MYSTERY OF THE LOST COLONISTS.

AMONG the great mysteries of the world's history is that of the complete disappearance from Roanoke Island in 1587 of White's colony of a hundred men, women, and children who had come from England to settle on this continent, under the direction of Sir Walter Raleigh. These colonists passed as had the ancient Israelites, into utter oblivion. What became of them, whether they were all killed by the Indians or whether they adopted the Indian modes of life and left descendants, has not been ascertained, and never can be to a certainty, unless reliable records of the event unexpectedly turn up.

The theory has just been revived by a special Indian agent for the Federal Government that the present Croatan Indians of North Carolina are descended from the lost English colonists. This assumption is based not only on the traditions of the Croatans but also on their manners, such as their use of English words, medicines, and cross-bows of the time of Queen Elizabeth.

It is not at all impossible that the settlers of White's colony at Roanoke, cut off as they were from all connections with civilized Europeans, should have joined the camps of the Indians, either voluntarily or involuntarily, and should have left descendants of mixed blood. What seems strange, however, if such an assumption is made, is that no records or certain evidences of the new life entered upon by the colonists have been handed down to posterity.

If the English settlers actually joined the Indians, they must have had some remarkable experiences in the wilds of America, and accordingly must have had the overpowering desire of civilized man to relate in so many written words some of their stirring adventures. Should any reasonable number of them have survived at all, it seems that these survivors would have been able to educate their descendants sufficiently to make possible the passing on of written records. Here there comes in a possibility, of course, that the Elizabethan colonists themselves could not write, much less teach others to, and that they changed their modes of life entirely to conform with those of the savages.

Even should the present day Croatan Indians be descendants in part of the Roanoke colonists, it is certain for one thing, that the discovery of the fact at this late date would not go a very long way toward lending any assistance that the settlers of 1587 may have needed most urgently over here in the wild New World in which they were swallowed up.—Harrisburg Star-Independent.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES.

(Held over from last week's issue because of lack of space.)

A considerable number of new students journeyed out to Cave Hill Sunday and spent the afternoon boat riding and swimming.

We are sorry that some of the impressions received by the new students on their arrival here were not favorable, for we old students think that it is great here. We should try to make them change their minds, so that they may never regret having come here.

The Methodist girls and a few of the boys that stayed for the service enjoyed the sermon given by a missionary from China, who told how the women are treated in that country.

A FIRST-FAMILY REUNION.

IN a few weeks one of the most interesting reunions of our first families will be held at Lawrence, Kans. Here the Society of American Indians will meet, and the stalwarts of the remaining tribes in this country will gather, smoke the pipe of peace with the paleface, and urge certain reforms and certain uplifts for the redmen who are left as wards of Uncle Sam.

While the glory of Poor Lo has departed in a great measure through death and legislation favored by the Great White Fathers of the United States, the Indian has shown a remarkable turn in other directions. The schools that have been established to educate the copper-colored son of the forest have resulted in broadening his mind, cultivating his intellect, and arousing a passion in the red skin for even the higher education.

There is hardly a branch of sport, for instance, in which the red man is not a paramount figure. Baseball knows with pride its Chief Bender and its Chief Meyers. Jim Thorpe's masterly work at the last Olympic games gave the American Indian a place in records that no Caucasian has ever equaled; the same is true in football and other pastimes.

But while the racial characteristics of the Indian make for his prominence in sports, it is in the field of erudition that his mark has been the shining one. A Senator from Kansas, Charles W. Curtis, is part Indian, and Senator Owen, of Oklahoma, boasts of the Indian blood in his veins. There is Dr. Charles A. Eastman, the noted Sioux writer, who married soon after his graduation from college, Imogene Gurney, also an author; Representative Charles D. Carter, of Oklahoma, is a Chicksaw; Arthur C. Parker, the State archaeologist, of New York, is a Seneca; Dr. Carlos Montezuma, of Chicago, a splendid physician, is an Apache; Marie L. B. Baldwin, an able lawyer, is a Chippewa, and there are scores of others in professional and business life who are full-blooded Indians.

