instruction and entertainment.

These exercises are held in the school's large auditorium every other Saturday evening, and admission is free to students and teachers. The authorities of the school are convinced, from the success that has attended the course during the past two years, that it has a fine cultural influence on the students. The school is very fortunate in being able to obtain such an excellent array of talent. The course for this year is arranged through the Redpath-Brockway Lyceum Bureau of Pittsburgh, and the numbers are as follows:

- Strollers Male Quartet, Oct. 22.
- Entertainment, Alton Packard, Nov. 26.
- Entertainment, Arthur J. Fisher, Dec. 10.
- Concert, College Girls, Dec. 24.
- Ralph Bingham, Humorist, Jan. 7.
- Concert, Musical Four, Jan. 21.
- Lecture, Dr. Thomas P. Byrnes, Feb. 11.
- Illustrated Lecture, Peter MacQueen, Feb. 25.
- Entertainment, Jesse Pugh & Co., March 4.
- Concert, Sterling Jubilee Singers, April 8.—Carlisle Evening Sentinel.

Married and Doing Well.

From a reliable source we learn that Mr. and Mrs. Manus Screamer, ex-students of Carlisle, are getting along splendidly and living happily in a comfortable home, in Ashville, North Carolina. Manus is a printer and a musician as well.

Address all communications to the paper and they will receive prompt attention.

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

Mrs. Whitecloud has been visiting her daughter Ida, over Sunday.

Mrs. Stauffer is enjoying a visit from her sister Miss Heagey of Harrisburg, Pa.

Miss Julia Jarvis, of Washington, D. C., an ex-student, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Nori.

Clement Hill, who went home two years ago, has returned and joined the blacksmithing force.

Mr. Nonnast is very glad to have Clifford Taylor back in his shop for Clifford is one his efficient workers.

Students are arriving daily and it seems as though more new students would be enrolled this year than at any time before.

Joseph Arcasa is working in town at his trade of house-painting. The experience he gained last summer has been very helpful to him.

Frank Lonestar is spending most of his spare time in practicing on his new snare drum. He has fond expectations of joining the band.

Engracio Baculy, a Filipino who came last May, left last Monday for Washington, D. C., and from there he will go to Fort Riley, Kansas.

Elizabeth Fish left Monday morning for Washington, D. C., where she will enter a convent school. The best wishes of her friends go with her.

We are glad to welcome to Carlisle, Dr. Clinton DeForney, who has come to take charge of the hospital under the supervision of Dr. A. R. Allen.

The friends of Josephine Charles will be glad to know that she is getting along finely with her work in De Pere, Wisconsin. She sends greetings to all friends here who still remember her.

The football game between the Carlisle Indians and West Maryland was called off on account of the West Maryland players being laid up for repairs.

Peter Regis, who spent the summer at Leighton, Pa., working at his trade of carriage painting, returned last Saturday. He reports a most profitable summer in his line of work.

The Club held a business meeting Monday evening in the superintendent's office. As usual, there was no lack of discussion. Different subjects brought up were settled in a satisfactory manner.

The painters, under the direction of Mr. Carnes, are now putting the finishing touches to the roofs. The bright red color makes the roofs very pretty, which adds greatly to the attractiveness of Carlisle.

Samuel J. McLean, an ex-student of Carlisle, is now taking the commercial course at Fremont College, Fremont, Nebraska. He says he is doing good work and is very much pleased with the college.

Dollie Stone, who has been working at the Teachers' Club during the past month, is now detailed to the sewing room. Miss Searight is very glad to have her back for Dollie is one of her best dressmakers.

Lillian Porterfield did bravely in representing the Freshman class Monday morning. The title of her recitation was "Step by Step." It contained a moral which we, as students, would do well to heed.

We are glad to welcome Mrs. Worden back to Carlisle. She has been away for five weeks visiting her mother at Asbury Park, N. J., and has had a very enjoyable visit. She also visited other relatives at New Brunswick, N. J.

