CARLISLE INDIANS ON THE FOOTBALL ROLL OF HONOR.

Selected By Walter Camp and Others Experts For All-American Teams.

Members of the Carlisle Indian School football team, which has this year completed one of its most successful seasons, notwithstanding the fact that the season was begun with comparatively inexperienced material and a very imposing and difficult schedule, has been given very favorable recognition by those who have selected this year's All-America teams. Walter Camp, who is considered the most careful authority on this subject and whose All-America teams are most universally recognized, places two of the Carlisle students on his second All-America team. Bush is given a place at guard and Guyon as half back. Camp's first and second teams are as follows:

FIRST ELEVEN.

End	Hogsett, Dartmouth.
Tackle	Ballin, Princeton.
Guard	Penock, Harvard.
Center	Des Jardien, Chicago.
Guard	Brown, Navy.
Tackle	Talbot, Yale.
End	Merrilat, Army.
Quarter	Huntington, Colgate.
Half back	Craig, Michigan.
Half back	Brickley, Harvard.
Full back	Mahan, Harvard.

SECOND ELEVEN

End	Fritz, Cornell.
Tackle	Butler, Wisconsin.
Guard	Busch, Carlisle.
Center	Marting, Yale.
Guard	Ketcham, Yale.
Tackle	Weyand, Army.
End	Hardwick, Harvard.
Quarter	Wilson, Yale.
Halfback	Spiegel, Wash. and Jeff.
Halfback	Guyon, Carlisle.
Fullback	Eicheniaub, Notre Dame.

The Outing Magazine, which has a very reliable way of preparing the football roll of honor, has placed three of the Carlisle students on its roll of honor, namely: Garlow at center; Welsh, quarter back; Guyon, half back. The following article is clipped from The New York Times:

The football roll of honor, compiled annually from the selections of the leading college coaches in the country by Outing, shows a list of fifty-six players, of whom twenty-one come from the West and thirty-five from the East. In selecting the roll the compilers have eliminated all players who have not been selected by at least two coaches. The method is held to be the most logical solution to the problem of giving each deserving player his proper due, and shows the consensus of opinion of the combined list of experts as against an individual. The roll follows:

ENDS.

O'Hearn, Cornell.

THE MERCER RECEPTION.

Awarding of Prizes one of the Features of the Evening.

The social events of the year at Carlisle are the receptions given by the four literary societies. That they are "events" was evidenced last Saturday evening when the Mercers, tastefully and becomingly gowned, received their guests in the beautifully decorated Gymnasium. The president, Lillian Simons, opened the program by giving a speech of welcome, and extending to every one the season's greetings.

The customary awarding of prizes to the "best dancers" was observed, and those who were fortunate enough to win the favors were Anna Roulette and Bruce Goesback; Cornelia and Peter Eastman; Olive Standing Bear and Alvina Connell; Emily Poodry and Fred Schenadore; Lizzie Allen and Louis Deon; Anna La Fernier and Mr. Stanley Bahney.

CARLISLE INDIAN TO HELP BEAUTIFY SOUTHERN TOWN.

Mr. Nicholas Longfeather, an Apache Indian, arrived in Rome Friday afternoon and will stay here a week in the interest of the "city beautiful" idea. He was carried by Secretary Daniel, of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, to the hill on East Second Street, where terrace work is being done. Mr. Longfeather expressed his approval of the work. Yesterday afternoon he was escorted by Secretary Daniel to the office of the mayor, where he was introduced to Mayor Yancey and other prominent people of the city. He was also shown the grounds near the Carnegie Library and expressed an opinion that there was an ideal place for a public garden and park. He will also point out other places suitable for parks and recreation grounds.

Mr. Longfeather was born in Oklahoma, where from his boyhood he had been intensely interested in the trees and plants. He was graduated from Carlisle Indian School in 1907 and took a post-graduate course at Syracuse University in Syracuse, N. Y. For the past two years he has been in Atlanta, where he is the head of the firm of Longfeather, Shepard & Company. All the members of the firm are experts in tree surgery, forestry, and landscape gardening. Mr. Longfeather states that he himself has never failed to cure a plant or tree which he had been employed to attend and is emphatic in saying that he believes there is no excuse for failure.

Mr. Longfeather was impressed by the fact that there are no public parks or recreation grounds, or playgrounds in Rome. He will aid Secretary Daniel in drawing up plans for a "city beautiful", which will be presented for the consideration of the mayor and council at an early date. —Rome (Ga.) Tribune-Herald.

INDIAN GIRLS AT DICKINSON COLLEGE Y. W. C. A.

They Conduct Meeting And Give Some Splendid Talks.