The progress of the race, too, has reached such a stage that the vital question which will be argued is whether or not the Indian has not reached such a place that he can be safely permitted to run his own affairs. In other words, Poor Lo wants autonomy in the running of his race, and does not want to feel that he must rely on Uncle Sam for guardianship and protection. He wants to be self-supporting and he wants to be self-ruling. If the Indian can prove that he is ready for this radical departure from the usual relations that have existed between the tribes and the paternal Government of the United States, it should furnish another problem for Congress to solve in the common run of legislation.—Philadelphia Press.

Advisory members of literary societies are given credit for one night a week in making up study-hour schedules.

LECTURE TOMORROW NIGHT.

Tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock, Dr. George Edward Reed will lecture at the Auditorium. His subject is: "The Man Behind the Plough." Dr. Reed was formerly president of Dickinson College and is a noted lecturer.

Notice!

Every Invincible is requested to be present at the coming meeting, Friday evening, Oct. 1st, for election of officers.

Mr. Clevett Entertains.

A party was given at the Alumni Hall last Monday evening by Mr. Clevett. It was given in honor of Miss Daisy Lilly, of Saegerstown, Pa., a week-end guest of Miss Reichel, and Mr. Archie A. Ruggles, of Carlisle, who will leave this week for Baltimore, Md., where he expects to study music. About eighteen guests were present, including some people from town, besides a number of employees. Music, dancing, and refreshments were enjoyed by all present. Everybody reported a good time.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES.

Rah! Rah! Rah! Beat Lehigh!

We are all glad to have Boyd Crow with us again.

Mamie Mt. Pleasant is attending high school Moorestown N. J.

Hazel Skye, class '13, sends greetings to friends from Basom, N. Y.

Mrs. Skye, formerly Elsie Jones, sends best wishes to her Carlisle friends.

Owing to the increased size of The Arrow the printer boys are kept very busy.

Cecelia Matlock, an ex-student of Carlisle, is attending high school at her home this fall.

Saturday, September 25, seventeen boys spent the day cutting corn for near-by farmers.

Official reports register over 400 visitors at the Carlisle-Lebanon game Saturday afternoon.

Hugh Wheelock, an ex-student, was present at the game Saturday. Old friends were glad to see him.

Clarence Bennett, one of the band boys, has his snare drum out practicing daily. He is trying to be an expert.

The many friends of Miss Cora Battice were glad to have her return. She arrived Saturday from Prague, Okla.

After the fair all that could be heard among the girls was "My, I had a good time," and "Did you have your fortune told"?

Mrs. Thomas Compton, formerly Miss Marjorie Jamison, an ex-student of this school, is now living at Fort Hall, Idaho.

Henry Sutton gave an excellent talk on the subject of "Our Neutrality" at the meeting of the Standards last Friday evening.

Word comes from Lena Watson, who left Wednesday morning for Massillon, Ohio, that she is well satisfied with her surroundings.

The corn cutters, or "hay seeds", as we are commonly called by our brother students, enjoyed a very fine dinner and also a pleasant ride out and back from the farm Saturday.

Miss McDowell had the pleasure of taking Pauline Chisholm to Newport Pa., Sunday to speak of her home State, Oklahoma. She also sang some Indian songs in Sunday school.

Raymond Wolfe, who was a former student of this school, and a member of the freshman class in 1913, died September 15th in Nashville, Tenn., where he was playing with a baseball team. His body was sent to his home in Walthill, Nebr.

The school spirit shown by Lebanon Valley was excellent for the number that were yelling. Carlisle could improve on the spirit shown Saturday by practicing the yells and songs. With the number of students here they should be able to drown out all others that come.

Mr. Patrick Verney, a former Carlisle Indian student, of the class of 1909, writes from his home in Metlakahtla, Alaska, that he is working with his father in the salmon canning industry. They have a regular canning outfit and ship the salmon to Seattle, Wash. He still keeps in practice with band music, playing either solo clarinet or alto saxophone. While here at school Patrick learned the printer's trade and has been at that work for a number of years, but thinks that more money returns from the canning business.—(H. M. McDowell)

COMING EVENTS.

Saturday, October 2.—Football, Carlisle vs. Lehigh, at South Bethlehem.

Saturday, October 2.—Football, Carlisle Reserves vs. Conway Hall, at Carlisle.

Saturday, October 2.—Lecture, Dr. George Edward Reed, at Auditorium. Admission free to all students, employees and invited guests.

Saturday, October 9.—School Entertainment, Temperance Program, at Auditorium.

