A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER EDITED AND PRINTED BY THE STUDENTS OF THE UNITED STATES INDIAN SCHOOL

VOLUME VII.

CARLISLE, PA., DECEMBER 9, 1910.

NUMBER 14

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

Mr. Venne and his family send the season's greetings to friends at Carlisle.

Selina Twoguns has returned to Carlisle to take the commercial course.

Mary Welch writes from the country that she had a very pleasant Thanksgiving Day.

Chester Elm has joined the country student list and is now living in Craighead, Pennsylvania.

Derias Schenandore has returned from his home in Wisconsin. He brought with him Jacob Somers.

Rose McArthur, who went home in June, remembers her friends by sending them beautiful post-cards.

Judson B. Cabay, former student of Carlisle and a long distance runner, is now living at Algonad, Michigan.

The foot-ball season being ended every boy is now turning his attention to basket-ball which is the next athletic stunt in order.

Susan Twigg writes to a friend that she is getting along nicely at her home in Wade, N. Dakota. She sends regards to friends.

Wm. Garlow made a short visit to his native state after the Thanksgiving game in Providence. He reports having a delightful time.

Frank Vaderneck, who is now attending a public school in Pennington, New Jersey, states that he is making good progress in his studies.

Susan Hemlock, who is attending school in Glenside, Pa., writes enthusiastically of her school life and of the people with whom she is living.

The girls in rooms 10 and 11 are glad to welcome their new Sunday School teacher, Mr. Nagay, who has taken the place of Mr. Ramsey. He makes the lessons very interesting.

The following is the conclusion of a letter received from Miss McMichael, a former teacher of Carlisle School who is now teaching at Seldovia, Alaska: "I send greetings to the Standard Society and wish them a most happy and prosperous year. To the girls of the Y. W. C. A., I send love and ask an interest in their prayers. To the boys of the Y. M. C. A., I also ask to be remembered, and ask them to be true and honest and earnest; and may God bless everyone at Carlisle is the prayer of your true friend."

We are in receipt of a letter from Wm. L. Paul of Ladd, Washington, a graduate of the Class of 1902, who is employed as storekeeper for a coal company of that place, and also as timekeeper for the company's mines. He writes: "My brother of Class '05 is here with me. He is a blacksmith's helper. Sometime we hope to visit our old stamping grounds, but at present are too busy with real business. We are employed here not as Indians, but as men. Our best wishes and thanks go out to your institution."

John H. Elkface, an ex-student, is now living at Shield, North Dakota, and working at his trade of carpenter. He is married and has a little girl. He says he is trying to do what Carlisle taught him when he was a school boy. He says there are several Carlisle boys living near his home, and all are doing well. He writes: "THE ARROW is my friend as long as I live." He wishes to be remembered to all of his old friends, and especially the cooks, among whom he worked while at Carlisle.

Mr. G. J. Beck, assistant superintendent of the Sitka Training School, Sitka, Alaska, came to Carlisle especially to study the school's work, methods, courses of study, and equipment with a view to further enlargement of his school in Alaska. He spent several days, and inspected us quite thoroughly and endeavored to glean all the knowledge possible while here. He has been at Sitka, educating Alaskans, for some fourteen years and has some very interesting things to say regarding the natives of that country and their rapid progress in accepting educational advantages and Christianity.

Albert Exendine as a Coach.

The Otterbein Review in an article about Otterbein's renowned eleven, says: "The newspapers such as the Dispatch, Cincinnati Enquirer and other leading papers of the country, have discovered our team as one of the best in the State of Ohio. When we as students and alumni attempt to ferret out the source of this successful football season, we are confronted by this one question, "What has made Otterbein's football team what it is to-day?" We can answer that question just as it is put by two words, "Albert Exendine," a coach respected by every man on the team, by every student and alumni of Otterbein. He is the man who has made a perfect football machine out of Otterbein's eleven, a machine which works out his marvellous plays to the letter. Coach Exendine is one of the best and cleanest coaches the Otterbein team has ever had. No man on the team can say that he has ever heard him use indecent language on the field. He is a gentleman, every inch of him. He knows every position on the team and he knows how to get the one great thing into the team—and that is "ginger." The newspapers of the country have recognized him as the best coach of the new game.

"In this humble way, we as members of the team, students, alumni and faculty desire to show our appreciation for what Coach Exendine has done for us. We only hope that the college will do its part in securing him for next fall."

Albert Exendine is a graduate of Carlisle, class of '96. He was one of our star athletes and best students.

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

Thanksgiving has passed, but Christmas is yet to come.

Charles Ross, one of the printer boys, left for his home in Oklahoma last week.

Mrs. Henderson, who has been ill for a couple of weeks, is now convalescent.

Eunice Bartlett has been changed from the sewing-room to the Art Department.

Dr. DeForney has been ill since last Saturday; all the boys wish him a speedy recovery.

