HOW THE NEZ PERCES TRAINED FOR LONG DISTANCE RUNNING.

CALEB CARTER, Nez Perce.

Strange and improbable as this description seems, it is every word of it true, as the writer is of the tribe mentioned in the title of his paper and has always been familiar with the customs about to be described.

The men of the tribe which were set apart by their physical qualifications to train for runners, used to commence their training in the latter part of October, at which time they began to take early morning baths in cold mountain streams. These baths were kept up through the whole winter season until the spring weather made the water cooler.

Next on the schedule to be followed by those in training are the warm baths, taken in a hole in the ground where the water is heated by hot rocks, mixed with the cold baths described above. If the warm bath is not taken, the sweat bath is substituted, and is prepared as follows: first, a skeleton of a small hut is made from willow boughs; this is covered with twigs and dirt, a small opening being left in front for a door, over which blankets are hung. Near this door, a small round hole is dug and filled with red hot stones. After all the trainers have had a plunge in the cold water they enter this little sweat house and close the door. Then one of the number pours warm water on the red hot stones, causing the steam to rise and surround the occupants of the tightly closed room. After awhile the victims emerge and take another plunge into the cold water. This process they keep up until the stones are cold and useless for the manufacture of steam.

After a light dinner, consisting of merely a little soup, the same program is repeated; and this is done daily for at least three months of the year, sweat baths being indulged in in the early morning and late evening, usually after sunset.

The way in which a young buck's endurance was tested was like this:

An old warrior selects a tree with a limb affording a tempting opportunity to swing on it by one's hands. When the night comes for the testing, the old buck calls the young brave to jump out from his hot bath-hole, to leap and catch the limb with both hands, and to cling to it until he is ordered to "let go." If he drops unconscious before the signal is given, it is a sign that the training has not been sufficient, and he is ordered to return to his daily routine until such time as he can cling to the limb for the desired number of minutes. After this testing, the programme for those in training is extended by the addition of short runs, every morning and evening, for a distance of five or six miles. As the youths begin to show endurance, these distances are gradually lengthened.

Then comes another testing: A small hill, so many paces high, is chosen, up which they are required to run, on jumping out of the hot bath. If the person tested does not reach the top and back again, he is considered not yet in proper condition. Sometimes the candidate runs halfway up the hill, then falls and rolls down the slope, unconscious.

Such training gives to the Indian incredible strength, agility, and power of endurance. As an example, one needs only to cite Lawyer, who was killed near Cul de Sac, Idaho. Compared with his white brothers, he appeared to be about forty at the time of his death, but in reality he was past seventy years of age. It is said that at one time, before the Nez Perce war, he chased a black bear for over sixty miles, over mountains and across canyons. He might have succeeded in catching "Bruin", but it grew too dark for the chase, so he calmly trotted back home again.

I wonder how the young Indian of today would like this sort of training?

Now, an Indian cannot even break through the ice, while skating, without endangering his life.

DEATH OF SIMON E. JOHNSON.

All Saints' Rectory,
Fallsington, Pa.

My dear Mrs. Denny:

I am writing to tell you that after a painful sickness borne with a patience and fortitude seldom seen, Simon E. Johnson, an alumnus of Carlisle school, breathed his last on Wednesday evening, February 22, in Mercer Hospital at Trenton, New Jersey. As I think of Simon, of his beautiful character, his patience, his tender feeling, his deep religious trust, it is impossible not to believe that he now occupies an abode among the elect of Almighty God. If ever man was true, Simon was true; you could trust him through and through. As a communicant of this parish, he had the respect, the admiration, and the love of us all. None who met him and talked with him could fail to mark that he knew God and walked with God. Clad in the school uniform which he loved so well and which he honored by his life, his body was carried to its resting place in the churchyard of Saint James, Bristol, Pennsylvania, on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 25, by his comrades, Messrs. Wallace Denny, Wm. Owl, James Mumblehead, and Louis Dupuis. I shall miss his companionship and will always cherish his memory.

Very sincerely yours,
FRANCIS HENRY SMITH.

A Graduate in Alaska.

Patrick Verney, who had intended to leave this month to visit friends at Carlisle, Pa., has postponed it until some convenient time in the future on account of no one on hand to fill his place at the Ketchikan Miner. —The Ketchikan (Alaska) Miner, March 17th.

The Commencement Exercises.

To those who are interested in the exercises we will mail our Red Man containing complete report. Mail your request to the superintendent.

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

The four upper grades met last Monday evening to elect class officers.

Agnes Cabay sends greetings from Bay City, Michigan, to classmates and friends.

Miss Elizabeth Baird, ex-student, was one of the visitors during commencement week.

Lyman Madison's declamation entitled, "A Manly Fellow" was excellent and well given.