Saturday, October 16.—Band Concert.

Saturday, October 23.—Entertainment in Gymnasium, games, etc.

Saturday, November 6.—Ralph Bingham, humorist and musician, at Auditorium.

Saturday, November 20.—Annual debate, Susans vs. Mercers.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON QUIET HOUR.

For the benefit of all new arrivals and of any who may have forgotten it, attention is invited to the fact that Sunday afternoon from 2:00 to 4:00 is set aside as a period of absolute quiet. Singing, playing musical instruments, and all unnecessary noise are strictly under the ban during those two hours.

THE PROTESTANT SERVICE.

By Vivian Hughes.

The Protestant services were held at the usual hour, Calvin Lamoureux presiding. The services were opened by the singing of a song. A passage of Scripture was read by Obed Axtell, after which the Lord's Prayer was sung by the entire student body.

The services were made very interesting by the following visitors:

Chaplain R. O. Springer told a very interesting story illustrating the value of obedience.

Miss Lena Wenger and Mr. Archie A. Ruggles, of Carlisle, sang a duet, "Love Divine." After the singing of another hymn, the services were concluded with a vocal solo by Mr. Ruggles.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

By The Physical Director.

The Y. M. C. A. work is again started and with all officers on the job but Fred Skenandore. Fred was to have been the student secretary for the year, but his place has been filled by Peter Jackson. Henry Sutton, the president, George Tibbetts, vice-president, and Boyd Crowe, the treasurer, were active workers in the association last year and are looking forward to a very busy season. Crowe reports about forty dollars in the treasury.

The first big move this year is the membership campaign which started Thursday and will continue for two weeks.

The teams have been chosen and will wage friendly war in the securing of members. The "Whites" are captained by Calvin Lamoureux, other members of the team being Charles Sutton, Edward Miller, Obed Axtell, George Tibbetts, James Eagle, and Boyd Crowe. The "Blues" are captained by Peter Jackson and are supported by Fred Blythe, J. Shooter, Chauncey White, David Bird, Lloyd Welch, and Ned Wilnota. The "Whites" have been furnished with white application blanks and the "Blues" with blue application blanks, which are to be signed by the boy wishing to join the association. It has been decided that the membership fee will be fifty cents for this year. The big clock on the "Gym" building will register the efforts of the two teams, said clock having one blue and one white hand. A feed for all members is planned for the closing night of the campaign. See some fellow on the above teams if they do not see you and join the Y. M. C. A. Get in the swim early and help your team win—the winning team, by the way, will have special eats on the closing night.

Rev. Barnhardt of Biddle Mission gave 24 fellows a very profitable talk last Thursday evening. Rev. Barnhardt predicts big things for the association this year, if we stick and work together.

CATHOLIC MEETING.

By Agnes Hatch.

The meeting opened with a prayer, after which a few hymns were sung.

Father Stock then gave a helpful talk on "Confession and communion and faithfulness in prayer."

Benediction services followed.

After this the meeting closed with a prayer for the sick.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES.

Charles Pratt won two dolls at the fair.

Grand marching is becoming popular at our sociables.

A few more frosty nights and the chestnuts will be ripe.

During fair week many visitors were seen on our campus.

Edward Woods acted as our band leader Saturday noon.

The girls spent a very pleasant afternoon in town last Saturday.

Miss W. Berrard has been promoted from Room 8 to Room 11.

Charles Cox has returned to Carlisle after an absence of two years.

Company C was given the highest honor in marching last week.

George Piarote spent a few hours visiting his friends here last Friday.

Coach Welch is expecting to turn out a strong "Cornell" football team.

The band has been making preparations for a football team this year.

The officers' meetings are to be held on Monday evenings of each week.

Company D had fewer demerits this last week than any other company.

David Horsechief is training faithfully for the annual cross-country run.

Francis Ojibway, of Superior, Wis., has joined the mechanic arts class.

Twenty girls received Holy Communion at St. Patrick's church Sunday morning.

Mr. Ruggles's solo at the Sunday evening service was enjoyed by all who heard it.

Ben Harrison, one of the big "Cornell" guards, is expecting to make the "Hotshots."

The odd section did very good work in cleaning up the campus for general inspection.

Charles E. Dagenett, Supervisor of Indian Employment, paid the school a visit last week.