The Y. W. cabinet girls and several other association members attended and took part in the Dickinson College Y. W. C. A. meeting at Metzger last Thursday evening. Rose Lyons told of ancient customs of worship and the present day work that is being done among her tribe, the Chippewas; Marjorie Jemison, accompanied on the piano by Theresa Lay, sang "Beautiful Land on High;" Cora Battice told the "Story of the Queen of Sheba;" Jennie Ross led in prayer, and Myrtle Thomas read the scripture lesson.

The meeting was an earnest of the fine feeling of friendship and cooperation which exists between the Christian Associations of Dickinson College and the Indian School.

THE Y. M. C. A.

By Hiram Chase.

The meeting was led by Boyd Crowe. Hymns were sung, and Clement Hill offered a prayer. John Gibson gave a reading entitled "Jesus Beginning His Work." Mr. Dickey gave an address on "What Constitutes a Complete Man." Short but instructive talks were given by William Garlow, Newton Thompson, Walter Bradly, and Nelson Simons. Nelson Simons closed the meeting with a prayer.

Peter Greensky was the organist.

PERSONALS ABOUT OUTING STUDENTS

Christopher Young is enjoying the winter on a farm near Mechanicsburg, Pa.

Agnes Hatch writes from Crawford, Pa., that she is attending school regularly.

Sarah Powell, living with Mrs. A. B. Golze, Narberth, Pa., where she is attending public school, won a medal for perfect marks in spelling.

THE Y. W. C. A.

By Cora Battice.

Miss Elliott, Y. W. C. A. secretary of the Dickinson Association and one of our Bible Class teachers, came out Sunday evening and told us the story of the "Other Wise Men." With her were the other Bible class teachers, one of whom, Miss Wagg, sang a pretty solo.

The meeting was in charge of Florence Renville, who read for the scripture lesson a part of the 27th Psalm. Rose Peazoni told the "Story of Dorcas," and Florence Edwards gave a sketch of a "Bohemian Immigrant Girl." After the Mizpah, a few minutes were spent very pleasantly in getting acquainted.

Educator Inspects Carlisle's Work.

Prof. Robert Fritsch, of Allentown, Pa., who is spending some time with Rev. Barnard, of Carlisle, was an interested visitor at the school last Monday forenoon. Prof. Fritsch is a member of the faculty of Muhlenberg College and was impressed by his observations at Carlisle.

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

We are looking forward to the Merry Christmas time.

Mr. Hathaway is instructing the boys in military tactics.

The more advanced painters are taking carriage and sign painting.

Last Saturday the girls were very busy doing their Christmas shopping.

The small boys have elected Harold Gilbert captain of their basketball team.

The girls in the Domestic Art Department are taking lessons in tatting.

James Crane has just been promoted from second to first sergeant of Troop C.

George Cushing, who won the cross-country race, received a handsome gold watch.

A cement walk to the new building back of the Large Boys' Quarters is being laid.

The Junior Varsity football boys had their pictures taken in the studio last Saturday.

Several of our boys took advantage of the fine day Saturday by going for a walk to Cave Hill.

The Dickinson girls very graciously showed their rooms to our Y. W. C. A. girls last Thursday evening.

The Indians on the White Earth Reservation are receiving their annual payment of $18 per capita.

The physical culture classes are now learning the folk-lore dances. They are also drilling with dumb-bells.

In No. 11 the Sophomores have finished Foreman's Civics. They are now ready to review United States history.

The Freshman Class, with their teacher, are planning on having a Christmas program and a tree of their own in No. 11.

Dr. Friedman and Gus Welch each made a speech at the Dickinson football banquet and were enthusiastically applauded.

Mary Bailey, Freshman, and president of the Susan Longstreth Literay Society, left Monday for Philadelphia, where she will take a course in nursing at the Kensington Hospital.

DR. SANBORN SPEAKS ON INDIANS.

Gives Valuable Information on Indian Character and Accomplishment.

Dr. John W. Sanborn delivered an interesting address to the school in the Auditorium on Wednesday evening, December tenth. The entire student body was present, and from the applause which greeted his address at a number of places, his audience was in entire sympathy, and greatly pleased and enthused with what he said.

The speaker was for years an active worker among the Seneca Indians of New York, where he translated a number of the best hymns from the English into the Seneca language. This book is now used among the Senecas very extensively and is a great aid to those who are spreading Christianity among these people.

Dr. Sanborn is a profound student of Indian affairs, was commissioner in charge of the Indian exhibit from New York at the Columbian Exposition in Chicago, and lectures and writes extensively on Indian affairs. He spoke of the Indians' history, customs, character, accomplishments, and future prospects. He is a graduate of Dartmouth, and although very loyal to his alma mater, he said that the Carlisle Indians' victory over Dartmouth in New York pleased him because of its indications of ability on the part of the Indians.