The Y. M. C. A. meeting was very interesting as there was a large number of boys present. Our president sang a song in the Cherokee language. Many of the new students were present and we hope for a larger membership than ever before.

The singing by the Cherokee quartette last Sunday evening in the Y. M. C. A. meeting was very pleasing. The president spoke encouragingly on "Helping Others." There being no speaker from town, questions from the Bible were asked, many of which were correctly answered.

The last Y. W. C. A. meeting was a very interesting one. The president gave an address of welcome to the new students and several other girls gave short talks. Some of the teachers, as well as a number of the girls, joined the Association.

After spending a delightful vacation at her home in Neopit, Wisconsin, Louise Kachicum returned last Wednesday to resume her studies with the Junior class. She was accompanied by two new students, J. Katchenago and H. Richmond.

St. Elmo Jim, a former Carlisle student, who was married in August to a former Haskell student, writes that he is getting along nicely. He expects to rent a house in Pawnee, Oklahoma for the winter. He says that he will always be true to the spirit of old Carlisle.

Article by Mr. Friedman.

The College World, Vol. 1, No. 1, a new publication, has appeared. The leading article is by Supt. M. Friedman, of the Indian School, on "The Carlisle Graduate As A Citizen." It is a very able article.—Carlisle Evening Sentinel.

Dr. Allen Honored.

Dr. A. R. Allen, the newly appointed visiting physician of this school, was elected by the physicians of Carlisle and vicinity to represent them at the annual state convention of Physicians and Surgeons, which is being held at Pittsburgh, Pa. The Doctor has the reputation of being the best surgeon in this vicinity, and his work is recognized by his fellow practitioners. He will read a paper on Acromial Bursitis.

A Great Meeting.

One of the most successful meetings of the year was held in the Carlisle Opera House Sunday afternoon, when 1200 residents of Carlisle came to hear Rev. W. P. Nicholson, the noted evangelist who, in company with Mr. J. R. Hemminger, the well known Gospel singer, has been holding meetings in Australia, New Zealand and in all parts of Europe and America. Superintendent Friedman introduced Rev. Nicholson.

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

Mr. Herr is very busy initiating in to the work the new boys who are joining the carpenter force.

Many of the girls went walking Sunday. Mr. Ramsey took some of the new girls to the old mill.

Rebecca Thomas, who has been on the sick list, is now at Quarters looking as well and happy as ever.

Clarence Smith, who has been working in Newton, Pa., has returned and will resume his studies in Room 9.

Some of the carpenters are busy remodeling the girls' clothing room which, when finished, will be very convenient.

Mr. Devoy, our instructor in the tin shop, and his boys, are busy repairing the spouts and gutters on the buildings.

Ruth Lydick, accompanied by a party of new students, returned last Tuesday from her home in Cass Lake, Minnesota.

The small boys are eagerly waiting to welcome back their disciplinarian, Mr. Denny, who is now on vacation in the west.

Mr. and Mrs. Deitz accompanied some girls to the Cave Sunday afternoon where they went boating to their great delight.

Last Saturday several new students arrived from Oneida, Wis. They were brought by Lida Wheelock and Elizabeth Silas.

Jack Jackson has returned from his home in North Carolina to join the freshman class. His friends, and especially the Cherokees, are glad to see him looking so well.

William Newashe, a member of last year's football team, has returned to resume his studies. He will join the football squad which will materially strengthen the team.

Among the new arrivals on Saturday were Elizabeth Silas, Lida Wheelock and Cecelia Swamp. They brought with them as new students Alice Doxtater and Melvinia Powless.

Since there are so many new girls coming in every day the dressmakers are kept busy, for each new girl has made for her by the girls of that class two work dresses, two uniform waists, and a uniform skirt.

Mrs. Sites, one of our assistants at the laundry, has resigned her position on account of failing health. We shall miss her cherry ways and we sincerely hope that she may soon recover.