Marie Garlow writes from Narberth, Pa., that she is in the freshman class in high school.

Mr. Duran's "Bear Creek Bunch" showed great school spirit during the game Saturday.

Mr. Gehringer gave a very encouraging talk to the large boys at their quarters on Sunday evening.

The Protestant students were favored with several vocal selections by Mr. Ruggles at last Sunday evening's meeting.

The Carlisle Arrow

Issued Fridays from the Carlisle Indian Press
About ten months in the year.

SUBSCRIPTION, 25 CENTS YEARLY IN ADVANCE.

Address all communications to the paper and they will receive prompt attention.

Second-class matter—so entered at the Postoffice at Carlisle, September 2, 1904.

LOST THEIR OPPORTUNITY.

Believing that the time has come for Indian School publications to make known the repeated misdeeds as well as the good deeds of students, the privilege is taken to announce that on Monday, September the 6th, Daniel Arapahoe, 18-year-old Pine Ridge Sioux student, and Francisco Jose, 21-year-old Pueblo student, were summarily dismissed from Carlisle for being drunk the previous day and having liquor in their possession in the quarters. They were sent to their homes at Interior, S. Dak., and Laguna, N. Mex., respectively.

On Tuesday morning of this week Jerome Slattery, 21-year-old Pottawatomie student, was sent to his home at Shawnee, Okla., for having brought liquor on the grounds the evening before and inducing another boy to become drunk with him. Every possible help had been given Jerome to keep him out of trouble, but there was no apparent effort on his part to profit by such care and attention.

It is only fair to state that these young men did not get their whiskey in Carlisle, but procured it in Harrisburg. The name of the saloon man will be published as soon as definitely ascertained.

Four young men from this school are now in the county jail in Carlisle serving sentences of fines for trespassing on a neighbor's property, breaking his apple trees, and stealing his fruit.

Carlisle students who have any regard for their reputation will avoid this kind of publicity.

THE BARBER SHOP.

By Louis Flammond.

The barber shop is in fine condition.
We have been very busy the past few days.
We have a new barber, whose name is Amos Mars, in the shop.

THE KITCHEN.

By Green Choate.

The kitchen was in good condition for inspection last Saturday. All of the boys are doing fine work.

Since the football boys require different food from the rest of the pupils, it has caused more work in the kitchen.

THE BAND.

By Gustavus Lookaround.

The band consists of about sixty members, including the trumpeters. This is a larger membership at this time than we have had in previous years.

Mr. Tyrrell will soon have the band busy rehearsing a program to be rendered at the first concert, October 16th.

SCHOOL STATISTICS.

Leon Miller,	Harold Francis,
Fred Walker,	Eustace Edwards,
Boyd Crow,	Cora Battice.
Charles Cox,

TO THE OUTING.

Since last week's issue of The Arrow, the following-named pupils have gone under the outing system for the winter:

Samuel Leo,	Delia Edwards,
Catherine Sawatis,	Florence Edwards,
Mary Rorke,	Mamie Mt. Pleasant,
Nelson Toolate,	Lena Watson.
Relia Oshkosh,

IN FROM OUTING.

Thomas Montoya,	Nancy Peters,
Jasper Lamont,	Loretta Saracino,
Joseph Oldshield,	Ella Cuellar,
Frank Summers,	Jane Owl.
William Littlewolf,

GONE HOME.

Following-named pupils have severed their connection with Carlisle and gone home:

Francis Bressette,	Della Carter,
Margaret Rabideaux,	Calcina Swayney.

NAVAJOS SHOW GAINS MADE IN INDUSTRIAL ART.

Shiprock Government Agency, in New Mexico, Becomes Model Modern Village.

Durango, Colo.—One cannot remain long in this part of the country without hearing of the remarkable achievements of William T. Shelton, an Indian agent, who seems to have lifted the Navajos a long way on the trail of civilization. A visit at the agency at Shiprock, N. Mex., bears out everything that has been said about this Indian agent's work and Shiprock has become one of the show places of the Southwest, many people from Colorado making it a point to attend the annual fairs which are given by the Indians under Mr. Shelton's directions, these fairs showing in concrete form just what has been accomplished in the way of assisting the Indian along the paths of industry.

Mr. Shelton is a man of pronounced activity and enthusiasm. An industrious worker himself, he manages to inspire all the Indians with a desire to accomplish something worth while, says the Denver Times.