Miss Gaither and Miss Shultz have their hands full getting the girls ready for the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins were with their son, our manual drawing teacher, during commencement week.

Cards have been received from Selina Twoguns and Mazie Skye announcing their safe arrival in Buffalo.

Mitchell La Fleur left for his country home in New Holland, Pa., where he will work at his trade of painting.

The Junior class will begin the study of "The Great Stone Face" and all hope that it may prove as interesting as "Evangeline."

The Juniors are very proud of their banner, the colors of which are crimson and blue, signifying "bravery" and "truth."

Although the weather was unfavorable last Wednesday, we all enjoyed the Lacrosse game between the Baltimore City College and Carlisle.

Joseph Arcasa left for the country last Saturday; he intends to work at his trade until June, then return here in time to join the home party.

The "Penalty of Idleness" was the subject of Victor Kennedy's recitation at the opening exercises last Monday. He represented the Freshman Class.

Commencement is over! Every one is glad and willing to return to his shop or schoolroom and begin a new term which we all hope will be a successful one for all the students.

The robins look as though they thought they had made a mistake in coming North at this season of the year. "Surely this is not spring," sing they in tones not to be misunderstood.

The Catholic meeting held Sunday evening was in honor of the Catholic graduates, and after the meeting each one received a token of remembrance from Father Stock and the Sisters.

Since commencement is over the majority of the students in the four upper grades wear smiling faces at the thought of being promoted. Let those who failed brace up and not allow themselves to be discouraged.

Minnie O. White, member of class 1911, and captain of company B, left Friday for Harrisburg, where she will remain for the summer. Her smiling face will be missed by her many friends.

Alfred DeGrasse, one of the graduates left Monday morning for Washington, D. C., where he will spend a few days with friends before he returns to his home in New Bedford, Massachusetts.

The members of troop A are proud of their captain, Peter Jordan, who won the gold medal offered for the second best troop in the competitive drill, which was given during commencement week.

Last Thursday evening Miss Dabb and Miss Rinker entertained the old and the new cabinet members of the Y. W. C. A. in the Y. W. C. A. room. All enjoyed themselves, especially when the refreshments were served.

As we have had new places assigned to us in school we should make every effort to accomplish as much as possible; we should be helped by seeing where we were weak last term.

Now that we have a goodly supply of wholesome advice gleaned from some of the excellent speeches made during commencement week, we should try to put some of it into action by making our "wheat good" during the next two school months.

The music entitled, "Excerpts from Faust," which was played by the Mandolin club at the graduating exercises, seemed to be greatly appreciated by the audience.

The Y. M. C. A. held a business meeting Sunday evening after its usual services; Mr. Dickey made an address in which he spoke very encouragingly to the country pupils.

Last Friday morning two officials of the Western Union Telegraph Co. visited the telegraphy room to pick out the boys who are advanced enough in telegraphy to take positions on the road.

Mr. Lutt and family, one of the most prominent neighboring farmers, invited Samuel Saunooke, James and William Garlow to a Sunday feast; each reported having had a splendid chicken dinner.

Stephen Glori made a very nice speech, as did the graduates, last Sunday evening at the Catholic meeting. Rev. Stock presented the graduates and also those who had a good standing in Catechism with a story book entitled "Faith of our Fathers."

At their meeting last Monday evening the seniors elected the following officers: President, Augustus Welch; vice-president, William Bishop; secretary, Benedict Cloud; critic, Pearle Wolf; reporter, Caleb Carter; sergeant-at-arms, Charles McDonald; treasurer, Fred Cardin.

An Indian Rescue.

What might have been a very grave accident was averted by the prompt and heroic action of Robert Tahamont, recent graduate, who was on his way to the station to meet his mother last Thursday evening. A patron of the school in company with friends, was walking along when, hearing the approach of an automobile, she stepped aside on the trolley track, missed her footing and fell headlong the Le Tort Creek, which at this season of the year reaches a depth of four or five feet. It was just at this moment that Robert appeared; without a moment's hesitation he jumped to the rescue and soon had the lady safe upon the shore. We rejoice that Robert was there and that lady is rapidly recovering from the severe shock.

ABOUT CARLISLE ATHLETICS.

Spring football practice was started last Monday and about fifty candidates have been at work all the week. Coach Wauseka, and Garrow, last year's star center rush, are assisting Coach Warner in teaching the new men the rudiments of the game. The squad makes a good appearance and there are many likely candidates who are sure to develop into Carlisle stars of the future.

This is the first spring football practice ever held at Carlisle, but so many new men who have never had any football experience have entered school within the past year, that it was figured it would be a great help to them to learn the rudiments of the game this spring, and no doubt the team next fall will be much stronger by reason of this spring work. This practice is done during the students' spare time, and outside of regular academic work.

