CARLISLE, PA., DECEMBER 15, 1911.

NUMBER 14

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

Raymond Hitchcock and Ira Walker are doing well in Shawnee, Okla.

Whitney Skenandore, who went home last year, has returned to Carlisle.

The floors of the music rooms are being painted.

John Ostiegan, who is under the "Outing," is doing well.

The farm and dairy boys are now quartered at the farm houses.

"Red Wing" was a striking figure on the stage Saturday evening.

Audman Ohmert, who is living at his home in Oklahoma, is doing well

Sylvia Moon, a Junior, recited "Desirable Objects of Attainment" Monday afternoon.

Anna Gilstrap, who is at her home in Evanston, Ill., sends best wishes to her friends.

The small boys are organizing a hockey team to be known as the "Easterners."

The Freshmen are glad to have for their classmates, Francis Bacon and Henry Redowl.

Eugenia La Roche is enjoying the snow and the fine skating at her home in Scobey, Montana.

Lewis Runnels, of class '11, is attending school at Blair Business College, Spokane, Wash.

Anna Buck, ex-student of Carlisle, is now employed at Sherman Institute, Riverside, California.

The report comes that Helen Lane, class 09, was quite recently married to Mr. Dekoff of Minnesota.

Susie White Tree, '07, is now working in a dressmaking establishment in Boston, Massachusetts.

Mrs. Canfield has promoted Nora Grounds, one of the small girls to the shirt-making department.

The Freshmen are glad to welcome into their class, Paul Baldeagle, Stafford Elgin, and Cecelia Swamp.

We hear that William Ettawage-shik, Class '11, is well and happily located at Harbor Springs, Michigan.

Daisy Mingo, who went home last fall, is having a pleasant winter at her home in Mashpee, Massachusetts.

Through a friend, we learn that Albert Simpson, '07, is married and employed as a clerk at Ft. Berthold, North Dakota.

The Juniors are glad to have with them again Henry Broker, who has been absent for some time on account of illness.

Mary Brittian, who is spending the winter at Los Angeles, California, sends the season's greetings to all her friends at Carlisle.

Mr. Robert George, the tinner, has returned from a pleasant ten days' vacation. Chauncey Powlas took his place during his absence.

Alexander Knox, who is living on a farm in Bucks County, is now attending the Sandy Ridge High School at Doylestown, Pennsylvania.

Many beautiful cards upon which she states that she spent a very pleasant Thanksgiving Day, have been received from Helen Welch.

Nora McFarland brought back to the memory of some of her observers, Chief Joseph, as she translated "Silver Bells" into the sign language.

Mary Sawatis, one of our small girls who is now travelling in New York, remembers her friends by sending them beautiful postcards.

A number of cards telling that they had a fine time Thanksgiving day, have been received from the students who are under the Outing.

Mitchell La Fleur has been appointed Judge of the Freshman Class city. He has already tried two or three cases.

While making a tour through Harrisburg in an automobile, the Episcopalian girls went to Reservoir Park, from which point they saw six counties.

Nelson Simons writes from Milford, Pa., that he is getting along finely in his work. He spent Thanksgiving Day hunting with a few of the boys.

Eloy B. Sousa left early Monday morning for his Outing home in South Bethlehem, Pa., where he expects to remain during the rest of the winter to work at his trade of blacksmithing and also to play in the city band at that place.

Our Thanksgiving Dinner.

Great were our appetites after cheering all the morning for the football game on Thanksgiving Day. As we marched to the Dining Hall, each student wore a cheerful countenance, and jolly sentiments were passed along the ranks, for we knew what was in store for us. As we entered we saw on each table a roasted turkey with plenty of other good things which go to make up a Thanksgiving dinner. After "grace," all sat down and enjoyed the feast set before them with truly thankful hearts for the great blessings of fine health and good appetites. Several of the school officials were present and cheers were given for Mr. Friedman, Mr. Kensler, Mr. Henderson and Mr. Stauffer. Between the courses, the returns from the Brown-Carlisle football game were announced by Mr. Friedman, and were received with great applause. The menu, all the dishes of which were cooked to a nicety, was as follows:

Turkey-Giblet Dressing
Celery	Cranberries
Irish Potatoes		Corn
Sweet Potatoes	Tomatoes
Mixed Pickles
	Cakes
Pumpkin Pie	Apples	Grapes
Tea	Coffee

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

Santa Claus will soon be here.

Samuel Saunooke spent Sunday here with his friends.

The Normal pupils have named their city "Normal School City."

James Lyon is now working in town for Mr. Rudy, the printer.

The printers are busy working on the December number of "The Red Man."

The Shoshones are well represented in the Freshman Class; there are five.