He has built the Shiprock agency from the sagebrush, and now he rules from a model village, with substantial brick buildings, cement sidewalks, electric lights, a sewerage system, shops, stores, and one of the largest and finest Indian schools in the Southwest, with an enrollment of 175 pupils. The farm of more than 250 acres will produce at least $20,000 worth of crops this year.

Interesting and valuable experimental work is carried out by Mr. Shelton and his Indian assistants on the farm. Recently, through a long course of experiments, the agent proved that a certain kind of corn was best adapted to the San Juan region. This seed corn is now being sold to farmers in northwestern New Mexico, and it is expected that the total corn production of that region will be greatly increased owing to the experiments carried on by Mr. Shelton. The agency seed house is a model of its kind. Twenty-one bushels of watermelon seeds were distributed among the Navajos last year. All sorts of seeds are classified by the Indian assistants, the Navajo boys taking naturally to agriculture.

A greenhouse, where rare plants are raised, is run entirely by Indian boys and girls. Plans are secured from the Department of Agriculture at Washington. One of the Indian boys, who also acts as interpreter, has proved exceptionally gifted as a horticulturist.

Recently a lake, big enough for boating, was made near the agency, close to the athletic field where the Indian boys and girls enjoy baseball, basketball, and other sports.

This year the first unit of a 5,000-acre irrigation project for the use of Navajo youth is being put under water. This project is watered from the San Juan River by means of a long flume and a system of irrigation canals. It has been the agent's intention from the outset to put the graduates of the San Juan Indian School on this tract. In this way he will be able to keep them under some sort of supervision even after they leave the school. He does not believe in the policy of sending the Indians back to the environment of the old home life after they are through school.

If an Indian from the San Juan school so elects, he will be given a tract of land under the agency ditch. The things he has learned on the agency experiment farm will prove of good service to him, and he will not be far enough away from the agency to drift into the ways of the other Indians, which too often proves the case. In this way Mr. Shelton hopes to perpetuate the work of the school and make the Government's instruction of the most permanent value.

There is a model dairy at the Shiprock Agency. Cattle, sheep, and hogs have been purchased as the foundation of better stock on the entire agency. Calves from the agency have been sold this year at from $125 to $250 a head as not only the Indians but the stock raisers outside the reservation are desirous of improving their livestock from the Government herds at Shiprock.

Draft horses are being raised for farm work, and one of the most important experiments is along the line of sheep breeding. Mr. Shelton has been endeavoring to ascertain just the sheep strain best adapted to the Navajo country. His aim is to enable the Indian sheep raisers to produce heavier lambs and a larger staple in wool.

Mr. Shelton recognizes that the blanket industry is one of the Navajo mainstays, and he encourages weaving among the girls at the San Juan school. Blankets woven by these school girls have captured prizes at the annual fairs held at Shiprock. In fact, it is declared that the girls are turning out better blankets than some of the best-known weavers on the reservation.—Christian Science Monitor.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES.

(Held over from last week's issue because of lack of space.)

Grant White entertained a few of his friends in the Annex lobby after the social. Refreshments were served and music rendered by a Victrola.

Mr. Duran was a very noteworthy personality on the football field last Saturday, where he acted as cheer leader and promoter of enthusiasm.

We are glad to have Leon Miller with us again. He is one of the solo cornet players, and by his return will improve the band.

Mr. George Tyrrell, band instructor, has been away for a few days. He returned to the school last Monday after taking a trip to Washington for treatment.

Carlenia Bennett has returned to Carlisle to resume her studies after having spent a few months at her home in Brant, N. Y. All of her friends are delighted to have her back.

Peter Jackson, who has been away for some time returned to Carlisle last Sunday evening. We are all glad to see him back. He will resume his former place with the band.

"After spending a pleasant summer on the outing, it was my greatest desire to return to Carlisle and grasp every opportunity that may confront me," so says a student who has returned from the country.

Evelyn Metoxen, Alice Powless, Elizabeth Skenandore, Mamie and Vera Greene, and Mary and Cecelia Hill are the new students from Oneida, Wis., that were enrolled last week. We all hope they will like Carlisle as much as we do.