The friends and classmates of Emma Newashe were very glad to see her return to "Old Carlisle" after spending a very delightful vacation at her home in Shawnee, Oklahoma. She is a loyal member of the junior class.

The friends of Alonzo Brown were glad to see him at the school reception Saturday evening. He has been working at his trade of wagonmaking under the outing during the past year and has returned now to work at his trade.

Last Friday was the windup of the Fair at Carlisle and the boys were allowed to go. They had a good time taking in the different attractions. The automobile race was especially interesting, and the horse races were good.

"The Tragedy of Getting Square" was the title of the fine recitation given by Sylvester Long in the auditorium last Monday afternoon. Sylvester represented the Freshman class, but he has since been promoted to the Sophomore class.

Cora Battice brought from her home in Oklahoma various kinds of beautiful bead work which was made by her mother who is an expert at that kind of work. The art students appreciate them for they furnish new and clearer ideas in designing and stenciling.

Last Wednesday schoolrooms 4½ and 5 were invited to No. 6 to hear Miss Beach tell something of her sojourn in Europe last summer. We are very grateful to Miss Beach for the many interesting things she told us about Gibraltar, Rome, Venice and other noted places.

From the sermon Sunday afternoon we gleaned the thought that to be satisfied with our achievements means that we are not progressing, that having a high ideal and always reaching out for it, will develop our spiritual nature and give to us that understanding of life and its purpose, without which there can be no success nor real happiness.

ABOUT CARLISLE ATHLETICS.

Carlisle defeated Dickinson on Biddle field last Wednesday, 24-0. The whole school attended the game and their singing and cheering were features. The game was a clean one and well played by both teams. A good spirit of healthy rivalry was shown by both players and rooters.

The third team plays the Technical High School team of Harrisburg on the Island at Harrisburg tomorrow.

The second team played a tie game with St. Marys College first team at Emmitsburg on Wednesday.

The second team plays Middletown on our field at three-thirty p. m. tomorrow.

Gettysburg will be our football opponents here next Wednesday.

Bucknell at Wilkes-Barre tomorrow.

To Visit in the West.

Mrs. Nori and children will leave Carlisle Saturday next for an extended trip. She will first go to the Colville reservation in Washington to secure allotments of land for herself and children, after which she will visit her father in Seattle, and her grandfather in British Columbia. She will be accompanied by Miss Julia Jarvis, a student of Carlisle who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Nori. Miss Jarvis also goes to Washington to look after land interests which she has there. They will be gone some time.

Seniors Elect Officers.

At their class meeting last Monday evening, the Seniors elected the following officers: President, Nan Sau-nooke; Vice-president, Louis Dupuis; secretary, Eliza Keshena; treasurer, Jefferson Smith; critic, Jerome Kennerly; reporter, Emma LaVatta; question committee chairman, Lewis Runnels; associates, Alfred DeGrass, Minnie White; program committee chairman, William Owl; associates, Mary Dixon and Robert Tahamont. The question for debate at their next meeting reads thus: "Resolved, That the Indian should learn the science of farming."

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

Edward Eaglebear, of the freshman class, is now working at his trade down town.

The Sunday School teachers in town are surprised to see so many new faces in their classes.

Miss Canfield has lately promoted to the dressmaking class Gladys McLean, Lillian Simons, and Ella Johnson.

Taily Sundown writes from his country home that he has a very nice place and that his work suits him very well.

Miss Beatrice Scott, who was on the academic force during the past year, is now principal of the Bristol High School.

The Catholic students gladly welcome their new priest, Rev. Father Stock, and hope that he will enjoy his work among them.

Dorothy Morse writes that she is getting along nicely in Oak Lane, Pa., where she intends to remain and attend public school.

John Mead writes from his home in Tokio, Norah Dakota, that he hopes to be back, and in school, by the third of October.

