PROF. WHITWELL POPULAR HERE.

Gold Ring And Silver Set Are Presented Him.

From the Carlisle Evening Sentinel.

That Prof. John Whitwell, who has been transferred from the Indian School here to Cushman Indian School in the State of Washington, was popular and highly esteemed at the Carlisle institution there is not any doubt whatever. It is attested to most substantially by the fact that a meeting of the student body tendered him a farewell meeting in the auditorium Thursday night, April 30. It came as a great surprise to Mr. Whitwell. At this meeting an elegant ring was presented as a token of friendship between students and him.

On Friday before he and his family left Carlisle the school employees presented them with a solid silver set as a token of the respect and love the employees had for him as a superior officer and associate employee. They bade him Godspeed and are very sure that Carlisle has never had a more faithful employee and a better friend of the Indians does not live. While he was leaving the band serenaded him.

The students and employees at Carlisle feel that Carlisle's loss means a great gain to Cushman.

COMMENDATION FOR TWO OUTING STUDENTS.

Mrs. David R. Lippincott, of Moorestown, N. J., writes:

"Mayme Hall has lived with us for nearly a year and a half, and by her obedience, pleasing manners, and willingness has endeared herself to all.

"I consider Mayme competent to keep house, with the oversight one would naturally give to one's own seventeen-year old daughter. She is clean and neat in person and habits, and a good plain cook. She can wash, iron, sweep, and dust, and we have had a very pleasant time working together in all our round of household duties."

Mrs. W. P. Allen, of Folcroft, Pa., writes:

"I think it only fair to Agnes Hatch to let you know of her excellent work in school and home this winter. She started in school the last of September and made excellent averages all through the term, rarely getting below 90 in any branch, and more often above 95. She is much liked by both teachers and pupils. At home here, we are very fond of her, and her ability in her work is very pleasing indeed."

A TRIP TO BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY.

By John E. Gibson.

In brief I shall tell of my trip to the Annual Conference of Y. M. C. A. Presidents, which was held at Bucknell University last week. This has been one of the many inspiring events of my school days. There were speakers from several of the larger universities and from the International Committee of New York.

There were sixty-nine institutions of learning represented at the conference, where problems with which the associations are confronted were discussed.

Mr. Evans, General Secretary of the University of Pennsylvania, outlined clearly the mission of Y. M. C. A. Associations. He said that the associations are not here only for social service, employment bureaus, etc., but "are here to manifest the spirit of God, to represent Him in colleges, schools, and in the community wherein we reside."

Employ thy time well, if thou meanest to gain leisure; and since thou art not sure of a minute, throw not away an hour.—Franklin.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON CHAPEL SERVICE

By Rev. M. A. Kennelly.

Theme: "Goodness not good enough."

Text: And five of them were wise and five were foolish.—Matt. 25-2.

In some sense the five foolish virgins were friends of the bridegroom. They stand not exactly as the representatives of the bad, but they were not good enough—something was seriously wrong with their goodness.

These virgins show up five types of defective goodness:

1. Ecclesiasticism without righteousness.
2. A morality without godliness.
3. A sentiment without sacrifice.
4. Knowledge without obedience.
5. Enthusiasm without perseverance.

No man is good enough excepting he is right with God. No man is moral enough excepting his morality is based on Christ Jesus. Sentiment amounts to naught except it is followed up with sacrifice.

Knowledge is not good enough excepting his knowledge has in it the cry of a penitent sinner, "God be merciful to me as a sinner." Knowledge may be the "Golden Lamp," but the golden lamp must have in it the oil of grace and give out the light of truth. Ruskin says: "All knowledge is lost which ends in the knowing." Every truth we know is a candle given us to work by.

Enthusiasm is not enough, except we persevere.

THE GIRLS' HOLY NAME SOCIETY.

By Teresa Martell.

The Society met Sunday evening at the usual hour, and the following program was rendered:

Prayer and hymn, society; Bible reading, Eva Smith; vocal solo, Mary Shoman; hymn, society; reading, Julia Pena; vocal duet, Myrtle Chilson, and Teresa Martell. Mother DeChantel gave a short talk, and then the meeting closed with a prayer.

ATHLETIC NOTES.

The lacrosse team deserve a lot of credit for playing the Naval Academy a tie game last Thursday at Annapolis, the score being 3 to 3. The game would have been a victory for Carlisle but for a bit of careless work in the last half minute of play.

At Baltimore, Johns Hopkins defeated Carlisle at lacrosse on Saturday by a score of 7 to 2.