Miss Sweeney chaperoned a few girls to the Catholic meeting in town Sunday evening.

Miss Matilda Zang entertained her Bible class of girls at her home on Saturday afternoon.

The small boys have organized a basketball team; Derias Skenandore was elected captain.

The printers are glad to have with them again Charles McDonald, who has been absent for a month.

The carpenters are repairing their shop; they are also doing some repairing in the different Quarters.

The board-walk around the track is now completed, and those wishing to run during the winter may do so.

Mr. and Mrs. Denny went to Philadelphia last Monday to purchase Christmas presents for the small boys.

Delphine Beaulieu writes from Moorestown, New Jersey, that she is now going to school and is getting along well.

Members of No. 9 schoolroom have named their city "Oglala." At their last meeting they elected George Vetterneck, mayor, and Minnie Blac hawk, policeman.

The afternoon speaker for the Sophomore Class was Harry Conroy, who gave a declamation on "Have Faith in Yourself."

The officers of Large Boys' Quarters have begun their drilling, so that the new officers may learn how to give the commands.

The girls in the dressmaking department have been divided into two classes, Miss Yoos taking one-half of the girls and Miss Searight the other half.

The girls who went to Miss Cowdry's home last Friday evening had a delightful time playing different kinds of games. They all appreciate the privilege and the kindness.

Saturday afternoon in the gymnasium, a game of basketball was played between the large boys and members of the Athletic Quarters, in which the latter won by a close score.

After an absence of more than a year, Grace Burnette returned to the school Wednesday; she reports that all the ex-students from Carlisle who are at Rosebud, South Dakota, are doing well.

Some of the members of the Y. W. C. A. have been taking one evening a week to get things ready for the Christmas box, which is to be sent to a Navajo Mission. The articles are: Dolls, aprons, work bags, and also a small amount of money.

Miss Shearer was the speaker at the Y. W. C. A. meeting last Sunday evening. Her subject was, "The Slums of New York City." She told in a very graphic manner how the children of that part of the great city spend some of their time and what is being done to help them to live in a better way.

Governor Tener Dines the Western Governors.

Governor Tener entertained the Western Governors at a formal dinner at the Executive Mansion during their visit to Harrisburg Wednesday. Besides the Governors' party, including eight Governors of Western States and representatives from other states, there were present the entire cabinet of Governor Tener and the Mayor of Harrisburg. Supt. M. Friedman was also a guest.

Indian Band Will Play at Reception for Governors.

Plans to bring the governors of the Western States, who are touring cities of the East to Carlisle, have been discontinued by the committee in charge of the arrangements for the entertainment of the party at Harrisburg.

Through an invitation issued by Superintendent Friedman, of the Indian School, it was originally planned to include Carlisle among the points of interest to which the visiting governors were to be taken. The proposed visit here included an inspection of the Indian School.

The Harrisburg program, however, will require all the time which the party will spend in that city, and the Carlisle plan was abandoned.

Instead of the western governors visiting the Indians, then, the Indians will visit the western governors. The Carlisle Indian band of forty pieces will go to Harrisburg on Tuesday and participate in the reception.

The Indian musicians will escort the automobile procession of governors and other guests to the Harrisburg Board of Trade headquarters, where luncheon will be served. Here Governor John K. Tener and Mayor John K. Royal will welcome the visitors.

Following the luncheon, the Indian band will accompany the gubernatorial party to the State Capitol, and furnish music for the public reception in the House of Representatives from 8 until 10.30 p. m.—Carlisle Volunteer.

Prominent Educators Visit the School.

The Fifty-eighth Annual Session of the Cumberland County Teachers' Institute which met in Carlisle last week, brought many interested visitors to the Indian School; among them were Dr. Henry R. Pattengill, Ex-Superintendent of Public Instruction of the State of Michigan, Dr. O. T. Corson, Ex-State Superintendent of Public Schools of Ohio, and Mr. J. C. Wagner, Superintendent of the Carlisle Public Schools. These gentlemen, who are all prominent in educational affairs, had an interesting talk with Superintendent Friedman, inspected the school, and were very much interested and pleased with everything they saw.

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

Savannah Beck, Class '09, is here for a few days visit.

After spending a few days with friends here, Katie Wolfe, Class '10, returned to Philadelphia Monday.

Through a letter we learn that Roy Tarbell, one of our former students is rapidly recovering from an attack of appendicitis.

Helen Gibson, a member of the Susan Longstreth Literary Society, came in for the reception looking well and happy.

The boys in the telegraphy department are showing great interest in the different methods of train-orders which Mr. Miller is teaching them.

Elizabeth George, who was recently promoted from Room 9 to Room 10, left here Monday morning for Bella, Pa., where she will attend public school.