No. 7 visited the boiler house last week; they found it very interesting as their papers show.

The Band have been having their pictures taken; one in the auditorium, another in the studio.

After being on the sick list for some weeks, Rosa LaRose and Anna Bebeau are back in Quarters.

Jefferson Smith, a senior, recited in a forcible manner, the grievous fault attendant upon the oft repeated, "I Forgot."

Commandant Henderson mentioned fixing up the skating pond and all the boys are anxiously waiting to begin operations.

Rev. and Mrs. Roe were heartily welcomed by the Winnebago students among whose people they have done such excellent work.

The troops at Large Boys Quarters being too large to handle with convenience, it has been thought desirable to change them and appoint new officers.

After spending a delightful vacation at her home in northern New York, Minnie Billings has returned to Carlisle in order to resume her studies.

A number of the Varsity boys who sat for their pictures while in Boston last fall received them last Monday. They will make nice Christmas presents.

John Goslin, Arline Allen, Lillian Porterfield and Ivy Metoxen did very well as substitutes in Room 5 and 9 during the absence of the regular teachers.

Amanda Wolf, a former student and a sister to Pearl Wolf, visited the school a few days last week. She is now attending a public school in Philadelphia.

William Ball, Quapaw, Oklahoma, who has been attending school in Salem, Oregon, arrived here Wednesday evening very much to the surprise of his friends.

Fannie Keokuk, a member of class 1910, was a visitor for a few days; she came to attend the Susan-Invincible reception of which first organization she is a member.

Nature is gradually donning her robe of ermine, and soon the creeks will be closed within glassy walks of ice; tho silent, they will offer us the pleasure of skating.

Those who attended the Sunday School service last Sunday in the auditorium had the pleasure of listening to a solo by Mr. McClure. He also gave a very helpful talk.

Mr. Nonnast has been busy repairing overcoats and making trousers for the new band boys. Some of his able assistants are Wm. Garlow, Elmer Bush, and Clifford Taylor.

Jerome Kennerly, a Varsity man, represented the Senior Class at the afternoon exercises with an essay entitled, "Desirable Objects of Attainment." It was excellent and well given.

Miss Morris, a trained nurse from Carlisle, helped with the eye operations last week. We are very grateful to her as she was a great help. One hundred operations were performed during the week.

A very interesting Y. M. C. A. meeting was held at the usual place of assembly. The program consisted of songs and a cornet solo by John Goslin, after which an address was delivered by Mr. Van Hook of Dickinson College. His subject was "Character Building."

The Invincibles will give a special program this evening in honor of Mr. King, who recently resigned as advisory member of the society, and also to the two new members of the advisory board, Mr. Henderson and Dr. De Foney. Let every Invincible be present.

The Y. W. C. A. meeting was led by Miss Johnston. She read a letter from Miss Wistar to Pearl Wolfe; then she talked to us on the subject of "Friends," and our manner of talking with them; our letters of exchange; the nature of our thoughts as expressed in them and their influence. She spoke of books which are the most interesting and the impressions they make upon our characters. Altogether it was a pleasant evening profitably spent.

Supt. Lonerger at Carlisle.

Mr. Lonerger, who is working among the Mohave Indians in Colorado, gave us an excellent talk in chapel last Monday morning. He said that no matter how much education a man may receive, or how much time he may spend in school, it is of no value to him or to the world if he is not man enough to stand up for the right under any, and all circumstances.

Prof. H. R. Pattengil Speaks To Us.

Prof. H. R. Pattengil, Superintendent of Public Instruction in Michigan, gave an inspiring address to the faculty and the students last Sunday afternoon in the auditorium. His theme was, "The Child Grew in Wisdom and Stature and in Favor with God and Man." He taught the absolute necessity of developing character on those lines. As we are developing our minds we should be developing our bodies as well, and above all, be in favor with God and with man.

He compared the game of football to that of life. The football player who is afraid to play the game hard, who has a streak of yellow in his makeup, will never distinguish himself on the field or elsewhere. Working in harmony, as one, means a chance of victory. So it is in the game of life, we should do the best under all circumstances.

His last words were "Do all the good you can to all the people you can and as long as you can."

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

Celestine Types left a week ago for her home in Idaho.

Superintendent Friedman took dinner with the students last Monday.

Ben Stead, who is assistant farmer at the Rapid City school, reports that he is doing well. Ben is known as one of the best Indian athletes in the West.

Sarah F. Mansur, who is employed in Washington, D. C., writes that she is now preparing for her Christmas vacation. She is also taking a special course in music.

The boys and girls are anxiously looking forward to Christmas time; some have purchased their presents, which they have carefully hidden away until the proper time comes to bring them forth.

Robert Doyle, one of the small boys, is getting along very nicely at his home with Mr. Hildebrandt at Bridgeville, N. J. He attends school regularly and is progressing very fast. He stood at the head of his class in spelling the other day.