Dr. Sanborn is accomplishing much toward cementing the bonds of sympathy and mutual respect between the white man in America and its native Americans. He is a believer in the Government's work of education and a sincere friend of the Carlisle School. His lecture was eloquent and full of valuable information, and showed a first-hand knowledge of the subject on which he spoke.

NOTES FROM DR. SANBORN'S ADDRESS

Dr. Sanborn is a warm friend of the Indians; he loves them and works with his whole heart to help them.

"The Carlisle Indians are known throughout the United States for the splendid work they are doing."

Speaking of the football team, Dr. Sanborn said: "I am still loyal to Dartmouth, but I am always glad when Carlisle wins."

In Dr. Sanborn's talk last Wednesday evening there were many strong thoughts which we should remember with profit to ourselves.

Dr. Sanborn sang "Nearer My God to Thee" in the Seneca language. He also counted in the native tongue, which sounded queer to many of us.

"To produce good results depends upon the kind of material used. Mr. Warner is a good coach, because he has the best material in the world with which to carry out his ideas."

CARLISLE Y. W. C. A. WORK PRAISED BY GENERAL BOARD.

A Prosperous Year of Study And Service by Its Members.

The following letter was received by Miss Myrtle Thomas, one of the student officers of the Carlisle Indian School Young Women's Christian Association, from Miss Eleanor Richardson, the Student Secretary of the Association for Delaware, Maryland and Pennsylvania. The girls feel that their Association has been making very definite progress both in solid growth and in the accomplishment of the serious social and religious service work for which the organization stands. The letter follows:

MY DEAR MYRTLE!—Your Association is very much alive, isn't it? Your splendid letter makes me realize just what good work you are doing. I shall send extracts of it on to the North American Student.

I am looking forward to visiting you all in April, and am one with you in hoping that your Association work will be stronger this year than ever before. Will you please give the cabinet girls my best wishes.

Very sincerely yours,

ELEANOR RICHARDSON.

NOTES ABOUT EX-STUDENTS.

Ida Bartlett is visiting friends in Lewiston, Idaho.

Nellie Boutong is attending school at Cass Lake, Minn.

Solomon Norin writes that he is assistant engineer at the Fort Totten School.

Anna Melton, Class 12, is attending school at Mt. Saint Mary, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

A letter received from Mrs. Peters, formerly Katie Wesh, informs us that she is now the happy mother of a dear little baby boy.

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

We greatly enjoyed Miss Elliot's talk on "The Other Wise Man," which she gave at the Y. W. C. A. meeting Sunday evening.

Mr. Stauffer has organized a trombone octette, which will play on the tower of the Lutheran Church in town early on Christmas morning.

The "C" men of the football squad were guests of honor at the banquet given by the Dickinson College Athletic Association last Friday evening.

The skating pond has been flooded and we are patiently waiting for Jack Frost to come and do his duty in order that we may have skating during the holidays.

Joe Guyon, Indian left halfback, and Elmer Buch, Indian right guard, won places on the second team of Walter Camp's "All American" football selection.

Superintendent Friedman announced in the Auditorium on Wednesday evening that there is a larger number of new students entering Carlisle this year than ever before.

Last Monday night the candidates for the basketball team reported to the Gymnasium to prepare for their annual game with the University of Pennsylvania, which is to be played at Philadelphia, January 10th.

SUCH IS FAME.

Will the Peaceable Victory of General Scott Be Forgotten?

Brig. Gen. Hugh L. Scott has suppressed the uprising of Navajo Indians without firing a shot or even concentrating a force of troops against them. He was familiar with the habits and customs of the tribe, knew their grievance, and was acquainted with their chief. He went alone to the Navajo leader and induced him to abandon his hostile plans.

This was a notable victory, achieved by conciliation and diplomacy, yet of such stuff is fame made that the incident soon will be forgotten, whereas if Gen. Scott had led an army force against the redskins and subdued them in a bloody battle he probably would have been acclaimed as a military hero. — Wheeling (W. Va.) Register.

PLANS BEING PREPARED FOR INDIAN HOSPITAL.

A Maintenance Fund of Nearly Half a Million Dollars Secured from Sale of Lands.

Now that the sale of the remnant lands of the Kiowa, Comanche, Apache, and Wichita Reservations in Oklahoma has been consummated, the proceeds of which are to go into the Kiowa Indian Agency hospital fund to be used for maintenance of the hospital which is to be erected near the Fort Sill Indian School, Representative Scott Ferris, who was instrumental in securing the appropriation of $40,000 to begin the work and later bringing about the remnant land sale, has taken up with the Indian Bureau the matter of getting the actual work of construction under way.