Mr. Whitwell made good use of his motor during Institute week; he invariably had a number of passengers, but, as yet, he has not collected any fares.

Mrs. E. K. Miller and little son, Edgar Jr., left last Thursday evening for Mrs. Miller's home in Kansas. We are all very sorry to have them leave Carlisle.

Miss Jennie Gaither and Miss Johnston made a trip to Harrisburg last Tuesday to buy Christmas things for the girls. Mr. Henderson and Mrs. Canfield selected the presents for the boys; they also went to Harrisburg.

Mr. Whitwell read Van Dyke's beautiful thoughts on "My Work," and Marjorie Jackson gave an excellent essay on "Right Always Wins," at the opening exercises last Monday morning.

Mr. Whitwell and all the teachers, including the pupil teachers, attended the Teachers' Institute which was held in town last week. The lectures were closely followed. Those on Lincoln were especially interesting.

Last Thursday afternoon the pupil teachers had the pleasure of hearing Professor Noble of Dickinson College at the Teachers' Institute. He spoke very impressively of the duty of every teacher to lay the foundation of knowledge in a child's mind.

In the numerous letters which are received from our ex-students who are scattered over the country, they invariably mention the usual "happy Christmas time at Carlisle" and express a desire that they might be here to share in the joys of that delightful season.

The Rev. C. L. Sones preached a very beautiful sermon on "Glean Not from Other Fields," taken from the charming story of Ruth. This was in the nature of a farewell, as Mr. Sones is soon to be transferred to another field of labor. We are sorry, for we shall miss his helpful talks.

W. B. Zahn, an ex-student, writes from Morristown, S. D., where he is engaged in the photographic business, that he is "enjoying" a severe winter, and that he is doing well. The picture postal card on which he writes and which represents a busy street scene in Morristown, was the work of his studio.

At a recent meeting of the Shipensburg Y. M. C. A., the following program was rendered by our Y. M. C. A. members: Remarks, John Goslin, Clement Hill; vocal quartette, John Goslin, Clement Hill, William Garlow, and Sylvester Long; address, William Garlow; vocal solo, entitled "Death Song," Chippewa and English, John Goslin; address Sylvester Long; instrumental duet, Sylvester Long and John Goslin.

Susan-Invincible Reception.

The Susan-Invincible reception last Friday evening was a very enjoyable affair; the color scheme of red, white and blue was artistically carried out. The music was excellent, and the refreshments dainty and palatable.

There were three hundred present, one hundred and thirty-seven of whom were guests. The young ladies in their pretty gowns and the young men with their fine bearing made a splendid appearance as they went through the figures of the grand march which was led by Miss Iva Miller and Mr. James Thorpe.

The prizes were won by Miss Clara Melton and Mr. Leonard Hudson, Miss Blanche Jolly and Mr. Charles Coons. Mr. Friedman made the presentation speech and gave out the prizes.

NEW GUARDHOUSE AT CARLISLE.

With the completion of the modern, concrete guardhouse at the United States Indian Industrial School here this week, probably America's oldest prison, constructed by alien captives during the Revolutionary War, passed out of usefulness. Like a mute sentinel this historic stone building stands at the southern entrance to the school ground, in an excellent state of preservation. It may at some future time, be utilized as a museum for the school.

This building, erected in the year 1777, is one of the real historic landmarks of America. It is on the site of what was known as Washingtonburg, in the colonial days, and during the war for independence it was a very busy place. There was manufactured in this location military supplies of the most varied character for the Continental Army. Later the 'burg was transformed into a training school for soldiers—the country's first West Point.

Just as the name Washingtonburg has been completely lost to tradition, so have all vestiges of the extensive works disappeared from the topography of the locality. Alone remains the guard house, and it was used as such by the military post of recent years, and later by the Indian Industrial School. It was built by Hessian prisoners captured by Washington and his army at Trenton.

Associated with this old structure is one of the early residents of Carlisle—Molly Pitcher, the Heroine of Monmouth. After the war she is credited with spending many a day within the thick walls of the gloomy prison, cooking and washing for the prisoners.

The new guardhouse was constructed by students of the Indian School—Patriot, Harrisburg, Pa.

New Floors for Boys' Quarters.

The carpenters have laid a fine new floor in the disciplinarian's office. The entire building used as Large Boy's Quarters, containing 95 rooms, is receiving a new maple floor which will be oiled and waxed. This is a large task, but the carpenter boys are equal to it, and have already completed the reflooring of the first and second floors. These floors will be an added improvement to the building.

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

Delia Denny, an Outing student, writes that she is doing well in her studies.

Mazie Skye, Class '11, expects to spend the winter in Buffalo, New York.

The Sunday School classes are having a series of lessons on "Temperance."