To-morrow the track season closes with a dual meet with Lafayette upon our field. Lafayette defeated Swarthmore last Saturday and last year was winner of the Tri-State Intercollegiate Championship.

The lacrosse team plays Lehigh at South Bethlehem to-morrow.

Annual Class, Track, and Field Meet.

The class championship in track and field sports was won by the Freshman Class in the annual class meet last Monday. The Freshmen scored a total of 63½ points and had such a walkover that the contest did not create the same interest as in former years when several classes had a chance for championship honors. Room No. 9 won second place with a total of 29½ points, and Room No. 6 was third with 23½ points. The other classes scored as follows: No. 7, 10½ points; No. 5, 5 points; Juniors, 4 points; No. 4, 2 points. None of the other classes scored any points.

Joe Guyon was the individual star of the meet, as he scored first place in seven events and tied for first in another event, thereby scoring a total of 39 points for the Freshmen. This is the largest number of points ever scored by an individual at this school. Hamilton of Room 6 was the second largest individual point winner, with a total of 15 points, Tibbetts of No. 11 was third with 12 points, and Phillips of No. 7 was fourth with 10½ points.

Mrs. La Flesche Takes up Work for Society of American Indians.

Mrs. R. B. LaFlesche, who has had charge of the Outing work here for the last two years, left Carlisle on the 22nd of April for Washington, D. C., where she has taken up important work connected with the Society of American Indians.

Mrs. LaFlesche was an efficient, painstaking employee, deeply interested in the welfare of the Indian youth and earnest and unselfish in her efforts to help them. We shall miss her greatly, but feel that with the Society of American Indians her work will be in a larger field and that her influence and efforts will reach a greater number of her people.

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

THE LITERARY SOCIETIES.

THE STANDARDS
By Henry P. Sutton.

The president called the house to order, and after the singing of the society song the members proceeded to select a question for debate, which was, Resolved: "That the United States should intervene in the Mexican trouble." Marcus Carabajal, Edward Morrin, and Henry Sutton upheld the affirmative side, while R. W. Johnson, Alvis Morrin, Moses Komah, and James Garvie spoke for the negative side. There was no decision given, it being a voluntary debate.

Miss Hagan and Miss Burns were the official visitors and they both gave splendid talks. Hiram Chase also gave us much encouragement.

The meeting closed with a piano solo by Henry Sutton.

THE SUSANS.
By Mamie Mt. Pleasant.

The society opened with a song.

The program: Recitation, Anna LaFerner; vocal solo, Myrtle Thomas; anecdotes, Tresse Martell; essay, Julia Day; piano solo, Elsie Kopay; vocal duet, Maude Cooke and Margaret Gray; reading, Martha Waters; instrumental duet, Myrtle Chilson and Jeanette Pappan.

Miss Kaup was the official visitor. Other visitors were Dr. Stamp, Messrs. Walter Bradby, George Nash, Louis Deon, and Miss Nellie Hallway.

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS.

Post cards were received from William Winneshiek, telling of his pleasant surroundings at Lebanon, Pa.

Mr. Grey sent three teams up to the first farm in order to finish the plowing while the weather is favorable.

On account of so many girls having gone to the country, the Sunday school classes were reorganized last Sunday.

Mary Bailey writes from Philadelphia that she is getting along nicely in her work. She expects to visit Carlisle soon.

Many cards have been received from Louis Brown stating that he is well satisfied with his position at Toledo, Iowa.

The small boys have organized a quartet, composed of Levi Quickbear, John Beartail, Christopher Young and John Sampson.

Martha Cornelius left last Sunday evening for her home in Wisconsin. She accompanied Mrs. Brown and children as far as Chicago.

The boys of the lacrosse team enjoyed the trip to Annapolis. While there, they visited the Capital and the grave of John Paul Jones.

Kenneth King, of the Senior Class, was the speaker at the chapel exercises last Monday. The title of his excellent speech was "Opportunity."

The junior class had the pleasure and profit of visiting the Carlisle Shoe Factory, where they saw how different kinds of shoes are made by machinery.

John Gibson, President of our Y. M. C. A., attended the Y. M. C. A. convention of student presidents, which was held at Bucknell University last week.

The Domestic Art Department has a new model of next winter's uniform drafted. The separate companies are to have different styles of blue serge skirts.

A letter comes from Nan Saunooke, Class '11, who is at her home in Cherokee, N. C., stating that the fruit trees have blossomed and the prospects are that the crop will be a bountiful one.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Each week THE ARROW publishes notes about returned students, usually securing the information from communications written by them to the school.