Etta Sarracino, ex-student of Carlisle, is getting along splendidly in the St. Joseph Hospital at Albuquerque, New Mexico, which place she entered last September to finish her course as a trained nurse. She spent a very pleasant vacation at her home and later entered the hospital.

Lewis Thompson, who is living with Mr. J. E. Albertson in Delaware, N. J., says that he likes his employer and is getting along all right with his work. He is attending a nice little school. He wishes to be remembered to all of his friends and especially to Miss Kaup his former teacher.

The superintendent of the Cumberland Valley Railroad Company in a letter to Mr. Friedman, says, "I wish you would have Francis Coleman practice as much as possible in telegraphy. As soon as he is through school, we hope to be able to place him regularly in one of our interlocking towers as an operator and levermen." He also writes that Aaron Poody has been placed permanently at "QN" Tower, just east of Gettysburg Junction, at a salary of $50 per month.

The boys in the telegraphic department are thoroughly in earnest; they seem bent upon completing the course as quickly as possible. They have extended their lines to Mr. Whitwell's office and to the business department. The click of the instrument has become so familiar that one misses the sound when it ceases.

Our town has lost a substantial citizen in the death of Mr. Thomas Harris. For many years he rendered valuable services as an instructor in blacksmithing in the Carlisle Indian School, where both by his workmanship and character he was an example for those in his charge.—Carlisle Evening Sentinel, December 2.

We have been visited this week by Mr. P. T. Lonergan, superintendent of the Colorado River Agency in Arizona. Mr. Lonergan, whose home is in Pennsylvania, is a graduate of Dickinson College. Mr. Lonergan was on his way home from Washington, where he went, accompanied by a Mojave chief, to see about more land for his charges.

Rev. Walter C. Roe and Mrs. Roe, missionaries of the Dutch Reformed Church, located at Colony, Okla., visited the school last week, and reported that they were very much pleased with everything they saw. They are doing a good work among the Indians in Oklahoma. Henry Roe Cloud, a Winnebago Indian, and a graduate of Yale, is an adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Roe.

We have been informed by letter that Raymond Kennedy, a Carlisle student, who is living at Stewartsville, N. J., and working as machinist in a mill, is improving at his work every day, and that his work and behavior is very satisfactory to the bosses, and he has made many good friends. Arrangements have been completed for him to take a course in mechanical drafting with the International Correspondence School.

We note the death recently at "Indiantown," Kawkawlin Township, Michigan, of Rev. James Cloud, a full-blood Indian and for many years a minister among the Indians of Michigan. He had reached the advanced age of 80 years. He was educated at Berea College, Ohio, and later took up the study of theology in Albion College. He was one of the factors in bringing the Indians of Northwestern Michigan to their higher mental, moral, and physical plane. Mr. Cloud has grandchildren now attending Carlisle. His children were also students here.

 Harvard Law-Carlisle Game.

The All-star vs. Carlisle game was the talk of the town yesterday. "By jove, I wish I had been out there; I am sorry I missed it," was the constant refrain all day. Those who saw the game maintained that it "was the best ever," and that it was a splendid thing for the sport.—Boston Morning Globe, November 18.

 Supt. Friedman's Excellent Article.

Superintendent Moses Friedman, of the Carlisle Indian school, is the author of a very excellent and comprehensive article on the school, in the current number of the The College World. Mr. Friedman tells in a very apt and entertaining way of the Carlisle idea, and goes into detail to give interesting facts concerning this great institution, with which our readers are so familiar. But the facts are stated in a convincing manner as well. The article is re-printed in the current number of the school journal "The Red Man."—Carlisle Evening Sentinel, November 30.

 The Susan-Invincible Reception.

To the strains of inspiring music, the members of both societies and their guests marched into the beautifully decorated gymnasium. An address of welcome by Arline Allen, president of the Susans, was followed by a short history of the societies by Edison Mt. Pleasant, president of the Invincibles. Then dancing until ten, when dainty refreshments consisting of ice-cream, cake and delicious coffee, were served. The society songs were sung, the orchestra played, and all went merry as a marriage feast until eleven when the signal to retire was given.

Prizes in the form of nicely-frosted cakes were awarded to the couples who won distinction by their graceful dancing. Peter Jordan and Alice Nunn carried off honors for the prize waltz; Albert Lorentz and Ruth Lydick for the prize two-step. Dr. White made a very nice presentation speech.

Still Being Educated.

L. S. Pierce, who was a student at Carlisle nine years ago, writing from "U. S. S. Pennsylvania, Target Range, 30 miles West San Diego, California," says: "Your 'Injun Arrow' is such an interesting little paper that I must not refuse nor delay renewing my subscription. After I left school I chose the deep sea life, and am still floating around, here, there and everywhere, and I am most surely contented. If anyone at Carlisle wishes to know about some certain part of the world, I shall be glad to write and tell him. I have been educated by having my eyes open every where I went in the world, and I have seen many interesting things."