As a result of his efforts in this direction the cooperation of the Indian Bureau has been secured and the plans for the construction of the hospital approved. Sixty days time will be consumed in advertising for bids and thirty days additional time to make an award of the contract for construction. The plans have been drawn up in such manner as to provide for additional construction work and additions to the hospital at any time that may be determined upon. The maintenance fund, derived out of the proceeds of the remnant land sale, it is estimated, will amount to between $400,000 and $500,000, although the actual figures have not yet been compiled.

Statistics show that in 1911 the superintendent of the Kiowa Agency had under his jurisdiction 4,081 Indians, 95 per cent of whom must be considered incompetent to conduct ordinary business affairs. These are scattered through 108 townships or over an area of seventy by ninety miles in extent, which makes it impossible for them to receive proper medical care, as the agency physician cannot cover this territory sufficiently to keep in touch with his patients. Trachoma, tuberculosis, various other diseases, and the usual per cent of painful accidents prevail among them. When within reach of an agency physician they call on him for treatment if the medicine man or woman does not first secure an influence over them. If they have individual funds the nearest practicing physician is called, and in the case of necessary operations a transfer is frequently made to a hospital in one of the neighboring cities. These cases are expensive and the Indians cannot afford the financial drain on their limited resources.

It is pointed out by Representative Ferris, who has long been interested in securing this institution for the Southwest country, that the death rate among the Indian children is high as there is no proper place provided where they can be treated under trained supervision, and the physician's efforts usually fail because his directions are not followed. The establishment and maintenance of an Indian hospital should be delayed no longer. Once in operation it will prove a great blessing to these people and will be fully appreciated by them. It will also provide a place where their own language is spoken, enabling them to explain intelligently their sufferings and bring them all the relief that science can command, free of cost.

It is gratifying to Representative Ferris that he has at last succeeded in securing the positive assurance of the Indian Bureau that the advertisement for bids will go forward at once and the contract awarded as soon as the bids are in.

This institution will be a handsome structure to start with, but it is to be enlarged and improved upon from time to time until it is an institution of more than local importance.

DESCRIBES INDIAN LIFE.

Commissioner Cato Sells Talks Before Washington Association.

"The Life of North American Indians," was the subject of a talk by Commissioner of Indian Affairs Cato Sells, before a meeting of the Washington auxiliary of the National Indian Association yesterday afternoon. The meeting was held at the home of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Richard L. Hoxie, 1632 K street northwest.

Commissioner Sells stated that there were many schemes advanced to cheat the Indian of his land. In many cases, he said, trustees of the land had tried to buy it from the Indians. An outline of the means taken by the Government to protect the Indians from such practices was given by the speaker.— Washington Herald.

FUTURE OF INDIAN IS HUGE PROBLEM.

His Ultimate Destiny Is a Question Yet to Be Answered.

Devils Lake, N. D., Nov. 24.—"The Indians present a big problem. What will become of them is a question that is not yet answered. Their future fills me with apprehension and sadness," said Gen. H. M. Creel, of Oklahoma, supervisor at large of Indian reservations, speaking of the redskins. General Creel is in Devils Lake on a leave of absence. Since his graduation he has known Indian life intimately, first as an officer in the army that aided in subduing them and as a student of their habits.

Affection for Indians.

"I have a real affection for the Indians, and it is but natural," said General Creel. "They were a great novelty to me when I first came among them a young man just out of West Point. We had many exciting skirmishes, and after the war, when I came to know them they were more of a wonder. Their knowledge of nature, their keen scent and skill at trailing seemed marvelous.

"Before the process of civilization began there was much about the Indian to admire. He was slow and deliberate in action, and he did not know how to lie or deceive. They did not jangle or quarrel, but if they thought they had been wronged they considered the matter judiciously, and when they were sure they were being imposed upon they went out like brave men to protect their rights."

Points Out Exceptions.

General Creel also pointed out some encouraging exceptions. Graduates from Carlisle have distinguished themselves, and many important offices are held by Indians," he said. "In the government schools many Indian graduates hold positions of disciplinarians, industrial teachers, seamstresses, etc. The Indians have a gift for music.

"Sometimes queer requests for aid come to the officials, said General Creel. One girl in writing for a new wagon said: 'Please send me another wagon. Our old wagon is worn out and we will soon have to walk on our feet.'"

According to General Creel about one-half of the Indians in the United States reside in Oklahoma.— Fargo (N. Dak.) Forum.