Charles Moran, the famous athletic trainer, took up his duties as the Red and Gold trainer Sunday evening. He went from room to room in the Athletic Quarters about fifteen minutes after his arrival on the campus, rubbing out sore muscles and stiff joints sustained in last Saturday's game.

SHEET METAL SHOP.

By Henry Perrault.

There are eight boys working in this shop. Most of them are new.

Mr. George, the instructor in this department, is off duty for the present. He will resume his duties in a short time.

The tanners at present are repairing small articles. They have just completed the roof over the boiler house.

FARM REPORT.

By Willie F. Goode.

The products of the farm are about all stored away. The silo has been filled by the boys who took an interest in their work, saving hundreds of dollars worth of feed.

All the farm tools must be brought to shelter to prevent rust and decay of wooden attachments.

If every farmer, taking an interest, will try to fulfill his duty, I think farming in 1916 will be a success.

PAINT SHOP.

By Joseph Sumner.

Charles Brokenleg joined our force last Monday.

The painters have finished repairing glass in the greenhouse.

The painters are now working on Mr. DeHuff's new cottage.

All during the summer vacation the painters had their hands full.

Mr. Carns was assisted by two painters from town, Mr. Charles Meck and Mr. Mike Smith.

One of the three new cottages has been completed, and they will soon have another one ready for use.

The painters have been very busy finishing the new restaurant during the summer vacation.

The interior of the Large Boys' Quarters is in fine shape. The painters have coated the ceiling, sidewalls and wood-work.

Clayton Bucktooth, now acting as a trainer, will not return to the shop for several weeks. He is one of the most faithful workers in the shop.

Fred Blythe and Philip Welmas are out of the shop to join other departments; Fred joined the plumbers and Philip Welmas returned to his home in Annex quarters to resume his duties.

The painting department numbers nine boys, namely: Joseph Morrin, Joseph Shooter, George May, Clarence Welch, Joseph Sumner, Simon Sumner, William Edward, Harry Webster, and Charles Brokenleg.

BLACKSMITH SHOP.

By David Bird.

The boys, having finished cutting corn at the first farm are now busy in the shop doing general shop work.

A good man is always in demand. That's why the blacksmith is always called upon to do outside duties.

THE STABLE.

By James Holstein.

Mr. Foulk is expected to return to work next week.

During Mr. Foulk's absence, Grant White has charge of the stable.

Chippewa, one of the black horses who had a sore foot, has recovered.

A new set of harness and a buggy are the latest additions to the stable.

Lacy Ettawageshik, one of the stable boys, seems to be a good animal trainer. The goat which is being kept at the stable has learned a lot from its new teacher.

ENGINEERING.

By Peter Calac.

The plumbers have been very busy since the school year began.

Four lavatories are about to be installed in the Girls' Quarters.

The plumbers are now working on the new building, which is to be used as a store and a restaurant when completed.

After a few days of hard work, the plumbers have installed a new heating system in The Cage; hot water can now be obtained at all stages, and it certainly has brought great joy in the football boys' camp.

They have completed the installment of plumbing and steam fitting in one of the new cottages.

Daniel Needham writes from Green Bay, Wis., that he is engaged in the plumbing business and wishes to be remembered to his friends.

Mr. Weber and his detail have a thousand small jobs on hand which must be looked after before the cold weather pays us another visit.

Joe Picard, one of our ex-plumbers who is now following that business for himself, writes from L'Anse, Mich., that he is getting along very nicely, and wishes to be remembered to Carlisle friends.

TAILOR SHOP.

By Simon Dwright.

All the boys in the tailor shop are kept very busy making uniforms for the new boys that have just come in.

THE SHOE SHOP.

By Louis Palin.

The detail of boys in this shop is not as large as it has been in former years, and we hope more boys will join the detail.

The boys in the shoe shop are doing repair work, and they are kept busy, as there is a large amount of repairing to be done at this time of the year.

THE LAUNDRY.

By Eva E. Jones.

The plumbers removed the old collar ironer a few days ago.

We had to hustle around a little last Friday morning in order to have everything ready for the general inspection on Saturday morning.

Alice Powlass and Cecilia Hill, two of the recent arrivals from Wisconsin, have joined the laundry detail and are among our best workers.

A flat-work ironer was installed in the laundry during the summer. Miss Albert and her girls are delighted with it, as it is a greater help than was the mangle that was removed.