The freshman class is studying Longfellow's Hiawatha and they find it very interesting with its history and its beautiful legends.

Evelyn Pierce, '10, expects to return to Carlisle early in October, to take the business course. We are anxiously awaiting her return.

A message comes from Julia Terrance, who went home last spring, stating that she is well and wishes to be remembered to her friends.

After spending some years in Pawhuska, Oklahoma, Joe Canon, a former student, has reentered Carlisle and is now enrolled as a student.

John Wilson Rogers, one of our old track boys now living at Peever, South Dakota, writes that he is well and that he often thinks of Carlisle.

The carpenters are gaining valuable experience in building sash and other parts of a house. The work seems difficult, but one's best will surely makes one an expert in time.

Elizabeth Gibson is living with Mrs W.B. Momlinson, of Mt. Holly, New Jersey. She has a very nice home and expects to enter school within a few days.

Rose McArthur writes from her home in Gardner, Oregon, that she feels quite lost without her Carlisle friends, to whom she sends best regards.

Mary Welch, one of our new girls who went to the country, states in a letter that she is getting along nicely and that she likes her country home.

Miss Irene Brown, class '09, writes that she is now living at her home in Brown's Valley, Minnesota. She wishes to be remembered to her friends.

Susette Guitar, an ex-student who was with us last year, is happily married to a member of the Omaha tribe, and is settled on the Omaha reservation.

Friends of Claudia McDonald, '08, will be pleased to know that she has been appointed to the position of clerk, with a very good salary, at Siletz, Oregon.

The members of the Bachelors' Club of the Athletic Quarters are spending a good portion of their time in learning new songs for special occasions during the season.

An interesting letter was received from Lyford John, who is out in the country working successfully at his trade of painting. He expects to return to the school sometime next month.

Mr. Worden has now on exhibition at the Studio an unusually large and fine collection of Indian relics; these have been gathered from many different tribes, and they are well worth examining.

Maxie Luce, one of our students who has been in the country all summer, is with us for a few days after which time he will go west, where he has secured a position in the government service.

Our library is a very pleasant place and we always feel welcome and at home there. We have been donated a number of nice new books this fall, some of which we hope to read during the winter.

CHIEF TEEDYUSCUNG.

ROBERT TAHAMONT, Abenaki.

The Indian has played a very important part in the history of our country, especially the early history. Had it been not for Teedyuscung, a friendly chief of the Delaware Indians, John Harris, the founder of Harrisburg, would have been burned at the stake as was the intention of the unfriendly Paxtang Indians.

John Harris' grave may be seen in the River Park at Harrisburg, at the foot of the tree to which he was bound when the Indians were going to burn him.

Since Teedyuscung's hospitality did so much toward the founding of Harrisburg, a portrait has been placed in the state Capitol building at Harrisburg in honor of this benevolent chief.

Teedyuscung was born near Trenton about the year 1700 and died in Wyoming Valley, Pennsylvania, in 1763.

Hints to the Grumbler.

The man who habitually grumbles is a self-confessed failure; he admits that things are wrong with him.

If things are always wrong with you, it is your own fault, so don't spend valuable time and energy proclaiming the fact. Put them right.

Don't grumble with conditions—put them right—make the best of them or go where they are better.

Don't grumble with your job; if you cannot do better where you are, do better somewhere else.

If you have to grumble occasionally, do it out loud before the offender's face; he may give you his candid opinion of yourself, and that should be of value to you.—Organizer, London, England.

Letter From Robert DePoe.

Siletz, Oregon, Sept. 15, 1910.
Mr. John Whitwell,
Carlisle, Penna.

Dear Friend: Would you please send me a copy of the Course of Study in the Primary and Intermediate Grades as will be given in this year's work.

I have charge of a new Day School here, and as I am a graduate of your school I want to follow the best in the land.

Many a time I have had a desire to visit my old school but have never been able to make connections, but will soon.

Sincerely,

ROBERT DEPOE.