Occasionally we have received letters contradicting the statements contained in these items, especially about present employment.

Heretofore, while regretting occurrences of this kind, we have felt that no intentional misrepresentation was manifested, and because of this view we have passed silently by such situations.

But now we have proof to our satisfaction of a specific and flagrant case of purely intentional misrepresentation.

The following letter has been received from a Wisconsin reservation employee and clearly puts in its true light the situation created by such misrepresentation:

"In looking over THE ARROW of April 17, I see the following item:

"——— writes from Lac du Flambeau, Wis., that he is employed as carpenter."

"It leads me to wonder if the report of many of the students is so much astray as the report from this one is. I have seen —— almost daily for the last six or seven months, and I have not known him to do any work of any possible kind. I doubt very much if he has earned to exceed $50 or $60 since he returned from Carlisle, though he has had abundant opportunity.

"It is too bad that they should send such articles for publication, as it has a bad effect with the former students who know differently. —— is not dissipated and should make good use of his time. A student of his stamp does his people a great deal of injury.

"Different times when I have been urging some of the young Indians to go to school they have pointed him out as an example of students after being away to school.

"Probably a personal letter to him might do some good.

"It is too bad that a young man like —— should not only waste his time and opportunity but be a positive injury to his race by the example he sets.

"I am interested in the welfare of the Indians so I hope you will pardon this communication."

Some time ago this school sent out post cards to returned students, and asked them to supply certain information about themselves.

From the replies to these cards we prepared a number of "Notes About Returned Students," and the note referred to in the foregoing letter was one of them. We had relied upon the student's honesty and published his statement, believing it was true.

We feel that in occasional instances we are imposed upon, and we are going to strike back good and hard.

Hereafter, we shall publish the name and give special prominence to the contradiction of any untruthful statements concerning ex-students.

We shall consider it a favor to be notified of future inaccuracies. In order to receive attention, all letters must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

THE PRINT SHOP.

By John E. Gibson.

The details have been much reduced because of the desire for country life these fine days.

The question we printers frequently hear is "When will the SENIOR ARROW be out?" The answer to this is that it will be out next week.

The following was received from The Spectator, a monthly high school magazine published in Minneapolis, Minn., regarding THE ARROW: "You are doing well to get out such a splendid paper every week by yourselves. We expect to take several suggestions from it for our new paper next fall."

THE TAILOR SHOP.

By Fred Ettawageshik.

"A stitch in time saves nine."

The more advanced apprentices are taking short lessons in drafting.

During the last week we sent to the warehouse twenty-five coats and forty pairs of pants.

The pant makers are now working on the white suits for the dairy boys, while the others are making uniforms.

HAMPTON'S ANNIVERSARY.

Hon. William H. Taft was elected president of the Hampton Institute Board of Trustees to succeed the late Robert C. Ogden, who had served for many years the cause of education through Hampton. Mr. Taft, at the forty-sixth anniversary exercises of Hampton Institute, presented to the trustees the candidates for certificates and academic diplomas. He declared that the Negroes should use the economic freedom that they have and work along an honest, industrious line.

Dr. Samuel C. Mitchell, president of the Virginia Medical College in Richmond, delivered the "Robert C. Ogden Memorial Address." He paid a hearty tribute to the man who had had an abiding faith in the common man, in the common school, and in public taxation as a means of improving economic and social conditions.

"Gifts to the nation," an evening pageant, showing in picture and song the contributions of the Indian and the Negro to American life; a demonstration of Hampton's practical training for farm life; an automobile tour among "the schools in the background;" a "pilgrimage" of Northern friends; Dr. Hollis B. Frisill's annual report as principal on Hampton's vital relation to the public; an address by Mr. Taft on "The Mexican Question"—these were some interesting incidents of Hampton's anniversary.

THE Y. M. C. A. MEETING.

By Nelson R. Lay

There was a joint meeting of the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A.

Hiram Chase led. A hymn opened the meeting, after which the following program was rendered: Prayer, Mr. Nagey; music, quartet; Scripture reading, Hiram Chase; hymn, congregation; Bible verses, members; hymn, congregation; address, Mr. Nagey; duet, "Carlisle," Lucy Charles and Nancy Peters.

Mr. Nagey gave a very interesting talk on "Courage and Ambition." He said that now is our time to reach out for our highest ambition. Our highest ambition should be to become strong, Christian young men and women.