Mary Belbeck, has been promoted from the mending class to the dress-making class.

Frances Roberts writes from Morristown, New Jersey, that she is well and happy,

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick E. Verney are living at Gallup, N. M., and getting along well.

Seneca Cooke who went home last spring has returned and entered the Sophomore Class.

Elmer Whitfield, one of our ex-students, is at his home in Idaho; he is working on his farm.

Guy Elm, who is now attending public school under the Outing, is getting along splendidly.

Aaron Minthorn, who is at his home in Oregon, sends best wishes to friends and classmates.

Mr. Clarence Faulkner, a graduate of Carlisle, is now attending to his farm near Ross Fork, Idaho.

Estella Bradley represented the Junior Class by giving a recitation entitled, "Truth and Truthfulness."

Noah Henry, who left for his home in Wisconsin last June, has returned to the school and is again enrolled as a student.

Fred K. Sickles, who is attending High School in Allentown, New Jersey, is getting along very well in his studies.

In a letter to a friend, Louis Webster states that he is getting along very well at his home in Nebraska.

In a letter, Lucy Lane, who is living in Oaklane, Pa., states that she likes her home; she is now attending school.

Mae H. Wheelock represented the Seniors in the auditorium by giving a recitation entitled "The Web of Life."

Amelia Wheelock, who left Carlisle some time ago, expects to get the position of cook at the Red Moon School in Oklahoma.

Afraid-of-the-Bear, Class 1909, is now employed as disciplinarian at the Cheyenne and Arapaho Indian School, Oklahoma.

Mrs. John Ransom, formerly Anna Bero, who is now living in New York, seems well contented with the duties in a home of her own.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Moore who are living in Green Bay, Wis., will soon leave for Oklahoma where they expect to make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick E. Verney, who are living in Gallup, N. M., expect to start for Alaska on the fifth of December; they send the season's greetings to their friends.

While the Carlisle Indian team was travelling from Brown University to the City of New York, they elected their captain, Mr. James Thorpe, for the season of 1912.

The announcement comes that Miss Oleana Yakoff, a former student at Carlisle, was married on Thanksgiving Eve to Mr. George Fisher of Seattle, Washington.

Our friend and former superintendent, Major Mercer, witnessed the Brown-Indian game; he congratulated Mr. Warner and the boys on the good record they have made this fall.

After they had finished the home letters last Friday afternoon, Mrs. Henderson took the Freshman Class out for a walk to the first farm where they visited the cow stables and the dairy.

Edward Eagle Bear, who is working and doing well at his trade in White River, S. Dak., wishes to be remembered through the "Arrow" to the printers.

Last Sunday morning in Sunday School, Mr. Whitwell and Mr. Nagey spoke on the subject of "Temperance." Afterwards the girls signed the pledge so that they may help the "Temperance League."

The Juniors have just finished reading the story of "Sir Launfal," and they are now reviewing it before they start on "Ivanhoe." "Sir Launfal" is a beautiful story but they are very anxious to read "Ivanhoe".

David Bird, who went to his home in North Carolina last summer, has returned to school to resume his studies and his trade. His tribe mates were glad to see him looking so well. He had good news to tell to each one.

Savannah Beck, Class '09, who is here for a short time, brought with her a party of intelligent looking boys and girls from Cherokee. She also brought a basket full of beautiful holly which she distributed among her friends.

Thanksgiving morning we were awakened by strains of music which came to us softened by the distance. Mr. Stauffer, with the band boys, arose early to usher in the great day with beautiful melody, and we were all made happy thereby.

Henry K. Fox, one of our ex-students, writes from Knoxville, Illinois, that he is now married and employed in a brick factory at a salary of $130 per month. He expresses gratitude for having attended Carlisle, for it is here he learned his trade.

Thanksgiving Day at Carlisle is always one of joy and feasting, and last Thursday was no exception to that rule. Employees and students realized how much they have for which to be thankful, and many expressions of deep-felt gratitude were heard on every side.

The program rendered Sunday evening by the Catholics was as follows: Song, congregation; piano solo, Anna Bebeau; reading, Lillian Walker; instrumental trio, Alfred LaMont, Jonas Homer and Juan Herrarra; vocal solo, Ernestine Venne; piano solo, Mary Pleets; talks on the Brown-Indian football game by James Thorpe and Henry Roberts.

Y. M. C. A.

The Rev. Dr. James B. McClure, missionary evangelist of Cumberland Valley, gave an interesting discourse on "He gave His only Begotten Son that we should be saved." There was a large attendance and after the discourse a number responded to a call for voluntary prayers. Mr. Nagay was on hand and cooperated with the president in conducting the meeting. Mrs. Foster, Miss Hagan, and Miss Emery were visitors.