SEWING DEPARTMENT.

By Flora C. Peters.

While other classes are very small, the plain sewers are learning to use the elementary scissors.

The plain sewers are very glad to have with them Orrel Bonser, who has been promoted into their class just lately.

Ethel Lynd has been promoted from the plain sewing into the plain dressmaking class.

Martha Wheelock, who has charge of the mending room, is getting along very nicely.

During the past week we had with us a former employee in the sewing room, now Mrs. Rambo, née Miss McComma of Philadelphia, Pa.

The class in domestic art numbers six girls. They are also making different kinds of bobbin lace, but have not started the regular advanced work for the term.

GIRLS' QUARTERS.

By Maude Cooke.

We succeeded in getting large, white clingstone peaches which were made into prize spiced peaches.

Last week a farewell dinner was served in the girls' dining room by Della Carter, Callie Swaney, Gertrude Pego, and Effie Coolidge. Several boys were invited.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Ewing, some of the girls are canning fruit, making jelly, and putting up spiced peaches and oiled cucumber pickles in the kitchen at Girls' Quarters.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

By Sallie Greybeard.

The month of September was spent in making jellies and canned fruits.

Only those who are taking the course in home economics are now taking domestic science.

The model cottage will probably be occupied next week. Four girls will live there for a month at a time.

Last week we made cucumber pickles into which we put pretty red peppers. Jane Gayton and Sarah Monteith thought they were as good as they looked, so they left the kitchen with burning lips.

THE HOSPITAL.

By Agnes Owl.

The nurses enjoy sleeping out in the balcony.

Emerson Metoxen is now up and hopes to be out soon.

Hilton Skenandore, who broke his leg last week, is doing well.

Our lessons are on responsibility and qualifications for nurses.

Miss Cornelius has her lessons twice a week, on Tuesday and Saturday evenings.

The dispensary girls for quarters for the month of October are Louise Striker and Clara Archambault.

The doctor gave his first lecture last week. The second lecture was on fractures, which comes in very handy just at this time.

STANDARD LITERARY SOCIETY.

By James Crane.

On account of the lights being out of order, the society held its meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Hall.

The newly elected officers were initiated.

The Society song was sung, and the following program was rendered: Declamation, Max La Chappelle; Essay, Calvin Lamoreaux; impromptu, Edwin Miller; oration, Richard Johnston.

DEBATE.

Resolved. That all munitions of war exported to belligerent nations should be stopped.

Affirmative.—Henry Sutton and Homer Lipps.

Negative.—Donald Brown and Joseph Helms.

The affirmatives won the debate.

The official visitors were Miss McDowell and Mr. Peel.

SUSAN SOCIETY.

By Rose Allen.

The meeting was called to order by Alta Printup. After the roll call and regular business, the following program was rendered: Song, Susans; recitation, Ethel Lynd; impromptu, Fair experiences, Effie Coolidge; piano solo, Sophia Newagon; pen picture, Lucile Lipps; anecdotes, Sophia Wabanascum.

DEBATE:

Resolved. That a high school education is more beneficial than a vocational course.

Affirmative.—Sallie Greybeard and Addie Hovermale.

Negative.—Agnes Owl and Hattie McAfee.

The judges were Sadie Metoxen, chairman, and Vivian Hughes and Catherine Waldom, associates. The decision was in favor of the affirmative.

The visitors were our advisory member, Mrs. Foster, and a number of the new girls.

INVINCIBLES.

By Chauncey White.

As there was no regular program arranged last Friday evening, the house agreed to have a volunteer program. Andrew Peters was admitted to the society. The following members responded for extemporary speeches: Henry Perrault and Peter Jackson. Obed Axtell gave an oration. The most prominent visitor was Miss Roberts, who gave a few helpful remarks.

Other visitors were Theodore Bellefeuille and Grant White.

After the advisory member gave a few words of advice, the house adjourned.

THE MERCER SOCIETY.

By Amy Smith.

The meeting was called to order by the president. As roll was called each member responded with a quotation. The following program was rendered: Song, Mercers; instrumental duet, Jane Gayton and Gertrude Pego; trip to Millersville, Mary Lonechief; recitation, Unita Lipps; piano solo, Beatrice Abrams; country experiences, Mary Welch; piano solo, Beulah Logan.