This week only the rudiments have been taught, but it is being planned to have some real football as soon as the players learn to fall on the ball, tackle, etc., and get hardened. Practice will be continued for two and possibly three weeks.

The weather was so raw and disagreeable for both spectators and competitors that only the track events were contested at the Handicap meet, which was held preliminary to the Lacrosse game on Wednesday of commencement week. The field events and two-mile run were postponed until a warmer day.

The track events were hotly contested and fair time was made in some of the events. It is apparent, however, that our track team will be comparatively weak this spring unless the new men develop more rapidly than is expected.

The events and winners are here given:

100 Yards dash.—First, Skenandore; second, Earth; third, Wheelock. Time, 10 3-5 seconds.

Half-Mile Run.—First, Miller; second, Arquette; third, Tewanima. Time, 4 minutes, 44 seconds.

120 Yards hurdle.—First, Wheelock; second, Skenandore; third, Goslin. Time, 16 seconds.

440 Yards dash.—First, Gus Welch; second, Bucktooth; third, Shasbowobosh. Time, 54 seconds.

220 Yards hurdle.—First, Skenandore; second, Tarbell; third, Goslin. Time, 28 3/4 seconds.

Half-Mile relay, small boys.—First, Robert O'Brien, red; second, E. Paul, blue; third, Lije Williams, white. Time, 2 minutes, 9 3-5 seconds.

220 Yards dash.—First, Gus Welch; second,

Dupuis; third, Stevenson. Time, 24 seconds.

Half Mile Run.—First, Priest; second, Squirrel; third, Arquette. Time, 2 minutes, 9 2-5 seconds.

The first Lacrosse game of the season was played last week Wednesday on our field with Baltimore City College. The game was witnessed by a large crowd of students and commencement guests and every one was much pleased with the way Coach O'Neil's boys showed up in their opening game. The Indians kept the ball near their opponents' goal most of the time and the defensive players hardly had enough exercise during the game to keep warm. The score was 10-0 in Carlisle's favor.

Now is the time the classes are making preparations to win the championship athletic banner for the coming school year. The class meet is to be held April 26, and no time should be wasted by the classes if they expect to make a showing in this annual event.

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

William Callahan left last Monday morning for Baltimore, Md., where he will work as a florist.

Among the new boys who came last Wednesday from Wisconsin, are Wilson Silas and Hyson Powless.

Last Saturday morning Walter Kimmel left for Fallsington, Pa., where he will stay for the summer under the Outing.

After giving the printers good advice concerning their trade, Stephen Glori bade them good bye and departed for New York last Monday morning.

Chitoski Trampler of Wrightstown, was a visitor during commencement; his friends were glad to see him looking so well; evidently farm life agrees with him.

Mr. Deitz left Saturday morning for New York, where he will spend a week at the home of Prof. Gilberte, who was here as his guest during commencement week.

Miss Dickey, sister of our boys' outing agent, was a visitor during commencement week. Miss Dickey was a missionary in India for nine years where she accomplished a great work among the natives.

Arthur Coons, ex-student, who is now attending school at Hampton, Va., writes that he has been the manager of the 1910 basketball team; out of the ten games played only two were lost.

It is a beautiful sword, gold mounted and exquisitely chased, that was won by Lewis Runnels, captain of troop C which took part in the competitive drill given before Captain Thorne of the U. S. Army.

Among the many commencement visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dewey, of Boslertown. Every boy who knows Mr. and Mrs. Dewey was glad to see them. Mr. Dewey was our instructor in tinsmithing for a short time and while here he made many friends among the boys.

Thirteen members of the class of 1911 went through the class rooms last Monday morning; they visited the new Seniors in number 14 and after making short addresses, the class of 1912 gave them a God-speed yell. The four upper grades joined in wishing them every success and they hope to see them make good.

Mr. Dickey spoke very encouragingly at the Y. M. C. A. meeting and the boys responded with appreciative attention. He left with them a few thoughts about which to think during the week. "We learn to do by doing." Try to think clearly when alone in your room and in other places.

President Sylvester Long, of the Y. M. C. A., gave a list of hymns which are regarded by the American people as the most popular and universally sung hymns of to-day, six of which we sang at the meeting: "Rock of Ages," "Jesus Lover of My Soul," "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," "I Love to Tell the Story," "Just as I am," and "Onward Christian Soldiers."

The Invincibles were glad to have with them during commencement week a few old members of their society, especially Mr. Standing Bear, one of the six original founders of the Invincible society. He complimented the members on their society spirit and the success with which the work has been carried on. As a memento of his visit he had a photograph taken of the present members of the society who were on the grounds.