The official visitors were Miss Keck and Miss Williams.

After the critic gave her report the house adjourned.

Employees Take Live Stock Premiums.

At the Carlisle Fair, Mr. Miller, our school banker, received five first premiums and two second premiums for stock which he entered. He received $27 as prizes.

One blue ribbon was won on Mr. Denny's little pony, Steiner Girl.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES.

Miss Sweeney spent the week-end in Harrisburg, visiting friends.

Callie Swayney left for her home in North Carolina last week for a few weeks' visit.

Friday was a great day for sight seeing, but in spite of the sights, the sandwiches went fast.

James Holstein has reenforced the cross-country team by joining them last week. He is trying out for six miles.

The Standard Society held its meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Hall last Friday evening on account of there being no lights in Standard hall.

Morris Huff, once a Carlisle student, is attending Model School in Trenton. He is a graduate of Yardley High School and while there made a very good record.

Last Friday afternoon all the students attended the fair in town. Most of the girls, wanting to know what the future had in store for them, had their fortunes told, but regretted afterwards that they had done so.

ALUMNI DEPARTMENT NOTES.

John Sutton, Jr., of Danbury, Wis., subscribes for the Arrow and writes that he is getting along nicely.

Miss Susie Poncho, of 509 W. Roma Ave., Albuquerque, N. Mex., writes: "I am getting along fine and enjoying the best of health."

Samuel Gruett, a student of Carlisle in former years, is enjoying his work as head farmer at the Mt. Pleasant, Mich., Indian School. He is always interested in The Carlisle Arrow.

A card was received from J. W. Ettawageshik, class 1911, stating that he wished to congratulate the class of 1915, and hoped that Carlisle would prove its worth to the world by its records.

In a letter recently received, Kenneth King, class '15 states that he spent a delightful week visiting Benedict Cloud, class '12, at his home in Bismarck, N. Dak. Kenneth was formerly president of class '15.

Mickey Tahdoahnippah, who was a student here from 1911 to 1914, sends in his subscription for The Red Man and adds that he is now enrolled at Phoenix and getting along fine. He says he is taking up the trade of tailoring.

Mrs. Boyer, formerly Lucy Charles, of Redwood Falls, Minn., writes that she is very happy but often wishes she could be with us once more. Her many friends send their best wishes for her happiness and their congratulations to Mr. Boyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Denny are now on their annual vacation and with their little son, Robertson, are sojourning in the West. Mr. and Mrs. Denny expect to attend the conference of the Society of American Indians to be held in Lawrence, Kans., during the present week.

Mr. Chas. E. Dagenett, President of the Carlisle Alumni Association attended the conference of Alumni Secretaries which was held in San Francisco, Cal. this year. Mr. Dagenett has made several trips to Carlisle recently in connection with Alumni business.

Clifford F. Leeds, of Riverbank, Cal., subscribes for The Arrow and says in part: "All of the Carlisle ex-students are doing nicely here with their work. I am now head boiler washer and James R. Luther is still at his trade of air man and pipe-fitter. Best wishes to all the students."

W. FRED CARDIN.

W. Fred Cardin, of the Quapaw tribe from Parsons, Kan., enrolled at Carlisle as a pupil September 21, 1910. He worked half a day, as do all students who enroll at Carlisle, taking up mechanical drafting and telegraphy, graduating in 1912, and afterwards taking a year's course in the business department of the school.

In the fall of 1913, Mr. Cardin went to Warren, Ohio, to enter Dana Musical Institute, where he had obtained a violin scholarship through his own efforts and through the recommendation of his teachers at Carlisle. He has been at that institute now for the past two years, and his work so far has been very satisfactory. He has two years yet to complete the course.

Mr. Cardin has to his credit several original compositions, consisting of violin, piano, and orchestral works. Through the encouragement of Mr. William H. Dana, president, and Mr. Ben F. Stuber, teacher of theory at that institute, Mr. Cardin has become very much interested in this work, especially in Indian music, and hopes to make this his work later on. The music he has already composed shows a tendency toward Indian sentiment.

Mr. Cardin was playing with the Chautauqua Orchestra, New York, this summer when he was taken ill and came here for treatment at the hospital. As soon as he is strong enough he expects to return to Dana Musical Institute to complete his course. His aim in life is to bring out Indian music, both in playing and in composing.
